Novelties From Japan. A "Matsuri" Celebration.

We invite our thousands of patrons to see the many curious and useful things made by the Japanese people—the victors in the late war with China. "Matsuri" is the name of a great celebration day in Japan when the people meet in their gaily decorated homes and exchange congratulations and are entertained by one another.

Our window represents this celebration. After a week or two we will offer for sale any of these articles at cost or less. We call attention to our attractive stock of Japanese Fans, brought direct from their sunny land, and we can surprise you at the very low prices we can name for useful or decorative fans. Don't fail to see our window display.

CLOSE RESEMBLANCE!

A Welshman Who Found His Nationality a Friend in Need.

IT WAS A STRIKING CASE.

WILLIAM G. POWELL AND A MAN WANTED FOR MURDER OF ONE APPEARANCE.

They Are the Same Even to a Finger of the Left Hand, But the Man Sought is a German—The Resemblance Was Remarkable.

The police authorities of town were greatly puzzled by a case of striking resemblance on the part of a man found at Yatesville and the description of one charged with committing wife murder at Pittston last April. The man wanted is described as being George Windish, a German. The body of the murdered woman was not discovered until two days after the crime was committed, which gave the murderer a start of two days. In describing the fugitive the police authorities stated in their circular that his nose was straight and full, complexion dark, that he carried his head to one side and walked with a shambling gait and with toes turned inward. The little finger of the left hand was described as being crooked. Saturday evening a detective spent several hours in town looking for the fugitive without success and went on to Pottsville Yesterday afternoon Detective Amour came across the man who so strikingly resembled the man wanted that the man himself said he was almost forced to the conclusion that he was the individual wanted. This man accompanied Detective Amour to Justice Williams' office and thence to the lockup. He said his name was William G. Powell. While he was in the lockup Thomas Dove, Sr., entered the place to see what caused the excitement. As soon as Dove stepped through the doorway Powell exclaimed, "Hello, Tom Dove!" The latter looked in surprise and exclaimed in return, "Well, well, hello Tom Taylor!" The recognition was mutual. Dove said that "Taylor" and himself were raised in the same place in South Wales. Detective Amour asked the stranger how it was that he had given the name of Powell. He answered in this manner, "My name is William G. Powell, but my father was a tallor and I was always called by the nickname of 'Tom Taylor' at home." Amour, in the presence of several spectators then proceeded to note the resemblance between Powell and the photograph and description given by the circular. Powell conformed to the details as to height, complexion, gait while walking and his right foot was turned inward. He tallied with the description even to the little finger of the left hand, which was very crooked from an injury and a little cut over one of the eyes. More than this, Powell said the only place at which he ever had his picture taken was at Hazleton and it was a tin type. The picture from which the photograph circulated throughout the country was taken was a tin type made at Hazleton. But after all these remarkable comparisons there was one insurmountable stumbling block. Windish had been described as a German. It was then thought possible that Powell, notwithstanding the Welsh accent he used here, was able to speak the German language and passed as a German at Pittston. Amour decided to have another investigation and Powell agreed to be at Justice Williams' office at seven o'clock last evening. He spent the afternoon as Mr. Dove's guest. In the evening he again presented himself, but was told that he need not wait. A young man named Simmons, of Yatesville, called at the office and stated positively that Powell was not the man wanted. He said that he worked as driver for Windish, the murderer, in one of the Pittston mines before the crime was committed. He said Powell's appearance was strikingly close to that of Windish, yet the latter was of such pronounced German type that he could not be mistaken for, or impersonate a Welshman. This settled the matter and Powell went to Wm. Penn to visit friends there. Before leaving Powell said that he arrived in Shenandoah from the soft coal regions on Saturday. That he walked most of the way and rode on fare raised by selling some of his clothing. He was reduced to poor circumstances on account of the strike among the soft coal miners and came to this region to secure work in the mines.

A Hebrew Wedding.

Miss Katie Levine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Levine, of town, and Jacob Per, of Hughesville, were married according to the Hebrew rites in the Synagogue on West Oak street last evening. Louis Feinberg, of Mahanoy City, was the groomsman, and Miss Maggie Levine, sister of the bride, the bridesmaid. The bride wore a white silk dress trimmed with white ribbon, and the bridesmaid was attired in pink. After the ceremony the bridal party proceeded to Robbins' opera house in nine carriages. The hall was crowded with friends, and about forty congratulatory telegrams were received by the couple. They were read on the stage of the hall and each was loudly applauded. After a collation served by M. F. Burke, of town, and J. E. Murphy, of Mahanoy City, an Italian orchestra commenced work and dancing was indulged in until a late hour. THE NEWS GLEANINGS.

Interesting Memorial Day Exercises Held in the Primitive Methodist Church.

RECEPTION OF THE SODALITY

A LARGE ATTENDANCE AT IMPRESSIVE SERVICE IN THE ANNUNCIATION CHURCH LAST EVENING.

Shenandoah Matters Disposed of at the Pottsville Court This Morning—Several Transfers of Saloon Licenses Made.

Special services of a memorial character were held last evening in the Primitive Methodist church, corner of Jardin and Oak streets, and were attended by the members of Watkin Waters Post No. 146, G. A. R., Sons of Veterans and the Women's Relief Corps. Rev. John Bath, the pastor of the church, preached a most interesting and impressive sermon, taking for his subject "Patriotism—How to Increase It." The singing by the choir during the service was of a very impressive character. Several very beautiful anthems were rendered and just before the benediction "America" was sung.

There was a very large gathering at the Annunciation church on West Cherry street last evening to witness the annual reception of the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin, an impressive service that always throngs the church. The members of the Sodality met in the old hall at the corner of Cherry and Chestnut streets and marched in a body to the church. The children were beautifully attired in white and many of them wore long, white veils. The capacity of the church was well taxed before the Sodality arrived, but seats were reserved near the altar and the members took them after marching through the aisles. Rev. H. F. O'Reilly officiated at the benediction and preached a very instructive sermon, after which he administered the vows to the applicants for membership to the Sodality. The choir of the church rendered selections in an excellent manner during the service.

Babies made happy with Luks' Syrup.

A Good Card.

One of Shenandoah's popular business men, while paying a visit to Hazleton about two weeks ago, made a search for Columbia beer, but failed to find any. While on a visit to the same place last week he accidentally dropped into the same place and, to his great satisfaction, was informed that Columbia beer was on tap. The proprietor remarked that Columbia beer is in great demand and was sorry that he had not received a supply sooner.

It Hits the Mark.

Bill:—Say, John, since I met you the other day I have been drinking Columbia beer and it is out of sight. It quenches the thirst and does not leave a bad taste in the mouth, as some beers do. I don't have any headache since I have confined myself to Columbia."

John:—"What did I tell you? Columbia beer is the most wholesome beverage I can find. It don't intoxicate, or make you bilious."

For baby's colicky pains use Luks' Syrup.

Judgment Recovered.

Judgment was taken at Pottsville today for the sum of $255.75 in the case of the Shenandoah Bakery Company against George Mertz, of Pottsville. The suit was brought to recover $1,200 with interest from November 3, 1893, for machinery that was used in the company's bakery and the balance of the claim will be settled by a trial in court.

Be Prompt This Week.

In order to allow the employes the full benefit of Decoration Day, Fay's Steam Laundry will suspend operations on Wednesday evening until Friday morning, and therefore all patrons are requested to have their laundry on hand not later than Tuesday night, so as to assure prompt delivery for Decoration Day.
