Clay Evans, the Republican candidate, was declared elected on the face of the returns, but Governor Turner contested the election, alleging fraud and intimidation. The legislature sustains the majority, and declares Turner re-elected.

SPANISH WARSHIP DETAINED. Bar Commander Ignored the Quarantine Station Off Florida's Coast.

TAMPA, Fla., May 4.—Thursday evening the Spanish warship Infanta Isabella steamed past the quarantine station at Mull's Key without paying any attention to the quarantine laws and anchored for the night about ten miles this side. Yesterday the state board of health patrol steamer Germ steamed out to her majesty's vessel, and both then proceeded to the quarantine station, where Dr. Rehmendi informed Commander Francisco Duenas that before proceeding his ship would have to be fumigated and detained at least five days.

The physician aboard the man-of-war presented a clean bill of health, but as they had 175 men aboard Dr. Rehmendi had no alternative but the enforcement of the law. Captain Russell, of the Germ, arrived at Tampa last evening with a sealed packet for Spanish Vice Consul Gervino Gutierrez, from whom the ship expects orders. Serious complications might arise, as among the crew are many newly imported Spaniards. Should a case of yellow fever develop in five days it would necessitate fumigation and longer detention.

The commander is said to have been greatly surprised and incensed. Dr. Rehmendi's course is approved here. Francis Varona Murias, the correspondent who claimed he came here for the purpose of joining the Cubans, was advised to leave town. He departed last night. Official news has been received that some of the most noted leaders of Don Principe are out in the field, and that the revolution will spread there immediately. Through the same source the death of General Crombet is emphatically denied.

PAIN'S CELERY COMPOUND.

Charles MacDonaid, a Prominent Chicago Business Man, is Restored to Health.

Within a few steps of the intersection of two of the busiest thoroughfares in Chicago, if not in the entire country, is a store through the portal of which more people pass in the course of a day than enter into and depart from any other establishment of its size in the West. Men and women whose faces bear the stamp of intelligence and culture; women who lead in society, art, and letters; men who are prominent in the profession; lawyers, physicians, artists, judges, and journalists. The exterior of the place gives immediate evidence of its character, which is that of a center of current news and information. It is the news and periodical depot of Charles MacDonaid, at 55 Washington street, who writes the following letter:

CHICAGO, Feb. 20, 1895.—Messrs. Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt.—Gentlemen: It is clearly the duty of every person to acknowledge a service rendered, no matter what its nature. When, however, the character of the benefit bestowed is such that it lightens the daily burdens of our lives, and changes our nights from dreary watches to periods of tranquil and refreshing repose, the duty resolves itself into a pleasure. A few months ago, owing to the confining nature of my business, I began to feel at first a sort of languor and listlessness, to disguise which I was compelled to bring into play all the strength of will I could command. The feeling grew upon me, however, and in a short time it took such possession of me that it affected my appetite and caused insomnia. I approached my meals with a feeling amounting almost to nausea, and my bed with horror at the restless night that I was nearly certain was before me. It was only by the strongest effort that I was enabled to hide the change from people who came into my place of business, but my intimate acquaintances were quicker to notice it. I had arrived at a point where I could no longer keep silent upon the subject, and speaking of it to one of my friends one day he suggested that I try Paine's celery compound. I purchased a bottle, and before I had taken a dozen doses I knew that the suggestion was a good one, for I felt an improvement. I continued to use it, and feel entirely restored. My appetite is good, I sleep well, and, instead of an irksome grind, my business has become a pleasure to me. You may put me down as a strong advocate of Paine's celery compound. Yours, respectfully, CHAS. MACDONALD.
