HONOR THE SONG WRITER.

! A movement is on foot to erect a monument to the memory of Stephen C. Foster, author of those unrivalled melodie-"Old Folks at Home," "Old Kentucky Home," "Uncle Ned," "Nelly Was a Igdy," "Camptown Races," "Oh.

annah," "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming," etc. Foster was born at Pittsburg, July 4, 1826. He was educated at Towanda, at Jefferson College, and by private tutors, and was familiar with the French and German languages. He is said to have written about one hundred and twenty-five pieces, composing both the words and the music and adapting the words to the melody. It is doubtful if any songs have been so widely sung as his, or have caused so much pleasure to both the masses and trained musicians. The words of his songs, unlike the words of most songs, show the same spontaneity and artistic contrast manifested in his melodies, that contrast of which Poe, among American poets, was the one distinctive master, and which Foster also instinctively understood.

A BROTHER'S REVENGE

Murdered the Man Who Destroyed H: Pretty Sister's Life.

New York, May 24.-When Lorett Hannigan, a pretty girl of 19 years, died last March at the home of her parents under distressing circumstances. David l Hannigan, a plumber, the brother of the dead girl, vowed that he would avenge his sister's honor by killing her alleged s er, Solomon H. Mann, the manager a Fifth avenue tailoring establishment where the girl was also employed.

Hannigan was as good as his word, foliast night, just after 6 o'clock, he me Mann on Forty-second street and fired two shots at him from a 38-caliber revolver. One of the bullets hit the mar so well that it pierced Mann's skull over the right eye and penetrated the brain Although the wounded man was alive when he was taken to the hospital it is not thought that he can possibly survive. Hannigan was arrested.

The first shot did not take effect, appar ently, for the would be murderer then fired again. At the second shot Mann dropped to the sidewalk with blood trickling from a wound over the right eye. Among the crowd of people attracted by the sound of the two shots was L. A. French, a clerk in a drug store near by. Hannigan was about to put another bullet into his victim, when French stooped over and snatched the weapon out of his hands. Hannigan was apparently crazed with anger and rage and when he had no revolver with which to shoot Mann began to kick him.

Patrolman Edward Kearns, who had heard the report of the shot, ran to the spot and arrested Hannigan.

Pittsburg District Mine Strike Lost. Pittssung, May 24.—The miners' offi-cials practically gave up the strike last night, and advised the men to go to work at the sixty cent rate if they could get it. In the Pan Handle district a mass meeting of 2,000 miners was held. They were divided on the matter of continuing the strike for the sixty-nine cent rate, and the officers told them that the strike was lost, and that they had better return to work before they are forced to sign the ironclad agreements such as were made on the Wheeling division. As a result all the mines within a radius of ten miles of Carnegie resumed this morning at the sixty cent rate.

PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE.

Many Appropriation lills May be Left Over at Adjournment.

Hannisavaa, May 94.-Chaleman Marshall, of the apprepriation committee of the house, in discussing the question of a final adjournment before that body, expressed the belief that it would be impossible to adjourn on June 6 without ignoring some of the appropriation bills. And yet the indications are that the senate resolution will be concurred in and the lawmakers get away a week from next Thursday. The question will be decided next Monday. The rules committee of the house yester day afternoon made a change in the orde of business which knocks out house bills on second reading, and over one hundred of them will fall. A resolution was also adopted asking the house to hold sessions on Monday afternoons. Among bills passed finally were: To prevent the pollution of waters and streams supplying pop-

Memphis Convention Vigorously Opposes Bimetallism.

SOME POINTS OF THE PLATFORM.

Would Rejoice Over the Adoption of Bimetallism Were It Possible for This Country to Bring It About by Independent Action.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 24.-About 3,000 people were at the sound money conven-tion at the Auditorium yesterday after-noon when Chairman W. J. Crawford called the convention to order. While the gathering was affecting an organization and getting down to business the crowd gradually filled up the vacant seats, and by the time Secretary Carlisle began his address the large hall was comfortably filled Mr. Crawford acted in his capacity of chairman of committee of fifteen appointed by the associated mercantile bodies of Memphis, under whose auspices the convention is held. In a few appropriate words the delegates and visitors were welomed to Memphis, the purposes of the concention were stated and the work of organization begun.

The remarks of the chairman were fre quently interrupted by applause. After the selection of G. C. Matthews, associate editor of The Commercial Appeal, as see retary, a committee on resolutions was appointed, and on motion of U. M. Rose, of Arkansas, a delegate from each of the tates represented was appointed without debate.

Secretary of the Treasury John G. Carlisle was then introduced by Mr. Catchings. and as the distinguished Kentuckian stepped to the front of the stage the audience rose to its feet and cheered enthusiastically for several minutes. After quiet had been restored the secretary spoke for two hours to an intensely inerested audience, his speech being fre quently interrupted by outbursts of applause. The speech was a vigorous ar-raignment of the bimetallists and a plea for the single standard.

When the convention reassembled at p. m. Judge U. M. Rose, chairman of the esolutions committee, presented the platform, which was unanimously adopted without debate.

The platform favors, in the absence of international co-operation, the retention of the existing gold standard:

"Because a change from the gold to the silver standard would have the effect to repudiate all public and private obligations to the extent of the difference between the bullion value of the gold and silver dollar.

"Because such transition from the gold to the silver basis would destroy public and private confidence, and would involve the country in such panic, confusion and distress that the products of agriculture and the wages of labor would be unremunerative. "Because the commercial world would become unprofitable and our people en-gaged in industrial occupations would be thrown out of employment.

"Because there is not a progressive, an enlightened country in the world which has not elected gold as the preferable standard. "Because gold standard countries retain silver in their circulation on a parity with gold, whereas there is no silver standard ountry which can utilize gold as money. "Because there is not a silver country on the globe where the wages of labor are sufficient to sustain the working classes omfort and independence 'We would rejoice over the adoption of real bimetallism, but in view of the con tinued fluctuations in the price of silver in the open market we realize that it is im-possible for the United States independently to adopt a bimetallic standard, and we deem it unwise and hazardous to the best interests of its people for this country to attempt its establishment."

China's Peace Proclamation.

LONDON, May 24 .- A dispatch from Tientsin says that an imperial proclamation has been issued announcing the ratifica-tion of the treaty of peace between China and Japan. It is declared that the gov-ernment deeply pondered the advice which has been offered to it to continue the war rather than surrender, but the crisis demanded a decision, as no victory had been obtained on sea or land, owing to the in-competence of the leaders, who had only been able to recruit the rabble. The en emy, the proclamation says, were menne ing Pekin. The country was in a terrible condition now. The proclamation then goes on to say: "Could we permit alarms to disturb the dwelling of her sacred majesty? Heaven had not withheld its augury. The sea overflowed the coast and the camps were submerged.

The vanguard of Colonel Sandoval's column of the Herman Cortes cavalry has captured in the Salado mountains a white rebel spy named Charles Chacon. He had in his possession letters from Gomes Marti, Borrero and Masso. Chaeon con-fesses that Gomez and Marti met the parties or bands led by Masso and Borrero. Gomez's escort was commanded by Bellito The total force numbered 700.

All of the cavalry were whites and car ried the rebel flag. General Gomez had set out to attempt an invasion of the Camaguay district of Puerto Principe province The rebels had charged the government troops fifteen times with machetes when the guide Oliva shot Marti. They made desperate efforts to recover the body

The captured spy has identified the body is that of Jose Martl. It was buried a Remanganaguas. Gomez fell off horse, and the rebels carried him off by main force. Fourteen rebels were killed One was an American. The government losses include one sergeant, one bugle and five private soldiers killed and six wounded. The government troops cap tured thirty horses.

Favoring an Eight Hour Day. CLEVELAND, Jay 24.—It is stated that the Amalgamated Association convention has adopted a recommendation for pud dlers to work three turns a day, during which time they will make fifteen heats or five heats a turn. This is practically an adoption of the eight hour rule in this department of the iron industry. Many of the delegates, especially those from the Birmingham, Ala., district, it is understood, were strongly opposed to the three turn rule, and fought against its adoption. It is argued by some members of the association that three turns a day, with five heats each, will throw hundreds of men out of work. Other believe that four heats each turn should be sufficient
