TRYING TO HOLD THEM.

The Local Base Ball Club is Now on the Brink of Uncertainty.

PRESIDENT HANLON ON DECK

HE ORDERED LAST NIGHT TO TRY AND ADJUST THE DIFFICULTIES OF MANAGER BRENNAN.

Several Business People Show an Inclination to Take Hold of the Club and Keep It in Town—The Deal May Succeed.

Remarks preliminary to the score of the game played at the Trotting park yesterday afternoon between the Shenandoah and Harrisburg teams are hardly necessary to inform the people of the miserable exhibition that was given by the home team. The players were reckless and indifferent at times and only seemed to try to retire the Harrisburgs when the spectators exhibited impatience with the length of the inning.

It was practically another game of ball to show Manager Brennan that the players were dissatisfied. In fact they struck for wages yesterday afternoon when the hour came for them to go to the grounds arranged, but Mr. Brennan succeeded in inducing them to reconsider their action and go on the diamond for at least one more game.

Meanwhile Manager Bentley was anxiously awaiting payment of the $25 due him for the postponed game on Wednesday and the full guarantee of $50 for Thursday's game. Manager Brennan had no money. Bentley determined upon a vigorous course and telegraphed for President Hanlon. The manager of the Harrisburg club joined in the invitation. It was this course that had some weight in getting the home players to go upon the diamond yesterday.

It should be stated as a matter of justice that Manager Brennan is indebted to the club but not near what many people suppose it is. All the players received money on account, either in the form of advance money, board, or railway fares, and three of the men have actually received more than the amount due them. One has received a surplus of nearly five dollars. The amount actually due the players is $117.78. This statement is not based upon any assertion by Mr. Brennan, but upon authentic information gleaned outside of the management. Nevertheless the general indebtedness of the club is considerable.

President Hanlon arrived in town last night and a conference was held on the situation. It is said that President Hanlon spoke very determinedly on the matter and said that unless some amicable arrangement was made the State League would be obliged to force the franchise either out of Brennan's hands, or locate the club elsewhere.

Several prominent citizens of town were also in conference with President Hanlon and expressed a willingness to take the franchise. Among the names mentioned in connection with this offer were those of Harry Bradigan, T. M. Hutchison, P. P. D. Kirlin and James McElhenny. When these names were mentioned there was a unanimous expression of opinion that with such a management the Shenandoah would at once become one of the most active and prosperous clubs in the league.

President Hanlon and John Martin spent several hours today in efforts to bring about a new management and met with considerable success. Everybody Mr. Hanlon called upon agreed with him that a base ball club is of great benefit to a town, especially a League club that has good backing, as it draws visitors to the town by the thousands during the season and the refreshment people certainly make more than they would if the town had no club. There is a strong sentiment in favor of keeping the club here.

This afternoon it looked as if President Hanlon would be successful in having the club kept here. He had already received $175 from citizens who were anxious to help the movement along. If the required amount is forthcoming Brennan will promptly withdraw from the club and the franchise will be transferred at a meeting of the State League to be held at Carbondale tomorrow. If the funds are not forthcoming the franchise will probably go to Easton, or Philadelphia.

Manager Brennan has received a letter from Setley and Tomam, who are at Amsterdam, N. Y. They want to come to Shenandoah.

The Harrisburgs and home team played their game this afternoon. Both were satisfied from the efforts being made by President Hanlon that all guarantees and salaries would be paid. Hanlon and all connected with the League who have visited Shenandoah agree that the town is one of the most promising places in the state for a franchise.

EVANGELICAL CONGREGATION.

Arrangements Made For Its Services Tomorrow—Injunction Served.

Deputy Sheriff Edward Roberts yesterday served an injunction on the trustees of the Evangelical congregation, of town, restraining it from using the church, or any of the property connected with it. The action was anticipated and the congregation had hired Dougherty's hall, at the corner of Centre and Jardin streets. The congregation had also met and adopted the title of "Albright's United Evangelical Church of Shenandoah." It takes its name from the founder of the Evangelical church.

Regular services will be held in Dougherty's hall at 7:30 a. m. and 6:30 p. m. tomorrow, at which Rev. R. M. Lichtenwalner, the pastor, will officiate. At 10:30 tomorrow afternoon the Sunday school will meet at the church corner of Cherry and West streets and proceed in a body to Dougherty's hall.

Chairs for the accommodation of the congregation in the hall have been kindly loaned by the Resene and Phoenix Fire Companies, J. P. Williams & Son, John Roberts, Evan J. Davies and the Shenandoah Republican League, for which the members of the congregation desires the HERALD to express their thanks. At the same time a cordial invitation is extended to these parties, and the public in general, to attend the services in the hall.

The congregation is united and there has not been a dissenting voice to anything that has been done towards refuting the claims made by the parties who have secured the injunction that has led to the vacating of the church.

MYSTERIOUS GIRL BURGLAR

SHE HAS HAD FULL SWING FOR SEVERAL MONTHS WITHOUT BEING DETECTED.

Last Night She Entered The Lloyd Street School Building and Was Seen, But Got Out Again and Escaped Arrest

A crowd of about three hundred men, women and children gathered in front of the school building at the corner of Lloyd and West streets at about eight o'clock last night and kept the neighborhood in an uproar for about an hour. The assemblage was caused by a report that a little girl was seen in the school building at the hour stated. Stories of all kinds flew about. Some said a child had been unintentionally locked in the school building during the afternoon, and others spread the report that the girl had entered the building to steal. The latter story proved the correct one.

Word was sent to Janitor Cook and he went for the police. Thomas Lee responded and subsequently School Director Davenport, Chief of Police Tosh and a HERALD reporter made their appearance. The janitor stated that since last Christmas the several rooms of the building have been entered and robbed of petty articles, but the thefts have always been of a mysterious character. Once the janitor remained on guard until half past one o'clock in the morning, but was unable to get any clew to the guilty party, or see anyone attempt to get into the building. The building was also mysteriously entered on Thursday night.

Several children added their stories to that of the janitor. They said shortly before eight o'clock last night they saw a girl crawl into the school room on the first floor at the southwest corner of the building. The girl was apparently eleven years of age. The only description given of her was that she wore an old apron wrapped about her waist.

After hearing these stories the police and others decided to make a search of the building. Every room, closet and corner in the place was carefully inspected with the aid of light from a lantern and a lamp, but no one found. Upon entering the room indicated by the children who had given information traces of a previous visit by some body were discovered. One of the lower window sashes facing on the alley west of the building was released from the catches inside and slightly raised above the sill. The lock of a drawer of the desk of Miss Lee, the school teacher, was broken and the drawer was partly open. The contents were missing, but they were of no value.

A no second careful inspection of the building was made from cellar to roof, but still no person was found and, as it was impossible for anybody to escape from the building without detection after the crowd assembled, it was concluded that the mysterious visitor must have taken flight through the window during the first excitement occasioned by the children and while the janitor was being sent for. The window found open was the same through which the children say they saw the girl enter. Several adults confirmed the stories, but no one could give a description of the mysterious visitor by which an identification could be made.

The general opinion is that the child thief must have an accomplice in an adult. If not, she must have wonderful courage to enter and search the large lonely building at night. Janitor Cook is most anxious to have the mystery solved and the police are doing all in their power to do it.

The Scheify House has a great reputation for its clam chowder and will serve it for free lunch tonight.

The Jeanesville note business won't go down. A big blunder has been made and those who made the mistake should own up like men. The man who made the blunder is Mr. Gable, really the chief bungler in this transaction.

"Shore Acres."

Denman Thompson, author of "The Old Homestead," said to a well known New York manager the other day: "I went to see James A. Hearne's play 'Shore Acres' three times in one week. The first time I had seats, the second time I had a box, and the third time I stood up all through it." This is the fourth year for this great play and many predict it will continue to be popular even in the twentieth century. There are a great many people here who remember "Hearts of Oak" which Mr. Hearne wrote many years ago and often played here. "Shore Acres" is even a better play and none should fail to see it at Ferguson's theatre on Wednesday evening, May 23d. This will be the last play of the season.
