MONDAY, MAY 6, 1896.

Our true Republican policy at present is to give the Democrats plenty of rope, and they will do the rest.

This income tax is not going to yield as much revenue as was anticipated, but it is going to come fully up to the highest expectations in the way of making Republican votes.

The contending elements of the Democratic party are rapidly nearing the point where each would rather see the Republicans succeed than to be beaten by the other.

Criticism—good, bad and indifferent—and plenty of them, are on the road, and more are to follow. The large ones will no doubt give Shenandoah the go by, but we are sure of some of the little ones.

The Interior Department has leased several large tracts of Indian lands to a Texas syndicate for 60, an acre when a bid of 10c, had been made. This transaction is evidently based upon the precedent established in the bond sale to the Belmont-Morgan syndicate.

WEST CHESTER'S fire alarm system is also out of order. The local paper, in speaking of it says: "No one knows just how long it was worthless. If we are to have a system at all, it should be one that we can rely upon." So say we.

The revival of business in the textile factories of New England, with an increase of wages for the operatives, is one of the latest and most important evidences of returning good times. In the nature of things, the old degree of prosperity can be reached only in a gradual way, but it is coming, and even Democratic rule can not prevent it.

The signs of the times are encouraging for brighter prospects in business circles. Wages have been increased in a number of establishments throughout the country during the past ten days. The mining region is sadly in need of better times, where the poor miners and laborers, the true noblemen of the country, have been ground down to low wages and a bare living.

There seems to be quite a difference of opinion as to the advisability of Lexowing Philadelphia. The people and press are equally divided upon the question, and there does not appear to be an urgent desire anywhere for the investigation except by a few so-called reformers, who are bent on reforming the Republican party out of power and themselves in. The investigation would disclose very little rotteness, but would give a few of our statesmen a job after the adjournment of the Legislature.

The two women who fainted from fright the other day are way behind the times. They certainly have not been reading up to date novels. It was only in the novel of 50 and 100 years ago that women were fragile and fainted on the least provocation. It was then the proper thing for a heroine to faint. The heroine in the up to date novel shoots and hits. She is athletic. She does not lose her head in presence of danger. She coolly turns over in her mind the best way to get out of the danger. That much at least we must thank the athletic lad for.

PRESIDENT LONG, of the defunct bank of Dubois, this state, is an honest man. In reference to the failure of the bank of which he was at the head he says: "The assets of the bank, I am told, will come within $40,000 of paying everything. But whatever they lack will be paid, if I have to pay every cent of it myself. If the sum needed is all I have and my wife has to sell her personal effects and jewelry, we can pay it." On the marble shaft above my father is the legend "Here lies an honest man." I am an old and broken in health, but I will begin anew, without a cent, if necessary to square off.

THE INVADERS DEPART.

British Warships Sail Away from Nicaragua's Chief Port.

THE EFFECT OF BRITISH BLUFF.

It Will Probably Result in the Formation of a Defensive Alliance Among the Central American Republics as a Protest Against Oppressive Measures.

MASAGUA, Nicaragua, May 6.—The Nicaraguan government having, through the Salvadorian minister at London, accepted the modified ultimatum of the British government, the dispute between the two countries is practically at an end.

On Saturday orders were called from London to Rear Admiral Stephenson, commanding the British squadron at Corinto, directing him to evacuate the port yesterday. The warships presented a scene of orderly bustle this morning, giving evidence that something out of the usual course was going on. Boats passed frequently between the shore and the vessels, the little midshipmen in charge wearing an air of greater importance than usual. They were evidently bearers of communications to Captain Trench, of the Royal Arthur, who, upon the seizure of Corinto, had been appointed by Admiral Stephenson governor of the port. The force originally landed by the British to hold the place was four hundred blue jackets and marines, but on Friday, when it became known that the tension had become relaxed, these were removed, with the exception of fifty-eight marines and their officers.

Shortly after the flag denoting that religious services were in progress on board the warships was hauled down by the marines, who had been drawn up in front of the custom house, were ordered to return to their ships. A few minutes later the British flag was hauled down from the government building and soon the soil of Nicaragua was rid of the British invaders, and the long strokes of the sailors were sweeping the heavy boats to the warships lying in the harbor.

Hundreds of persons assembled along the shore to see the embarkation of the marines, and a cheer went up as the noses of the boats headed harborward.

The warships were soon riding at short cables, but their departure was delayed by the tide, which did not serve until the afternoon. It was expected that the flagship would depart with the other two vessels of the fleet, but when the water was high enough on the bar to permit of the passage of the vessels only the Wild Swan and the Satellite got under way, and with the red ensign of Britain snapping in the breeze stood out to sea. The flagship, the Royal Arthur, paid out her cable again, and this fact was believed to confirm a report that she would salute the Nicaraguan flag when the government repossessed itself of the port.

As has before been stated in these dispatches, Nicaragua has agreed to pay $77,500 demanded by Great Britain for the expulsion of Pro-Consul Hatch and for other alleged damages to British subjects arising from the recent troubles in the Mosquito reservation, but instead of paying the money at the cannon's mouth, as the British government originally demanded should be done, she will pay it in London fifteen days after the last vessel of the British fleet withdraws from Corinto. There are other questions of damages to British subjects to be settled, but Nicaragua believes that if these questions are submitted to an impartial commission the judgment will be rendered in her favor.

Well authenticated reports have reached here that Chief Clarence, the deposed ruler of the Mosquito reservation, who is now in Kingston, Jamaica, is the recipient of $5 a day from the British government, and these reports do not tend to allay the popular animosity against Great Britain, it being held that she would not take such an interest in Clarence if she did not have ulterior designs regarding him. It is broadly stated that Great Britain intended to restore him to his chieftainship, but to do so now she would have to despoil Nicaragua of the territory formerly ruled over by him, which a few days ago was incorporated as a state, which was named Zelaya, in honor of the president of Nicaragua.

In well informed circles it is not believed that Great Britain will ever attempt to restore Clarence under the present status, since, should they endeavor to do so now, it is thought that the United States would interfere to prevent what would practically amount to a confiscation of territory.

The action of San Salvador in guaranteeing the payment of the indemnity, as, in fact, her course throughout the whole dispute, is very favorably commented upon in official circles, and it is believed that will lead to results beneficial to both countries. It would not at all be surprising if this trouble with Great Britain should result in the formation of an alliance between the several Central American states for defensive purposes.

There is no denying the fact that the attitude of Great Britain in her treatment of Nicaragua and in her dealings with other small powers has caused an awakening among the Central American republics to the danger to which they are exposed from British aggression. There is a strong belief here that Great Britain will never submit any question that may arise between herself and the Central American states to arbitration, but that she will herself sit in judgment on the question, and then proceed by force of arms to enforce her own decree. Not for years has there been such unanimity of opinion among the Spanish American republics.

If such a union could be definitely arranged and the terms be put into force a severe blow would be dealt to British trade, and eventually the British government would find that its treatment of Nicaragua had cost it a sum of money far in excess of the small money that she demanded from Nicaragua.

Blix Gets Life Imprisonment.
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 6.—Claus A. Blix on Saturday pleaded guilty to the murder of Catharine Gling, and was sentenced to the penitentiary for life. Although the trial of Blix was not expected to occur until May 14, the self-confessed murderer decided to plead guilty at once and let his attorney for the heartless killing of Catharine Gling commence.

PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE.

It Is Now Believed the Lawmakers Will Adjourn on June 6.

HARRISBURG, May 6.—The legislature will probably wind up its affairs the first Thursday of June. The members have become tired of the daily grind of routine work and are anxious to get away. The senate calendar is in good shape, and, if necessary, can be cleared of all bills within forty-eight hours. The house took a spurt last week and cleaned up the calendar of first and second reading house bills. There are less than fifty senate bills on second reading, and about 200 house bills on third reading on the house calendar. This is equal to about eight days' work of six hours a day. Speaker's Clerk Huhn says it is the first time within his legislative experience of thirty-four years that the house calendar was clear of second reading house bills the first week of May.

Chairman Marshall, of the house appropriations committee, expects to report next Thursday about forty appropriation bills for state institutions. They will aggregate about $4,500,000, a heavy reduction over two years ago. The managers of the state institutions have hitherto received a lot of extras that they will not get this year.

Nothing has yet been done by the legislature to increase the state revenues. The house ways and means committee will report tomorrow the Cochran bill taxing brewers twenty-four cents a barrel for all beer brewed or sold within the state. This would raise an annual revenue of about $900,000. If such a law is passed, nothing can be realized from it for a year.

It will probably be determined this week whether or not Philadelphia is to be "Lexowed." The senate judiciary general committee is expected to take final action tomorrow evening on the Pennrose resolution for a senate committee to investigate the municipal affairs of the Quaker city. The same afternoon the opponents of the proposed investigation will be given a hearing by the committee.

Paying Liberally for a Great Disaster.

WESTER, Mass., May 6.—Mrs. William Warnock, of this city, whose husband was one of the victims of the steamship Elbe disaster, received a letter from the North German Lloyd officials in this city, accompanied by several blanks to be filled out. The tenor of the letter indicates that Mrs. Warnock will either receive a check or will be the recipient of a pension during her widowhood. The letter states that $175,000 has already been expended for the relief of the surviving relatives of those who went down with the fated steamship.

Fight with Hostile Indians.

SPOKANE FALLS, Wash., May 6.—The expected hostilities have begun between the settlers of the Kallispell valley and the renegade Indians. Three settlers, William Jared, "Bill" Jared and Oscar McLaughlin, were attacked by a band of the redskins. Big Sam, the leader, knocked William Jared down with a crowbar, but after a short fight with the Indians the whites reached their boat. From there they fired on their assailants and killed one.

Talk of Lynching in Delaware.

MILFORD, Del., May 6.—James H. Williams, who assaulted his daughter, and for whom officers have been searching for several days, was arrested about six miles from here by Detective Witsel. He was lynchd in a swamp. The feeling against Williams is intense, and there is much talk of lynching. He will be sent to jail at Georgetown.

Secretary Grosham's Illness.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Secretary of State Grosham was much more restless yesterday, and he is said to be somewhat improved. The secretary suffers some pain at times, but finds relief in sleep.

Cuban Revolution Nearly Over.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The meeting yesterday at this place, will, it is believed, settle the strike. The union men have brought to bear every possible means to induce the miners here to join them. Lawless has complete confidence in the ultimate success of the men. He says that the idea of sending soldiers here is ridiculous; that there is not a single man who would destroy a piece of railroad property as big as a spike, and that law and order will be preserved and the men are all pledged to peace. He appealed to the men to preserve good behavior and to show to the people that the strike was meant only to redress wrongs.

The other speakers, both black and white, gave versions of their grievances, and counseled the preservation of peace, but to unite and fight out for the law and their rights. All seemed to think that the strike would win, whether the Pocahontas men came out or not, but that with their union the field could be won much sooner. They claim that at the present charges for provisions and house rent they could not live at thirty cents per ton for labor.

The meeting, which lasted until night, has put a different phase on the situation so far as the Pocahontas men are concerned. The union men are working hard so that the few remaining men who have not joined will be brought in. The negroes and native whites have been the key to the position here, and it is believed all of these are in the union. The proportion of the miners is fully 90 per cent. negroes, with 10 native white and 20 Hungarians.

The strike has effectively paralyzed business, and travel is suspended except for miners going home. Pocahontas has been very quiet, not a single arrest having been made in the city for a week. The miners say they will hold out for six months if required to win. The action will, it is believed, culminate in practically an adjustment of the matter before another day.

Collision in New York Harbor.

NEW YORK, May 6.—The German tank steamer August Korff, Captain Buhner, while proceeding to sea yesterday morning during hazy weather, collided with the German ship August, which was anchored off Stapleton, S. L. in ballast. The August Korff struck the August a glancing blow on the port side, abate the mizen mast, with such great force that the steamer's anchor pierced the ship's side and broke short off at the shank, leaving the lower half of the anchor imbedded in the ship's side. A large hole was stove in the ship's side just above the water line, and a quantity of the vessel's copper was completely torn away. The steamer sustained considerable damage to her bows, and was obliged to return for repairs.

STRIKING MINERS ORDERLY.

The Miners' Annual Strike.

CINCINNATI, May 6.—With a general strike of all the Ohio coal miners assured for an indefinite period, and indications for a similar condition in West Virginia soon, the manufacturers, railroads and others here are greatly concerned over the prospects for the summer. The river is getting so low that no relief can be expected long from western Pennsylvania, and the situation in the Pittsburgh district is not considered much better than in Ohio. There are some who regard the situation as less encouraging than last year, when the general strike prevailed. If the miners and operators had been able to get together at the Columbus conference last week the prospects would have been good for this season.

A General Strike Imminent.

SHARON, Pa., May 6.—A general strike among the blast furnace employes in this section is imminent. They are not satisfied with the advance of ten cents a day all around, agreed upon at the meeting of the Mahoning and Shenango Valley Iron Manufacturers' association in Youngstown, because the rate is lower than is paid in New Castle. It is probable that a demand will be made for another advance, and if the demand is refused, every furnaceman in Sharpsville will strike. Thus far no action has been taken in Sharon and Middlesex, but if there is a strike at Sharpsville, the men in both the other towns will follow, and 1,500 men will be idle.

The Resignation of Count Kainoky.

VIENNA, May 6.—Count Kainoky, imperial foreign minister, whose resignation was reported in these dispatches Saturday night, retired from office in order to give Emperor Francis Joseph a free hand in dealing with the crisis growing out of the denunciation by the penal municipalities at Vienna, of the Hungarian constitutional bills. The emperor yesterday gave an audience to Baron Banffy, the Hungarian prime minister. It is understood that his majesty told the premier that a satisfactory settlement of the crisis must be reached.

Justice Jackson in Washington.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Associate Justice Howell E. Jackson, of the United States supreme court, arrived here yesterday from Nashville, Tenn., to participate in the proceedings today in the supreme court incidental to the rehearing in the income tax cases. Hon. Joseph H. Choate and his son and Hon. B. H. Bristol, of New York, also reached the city last night, presumably to take part in the court proceedings.

Hit the Fire with Kerosene.

BLAINSVILLE, Pa., May 6.—Mary Murray, living on Maple avenue, was fatally burned in trying to start a fire with kerosene. The oil can exploded, setting the girl afire. She ran down the middle of the street, a pillar of flame. John Connor's hand was burned almost to a crisp in attempting to extinguish the fire.

Killed by Lightning.

GALESBURG, Ill., May 6.—During a storm Fred Conkrite and team were killed at Henderson by lightning. The storm was severe at Abington, unroofing a large new wagon factory. Reports from the country state that many barns and cribs were blown down and much minor damage done.

Killed by Exploding Marsh Gas.

HARTFORD, May 6.—Eugene McQuirk, 35 years old, was killed yesterday by an explosion of marsh gas in a tall water tank at the city gas works. He was investigating a stoppage of the flow and let a lantern down the tall shaft.
