New Firm.

New Stock.

Cherrington Bros. Fine Grocers

122 North Main Street, Shenandoah.

The above firm has just opened one of the finest grocery stores in this section of the state, and their line of goods comprises everything kept in a first-class grocery store. The stock is fresh and has been purchased at the lowest prices for cash. They make a specialty of imported goods, and their domestic line is of the highest standard. The prices compare favorably with the stringent money market. Mail orders filled promptly, and all goods delivered free of charge.

The Way we Look at It.

There are two values to a purchase—what it costs and what it is worth. It matters little what you pay, within reasonable bounds; it matters a great deal what you receive in return for the expenditure. Reckoning on this basis, our line of wall paper, window shades, curtain poles and room mouldings stands pre-eminently at the head of anything in this section of the county. We are sure we can please you in quality and price if you will but take the time to see and ascertain prices on these goods. Contracts taken and Satisfaction Guaranteed.

MOCK AND OTHER SUITS.

MEMBERS OF THE P. O. S. OF A. ARRANGE A MOCK TRIAL TO PASS A PLEASANT EVENING.

An Attempt to Transfer a Local Brewery License Leads to Remonstrance. Damages Sustained by Falling on a Pavement.

Much interest is manifested in the mock trial which is to take place on Tuesday evening, 10th inst., under the auspices of Washington Camp, No. 113, P. O. S. of A., in the headquarters of the camp room. Arrangements for the affair have been under way for several weeks and it is expected it will attract attendance of members from camps of other towns. If it meets with the success expected a public mock trial will be given in the near future. The complaint in the case on the calendar is based upon an alleged breach of promise and the defendant is Mr. George H. Krick, one of the tellers of the First National Bank. The plaintiff is the fair Miss Gesane—and her counsel say they will make the trial a very realistic one. Evan J. Davies is to represent the father of the plaintiff and Lewis Lebe, Jr., will pose as the mother. The case will be tried before Judge H. E. (Bradley) Denger. The prosecution will be looked after by District Attorney Bert Hooks, who will be assisted by James Russell Lewis and C. Thackeray Straughn. L. Addison Bamberger will represent Mr. Krick and will be assisted by School Director R. A. Davenport and ex-Councilman A. B. Lamb. In an interview today one of the counsel for the defendant stated that he felt confident Mr. Krick would pass through the battle unscathed. It is possible that a change of venue may be asked, Mr. Hartman. Mr. Krick's counsel are evidently very earnest and in preparing for the case have read three copies of Snell's handbook and a volume of Birds of Pennsylvania.

A legal controversy in a more serious vein was instituted at Pottsville yesterday by P. J. Burke, of town. It is one that involves the ownership of a brewery license. It seems that last February the Rettig Brewing Company of Pottsville engaged Mr. Burke as its local agent, but recently decided to make a change and made an application for a transfer of the license to its newly selected representative before the court at Pottsville yesterday. As soon as the application was filed Mr. Burke caused a remonstrance to be filed, claiming that the license is in his name and that the application for the transfer should come from him. The question will be argued before the court at an early date.

The borough is to have another lawsuit on hand unless a compromise is affected. Wm. Jones, of South Gilbert street, retained A. L. Shay, Esq., to bring suit for damages sustained by him from a fall, which fractured his shoulder and placed him in the Miners' Hospital for the past few weeks. Mr. Jones says that while he was walking on White street, between Coal and Lloyd, and opposite Robbins' old factory, on the west side, he slipped and fell on ice on the pavement. He says the pavement was made still more dangerous by the children coasting.

COYLE.—On the 7th inst., at Mahanoy City, Pa., Miss Julia Coyle, aged 38 years. Funeral will take place Wednesday, 10th inst., at 9:30 a. m., from the residence of Philip E. Coyle, North Main street, Mahanoy City. Requiem mass at St. Catechus church. Interment at the Pottsville No. 3 cemetery. Leave Mahanoy City on the 11:30 a. m. P. & R. R. train. Relatives and friends respectfully invited to attend. 4-8-2t

Foundation of Freedom.

EDITOR HERALD.—The Jews are now observing the Passover. The observance continues to the 15th inst. It is a remembrance of more than 3,000 years ago, when their forefathers, under the leadership of the great and world-renowned General and law and bible giver, Moses, fought against the despot and tyrant, Pharaoh, King of Egypt. The Jews were the first people in the world's history to fight for freedom. Although at that time they were slaves, they fought against one of the strongest of Kings. It was by the love of freedom that Moses was first introduced to them and by the help of God that they overpowered the enemy, the King and soldiers of Egypt. All over the world, wherever the Jew resides, on the farm, as well as in the city, he will keep the holiday with great ceremony, for this holiday was the foundation of freedom. HARRY LEVINE. Shenandoah, April 8, 1895.

The Theatre.

Notwithstanding the fact that the rain poured down in torrents last night a good audience witnessed the initial performance by Nugent's Metropolitan. "The Fugitive" is a powerful melo-drama and the Scranton papers have said no more in praise of the company than it deserves. By special request the bill for tonight will be the favorite drama, "Lost in London." It is one of the best plays in the repertoire. It will have a local magnetism, being a story of the trials and sufferings of a noble hearted miner and his wife. Tomorrow afternoon there will be a matinee and ten cents will be charged for admission to all parts of the house. A matinee will also be given on Saturday.

Obituary.

William Oliver, who died at Tamaqua on Saturday, was a son-in-law of Elijah Gregory, district superintendent for the P. & R. C. & L. Co. in the Girardville district.

John P. Power, of Pottsville, died at his home at that place last evening, after suffering a week from pneumonia. He was one of the best known men of the county. He was born in Waterford, Ireland, on December 28th, 1828. At an early age he went to Montreal, Canada, and when 12 years old became a resident of Pottsville. This was in 1840 and he passed the most of his life in that town. His military record was a brilliant and honorable one. In 1878 he served the unexpired term of Patrick Collins as County Commissioner.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY

The "Herald" Preparing to Celebrate Its Twenty-fifth Anniversary.

SPLENDID SOUVENIR EDITION

THE ANNIVERSARY WILL BE CELEBRATED BY THE PUBLICATION OF AN UNEQUALLED EDITION.

Experienced Newspaper Men Will Contribute Exhaustive Articles Covering Shenandoah's Existence of Thirty Years and the Industries.

Next month the HERALD will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary, the paper having been established on May 28th, 1870. In commemoration of the event the publishers will issue a silver souvenir, which will be one of the largest and best editions of a newspaper ever issued in the county. It will be profusely and beautifully illustrated and cover the rapid growth and natural advantages and resources of Shenandoah, which will be excellently portrayed by experienced newspaper men.

This edition will positively not be of the catch-penny order, and will not be issued as a drag net for advertising. The publication will be a first class and beautifully printed and illustrated historical issue, giving a history of the town and all its public departments (including an exhaustive review of the public school system) for the past thirty years. This is a souvenir edition—not an ordinary anniversary issue and will entail an immense expenditure on the part of the publishers.

The souvenir will be sold at five cents a copy. Shenandoah possesses every advantage in location and enterprise, together with excellent water and every inducement for manufacturing purposes. The steam railroads, the Lehigh Valley, Reading and Pennsylvania, connect us with the principal markets of the country, and two trolley systems brings us within touch of all surrounding towns. In addition to this coal can be purchased at a merely nominal figure from the mines that surround us and which contain an inexhaustible supply. To bring all these facts forcibly to the attention of the outside world must result in great benefit to the town and this the HERALD has undertaken single handed. It will be a great task, but the HERALD feels confident of its ability to carry it through successfully, and it will certainly succeed if the business people and prominent people of the town will contribute a little help. A review of Shenandoah's leading industries, professional men and business houses will also be incorporated in the issue and the whole will be a fit addition to libraries.

As is customary on the part of all publication houses, the HERALD will reserve a limited number of pages of the edition for use of advertisers, to whom the issue will be of immense advantage. The souvenir will be given a circulation over the entire state and copies of it will reach every individual mentioned in the columns. This will carry the souvenir south, west and north as far as Georgia, Louisiana, New Mexico, Colorado, Utah, Montana, Washington, Wisconsin and Michigan, where ex-Shenandoah residents are plentiful. As a local advertising medium the issue will excel anything heretofore attempted in Schuylkill county and to foreign advertisers desiring to cover an immense field effectively and at a nominal cost it will be a boon.

Particular attention is called to the fact that an authentic history of Shenandoah has never been published. The town has been incorporated thirty years, yet a history of any of its departments cannot be found outside the covers of the books that have been kept by the secretaries of the Council and the School Board.

The publishers are gratified with the encouragement they have received from ex-residents of the town residing at distant points. Judge Bartch, of the United States Court of Utah, and who was formerly superintendent of the public schools here, has sent an order for a hundred copies of the souvenir, and Prof. L. A. Freeman, of Providence, R. I., who is also ex-superintendent of our schools, has sent in a similar order. Today an order for a large number of copies was received from Dr. J. E. Shadle, of St. Paul, Minn., who was the borough physician during the small-pox epidemic.

Dr. T. J. Hatton, an ex-principal of the High school, now residing at Chicago, Ill., sends us a large order with a congratulatory letter. These people are cited from over sixty who have within the past ten days sent us letters giving encouragement to the enterprise. There can be no doubt that when the souvenir appears there will be a great demand for extra copies. In order to guard against disappointment we urge that all orders for extra copies be sent in at least one week before date of publication. No orders will be received for less than ten copies.
