CONVICT QUIGLEY RECAPTURED,

He Declares the Escape Was Not Effected by Collusion with Guards, but There Is Evidence to Show Careless Neglect of

POUGHREEFSIE, N. Y., April 13.—The sapture at New Hamburg of Convict Quigley yesterday, and his return to the Matteawan State Criminal asylum, from which he escaped with Train Robber Perry and three other dangerous convicts on Wednesday night, has solved the mys-tery of how the five men get out of their rooms in the isolated ward without breaking the locks. When Quigley arrived at the asylum he was taken directly into Superintendent Allison's private office, and there examined behind closed doors by Dr. Allison and State Prison Superin tendent Austin Lathrop. Afterwards he was sent back to the cell in the isolated building, and Allison repeated to the re-porters Quigley's story, which shows that the escape was due to the violation of rules on the part of attendants and also to carolessness in the manner of locking up. Perry and Quigley, being considered bad men, were kept confined in their rooms. where they were given their meals. Some days ago Maguire managed to retain two metal spoons, though it was the duty of the attendants to count in and count out the utensils at every meal. Out of these spoons Maguire fashioned two keys, one for each look, securing patterns of the looks from a source which Quigley does not know, though it is believed that one of the patients who had the run of the ward secured an impression for him.

Maguire gave the key which he made for the lower lock to Davis, who was not kept in close confinement, and who in going to supper on Wednesday evening un-locked the lower lock of Maguire's door, returning the key to Maguire's door, pre suming that it had been locked all day. After it was quiet that night Maguire slipped his arm through the observation hole and with his other false key, unlocked the upper bolt with his two keys. Maguire could have opened all of the sixteen cells in the ward, but he did not. He unlocked the rooms of Quigley and Perry, and the three men secreted themselves in the train robber's room.

It is certain that Watchman Carmody did not try the door of Perry's cell, for after he had passed it the three men rushed out and overpowered him. After having secured Carmody's keys it was an easy matter for them to liberate Davis and O'Donnell, and then the five men left the building through the chapel and attic.

When found asleep in a freight car at New Hamburg Quigley was completely prestrated. He had got lost in the woods and had wandered about aimlessly until he stumbled into New Hamburg, footsore and weary and famished for food. He had been in the car only a short time when he was captured by Peter Leroy and William E. Traver, two persons living in the village. He said that after leaving the asylum he and his fellow convicts separated, and he did not know, he said, which way the others went. Traver and Loroy took him back to the asylum and received the reward of $50.

When captured Quigley had on a pair of everalls, which he said he picked up in a brick yard and put on in place of his asylum trousers, which he got wet by walking into a ditch. He said he slept in a dog house on a neighboring farm Thursday night. The asylum authorities have no definite clows to any of the other fugitives. Fully thirty attendants are out following up various rumors of the men's The asylum authorities will spare no effort to secure them.

Attendant William Norris, of the Hudson River State hospital, said last night that he had been in Hughsonville, a short distance from the Matteawan asylum, and had learned that late Thursday night three men approached the house of Lewis Adams and attempted to open a window. Miss Adams heard them and raised a window. One of them whispered, "The peo-ple are not in bed," and they rati across the field. During the night they broke into the cellar of Adam Shohnfeld, nearby, and stole some cakes and sweatments, ing no other damage. There seems to be little doubt, from this circumstance, that these were the fugitives, and it indicates that they are somewhere in Dutchess Dynamite Romb in a Beer Keg.

Lancasten, Pa., April 13.—A dynamite bomb, seven inches long and of the diameter of a gas pipe, was found in a beer keg by some of the workmon in Springer's rewery yesterday afternoon. It was made of wrought iron, heavily charged, and capped at both ends. Attached to it was a paper fuse, filed with powder, but which had been saturated with the beer in the bottom of the keg. The keg was one of a large number that came from the Pennsylvania station yesterday, and no trace of its last point of shipment can be had, but it is thought to have come from some town in the coal regions. Neither is it known whether it was intended as a grim joke, or meant to deal death and destruction, as it certainly would have done had it been exploded.

The Excitement in Oil.

FINDLAY, O., April 13.—The oil producers of this, the most active part of the Ohio petroleum field, are in an excited state of mind over the rapid rise in prices. They predict that the Standard will soon be paying $1 for the stuff they condemned as worth only ten cents a barrol a few years ago. The announcement was made at the office of the Buckeye Pipe line that the prices for the day would be $1.07 and $1.05 for the two grades of Lima oil. From all that can be learned the producers in the Lima field have an abundance of oil in their tanks, but are declining to sell, evidently on the belief that the top motch has not been reached in prices. New wells will be sunk in all directions in northwestern Ohio, unless the present prices prove to have been caused artificially

A STARTLING FACT.

Sixteen Per Cent. of Life Insurance Applicants Rejected on Account of Diseased Kidneys.

Dr. Lambert, the General Medical Director of the Equitable Life Insurance Company, New York, is reported to bave said: "We reject sixteen per cent. of the applications for insurance, and I have saved the entire expense of this medical department by the rejection of applicants who had diseased kidneys, and who died within two years after I rejected them."

This appalling statement should have the attention of our citizens. There is no reason today why people should allow kidney disease to get such a hold on them.

Nature sends her warning in the slight pain in the back, poor circulation of the blood, sediment in the urine. When any of these symptoms appear, Dr. David blood, sediment in the urine. When any of these symptoms appear, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy should be taken in small doses at once, and thus drive the poison out of the blood and restors the kidneys to healthy action. To our knowledge this is the only medicine that surely cures this almost universal

that surely cures this almost universal complaint.

We note the recovery of Mr. Oscar Lambert of Jerico, Mo., whose case has been talked of in the papers the world over. Quoting from his letter to the Press, Mr. Lambert says: "I neglected the first symptoms until I found myself in bed with a complicated disease of the kidneys. No mortal ever suffered more and lived. My physician failed to help me. I then used Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. It relieved my kidneys almost immediately, and in a few weeks I was clear of all pain, and entirely cured.

Favorite Remedy has had more free advertising in the columns of the dally papers than anything we know of from the fact that it does as is promised—Cures disease.
