

MUNYON'S HOMOEOPATHIC REMEDIES

MUNYON'S Rheumatism Cure never fails to relieve in three hours and cure in three days.
 MUNYON'S Dyspepsia Cure is guaranteed to correct constipation and cure all forms of indigestion and stomach trouble.
 MUNYON'S Catarrh Cure soothes and heals the afflicted parts and restores them to health. No failure; a cure guaranteed.
 MUNYON'S Kidney Cure speedily cures pain in the back, loins or groins and all forms of kidney disease.
 MUNYON'S Nerve Cure cures nervousness and builds up the system.
 MUNYON'S Vitalizer imparts new life, restores lost powers to weak and debilitated men. Price $1.00.
 No matter what the disease is or how many doctors have failed to cure you, ask your druggist for a 25-cent vial of one of Munyon's Cures, and if you are not benefited your money will be refunded.

HARTMAN STEEL PICKET FENCE

Is the cheapest and best fence made. Cheaper than a wooden fence for residences, lawns, cemetery lots or any kind of fencing. M. H. MASTER has the agency and carries it in stock at his marble and granite works.

127 S. Jardin St.
SHENANDOAH, PA.
 Millions of Dollars

Go up in smoke every year. Take no risks but get your houses, stock, furniture, etc., insured in first-class, reliable companies, as represented by DAVID FAUST, Insurance Agent.

120 South Main Street,
 Also Life and Accidental Companies.

JOHN A. REILLY, Wholesale and Retail

LIQUOR DEALER

22 and 24 South Main St., Shenandoah.
 Agents for D. G. Yungling & Son's celebrated Beer, Porter, Ales, etc.

-DR. A. A. SEIBERT-

Specialist in diseases of the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.

307 West Market St., Pottsville.

HOTEL KAIER

CHAS. BURCHILL, Prop.
 North Main Street, Mahanoy City.
 Largest and finest hotel in the region.
 Finest accommodations. Handsome fixtures. Pool and Billiard Rooms Attached.

Chichester's English Diamond Brand.
PENNYROYAL PILLS
 Original and Only Genuine.
 Safe, sure, reliable. Cures all cases of Catarrh of the Bladder, Gleet, Stricture, Hemorrhoids, Piles, and all other ailments of the urinary system. No other pills so effective. Take no other pills. If you are suffering from any of the above ailments, get a box of Pennyroyal Pills. They will cure you. Sold by all druggists.

SWEET CAPORAL
 THE OLD RELIABLE
SWEET CAPORAL
CIGARETTE
 Has stood the Test of Time
 MORE SOLD THAN ALL OTHER BRANDS COMBINED

THE MILD POWER CURES
 Dr. Humphrey's Specifics are scientifically and carefully prepared Remedies, used for nearly half a century by the people with entire success.

- RECIPES FOR
- 1- Fever, Rheumatism, Inflammation.
 - 2- Worms, Worm Fever, Worm Colic.
 - 3- Teething, Croup, Crying, Wakefulness.
 - 4- Diarrhea, of Children or Adults.
 - 5- Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis.
 - 6- Neuralgia, Toothache, Headache.
 - 7- Headaches, Sick Headache, Vertigo.
 - 8- Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Constipation.
 - 9- Suppressed or Painful Periods.
 - 10- Whites, Too Frequent Periods.
 - 11- Croup, Laryngitis, Hoarseness.
 - 12- Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Eruptions.
 - 13- Rheumatism, Rheumatic Pains.
 - 14- Measles, Chills, Fever and Ague.
 - 15- Catarrh, Indigestion, Cold in the Head.
 - 16- Whooping Cough.
 - 17- Kidney Diseases.
 - 18- Nervous Debility.
 - 19- Urinary Obstruction.
 - 20- Sore Throat, Quinsy, Glanders.
- "77" FOR HAY FEVER
 Sold by Druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price, 50c. or 75c. (They are enclosed, except 75c. and 50c. only.)
 DR. HUMPHREY'S MED. CO., 111 & 113 William St., New York.

PLAYFUL BUCK TAYLOR

The Well Known Cowboy Enjoys Himself in True Western Style.

HE LASSEOD A CONSTABLE.

Merely as a Little Joke He Held Up a Possie and Compelled Men to Dance to the Tune of His Revolver—Said to Be En Route to New York.

HONOLULU, Pa., June 7.—Cowboy Buck Taylor is on the warpath, shooting, lassoing, drinking wine and bidding all sorts of defiance to the helpless sheriffs and constables who are endeavoring to capture him for various offenses ranging from horse stealing to forcing men to dance to the music of a six shooter.
 It is believed he is on the way to New York, and if he "shoots up" the towns along the way as he did Honolulu nothing short of turning out the militia will suppress him, for Buck is a six footer, weighing more than 200 pounds, and when mounted, armed and enraged he is a well-nourished revolution in himself.
 New Yorkers will remember Buck as the former king of Buffalo Bill's rough riders, a wild cowboy turned circus man, a star in stagecoach and robber dramas.

BUCK TAYLOR.
 A bad man as that term is understood on the frontier. Now that he is expected to turn up in New York or near it, here is his history for the last ten days:
 Buck, sober and daring, was the pride of the Wyoming Wild West show on May 26, but on that date he resigned, with pyrotechnic accompaniments, stampered five horses from the circus tents and rode to Monticello, N. Y., to sell his string.
 Some of the showmen gave chase, found the horse in a livery stable, and having scouted about town long enough to discover that the big cowboy was away, rode off with the mounts, only stopping long enough to say that Taylor had selected horses which were not owned by the men who owed him $700.
 A Fatal Mistake.
 But the men made the mistake of leaving the cowboy's horse behind, and within an hour he was spurting after them. He came upon them at full gallop, a ring revolver in each hand, with a yell that won the battle at the start. He lined the men up in a roadside ditch, cut the horses loose and rode off.
 Sheriff Watson of Monticello telegraphed to Narrowsburg, N. Y., calling upon Constable Dexter to apprehend a man on a white horse, and Dexter, who did not know that it was a cyclone he was seeking, rode out and met Taylor, sombrero, buckskin, lariat, guns and all.
 Then there was a new chapter in the history of a peace loving country. Dexter placed a hand on Buck's bridle rein. The cowboy shook it off, galloped around the astonished constable, and swung his lariat in a mighty circle until it shot out and settled in a narrowing loop about Dexter's waist. The constable was unhooked, and in a moment he danced to catching a ring revolver in each hand, with a yell that won the battle at the start. He lined the men up in a roadside ditch, cut the horses loose and rode off.
 Sheriff Watson of Monticello telegraphed to Narrowsburg, N. Y., calling upon Constable Dexter to apprehend a man on a white horse, and Dexter, who did not know that it was a cyclone he was seeking, rode out and met Taylor, sombrero, buckskin, lariat, guns and all.
 Then there was a new chapter in the history of a peace loving country. Dexter placed a hand on Buck's bridle rein. The cowboy shook it off, galloped around the astonished constable, and swung his lariat in a mighty circle until it shot out and settled in a narrowing loop about Dexter's waist. The constable was unhooked, and in a moment he danced to catching a ring revolver in each hand, with a yell that won the battle at the start. He lined the men up in a roadside ditch, cut the horses loose and rode off.
 Sheriff Watson of Monticello telegraphed to Narrowsburg, N. Y., calling upon Constable Dexter to apprehend a man on a white horse, and Dexter, who did not know that it was a cyclone he was seeking, rode out and met Taylor, sombrero, buckskin, lariat, guns and all.
 Then there was a new chapter in the history of a peace loving country. Dexter placed a hand on Buck's bridle rein. The cowboy shook it off, galloped around the astonished constable, and swung his lariat in a mighty circle until it shot out and settled in a narrowing loop about Dexter's waist. The constable was unhooked, and in a moment he danced to catching a ring revolver in each hand, with a yell that won the battle at the start. He lined the men up in a roadside ditch, cut the horses loose and rode off.

But the men made the mistake of leaving the cowboy's horse behind, and within an hour he was spurting after them. He came upon them at full gallop, a ring revolver in each hand, with a yell that won the battle at the start. He lined the men up in a roadside ditch, cut the horses loose and rode off.
 Sheriff Watson of Monticello telegraphed to Narrowsburg, N. Y., calling upon Constable Dexter to apprehend a man on a white horse, and Dexter, who did not know that it was a cyclone he was seeking, rode out and met Taylor, sombrero, buckskin, lariat, guns and all.
 Then there was a new chapter in the history of a peace loving country. Dexter placed a hand on Buck's bridle rein. The cowboy shook it off, galloped around the astonished constable, and swung his lariat in a mighty circle until it shot out and settled in a narrowing loop about Dexter's waist. The constable was unhooked, and in a moment he danced to catching a ring revolver in each hand, with a yell that won the battle at the start. He lined the men up in a roadside ditch, cut the horses loose and rode off.

But the men made the mistake of leaving the cowboy's horse behind, and within an hour he was spurting after them. He came upon them at full gallop, a ring revolver in each hand, with a yell that won the battle at the start. He lined the men up in a roadside ditch, cut the horses loose and rode off.
 Sheriff Watson of Monticello telegraphed to Narrowsburg, N. Y., calling upon Constable Dexter to apprehend a man on a white horse, and Dexter, who did not know that it was a cyclone he was seeking, rode out and met Taylor, sombrero, buckskin, lariat, guns and all.
 Then there was a new chapter in the history of a peace loving country. Dexter placed a hand on Buck's bridle rein. The cowboy shook it off, galloped around the astonished constable, and swung his lariat in a mighty circle until it shot out and settled in a narrowing loop about Dexter's waist. The constable was unhooked, and in a moment he danced to catching a ring revolver in each hand, with a yell that won the battle at the start. He lined the men up in a roadside ditch, cut the horses loose and rode off.

But the men made the mistake of leaving the cowboy's horse behind, and within an hour he was spurting after them. He came upon them at full gallop, a ring revolver in each hand, with a yell that won the battle at the start. He lined the men up in a roadside ditch, cut the horses loose and rode off.
 Sheriff Watson of Monticello telegraphed to Narrowsburg, N. Y., calling upon Constable Dexter to apprehend a man on a white horse, and Dexter, who did not know that it was a cyclone he was seeking, rode out and met Taylor, sombrero, buckskin, lariat, guns and all.
 Then there was a new chapter in the history of a peace loving country. Dexter placed a hand on Buck's bridle rein. The cowboy shook it off, galloped around the astonished constable, and swung his lariat in a mighty circle until it shot out and settled in a narrowing loop about Dexter's waist. The constable was unhooked, and in a moment he danced to catching a ring revolver in each hand, with a yell that won the battle at the start. He lined the men up in a roadside ditch, cut the horses loose and rode off.

But the men made the mistake of leaving the cowboy's horse behind, and within an hour he was spurting after them. He came upon them at full gallop, a ring revolver in each hand, with a yell that won the battle at the start. He lined the men up in a roadside ditch, cut the horses loose and rode off.
 Sheriff Watson of Monticello telegraphed to Narrowsburg, N. Y., calling upon Constable Dexter to apprehend a man on a white horse, and Dexter, who did not know that it was a cyclone he was seeking, rode out and met Taylor, sombrero, buckskin, lariat, guns and all.
 Then there was a new chapter in the history of a peace loving country. Dexter placed a hand on Buck's bridle rein. The cowboy shook it off, galloped around the astonished constable, and swung his lariat in a mighty circle until it shot out and settled in a narrowing loop about Dexter's waist. The constable was unhooked, and in a moment he danced to catching a ring revolver in each hand, with a yell that won the battle at the start. He lined the men up in a roadside ditch, cut the horses loose and rode off.

But the men made the mistake of leaving the cowboy's horse behind, and within an hour he was spurting after them. He came upon them at full gallop, a ring revolver in each hand, with a yell that won the battle at the start. He lined the men up in a roadside ditch, cut the horses loose and rode off.
 Sheriff Watson of Monticello telegraphed to Narrowsburg, N. Y., calling upon Constable Dexter to apprehend a man on a white horse, and Dexter, who did not know that it was a cyclone he was seeking, rode out and met Taylor, sombrero, buckskin, lariat, guns and all.
 Then there was a new chapter in the history of a peace loving country. Dexter placed a hand on Buck's bridle rein. The cowboy shook it off, galloped around the astonished constable, and swung his lariat in a mighty circle until it shot out and settled in a narrowing loop about Dexter's waist. The constable was unhooked, and in a moment he danced to catching a ring revolver in each hand, with a yell that won the battle at the start. He lined the men up in a roadside ditch, cut the horses loose and rode off.

INTERNATIONAL ATHLETICS.

Press Comments on the Oxford-Cambridge Challenge to Yale and Harvard.

LONDON, June 7.—Great interest is taken here in the prospects of an international athletic contest between the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge and teams from American universities. The first news of the matter was published here today, though it had been sent by cable to papers in the United States yesterday morning.
 The St. James Gazette says: "It will do good to the universities of both countries and help to produce a friendly feeling on both sides of the Atlantic."
 The Pall Mall Gazette, in the course of a column editorial on the subject, remarks: "There will be additional interest in the meeting in view of the London Athletic club fixture, and we shall thus have international contests which should enable the athletes of both countries to take thorough stock of each other's capacities." After alluding to the benefit of such contests, the paper continues: "Every spectator of the contests between Oxford and Yale was struck by the manly spirit in which the Americans bore the heaviest of bare defeats. We are not ashamed to say that this association of youth with youth may help to shape the relationships of the two peoples."

Mrs. Roebbling Defeated.
 TRENTON, June 7.—The fight between Mrs. Washington Roebbling and the Trenton Passenger railway has been settled for good. Mrs. Roebbling fought the company for wanting to put up iron poles in front of her house. She guarded the houses all night and went to law. She was successful at first, but the decision of the supreme court is against her.

Recalcitrant Sugar Witness Case.
 WASHINGTON, June 7.—The application of E. R. Chapman, the broker who declined to answer the questions of the senate committee investigating the Sugar trust, for a writ prohibiting the district courts from trying him was taken up in the court of appeals today. The court reserved decision.

A Woman 102 Years Old.
 PAWTUCKET, R. I., June 7.—Mrs. Mary McCurtin, who resides in this city, is 102 years of age today. There was no celebration, however, as the old lady is extremely feeble, and it is not expected that she will live more than a week or two longer. She was born in Ireland and has lived in this city for 46 years.

A British Steamer Ashore.
 QUEENSTOWN, June 7.—The British steamer Davaur is ashore on Brigg's reef, this coast. Four hundred of her passengers have been landed by the boats of the coast guard. The steamer lies in an easy position and will probably be floated.

Oswego Man Insane in Belgium.
 ALBANY, June 7.—The governor is informed through the state department at Washington that on April 18 one Robert Webb of Oswego, N. Y., was admitted to the insane asylum at Uccle, Belgium.

DISTILLERIES AS ARSENALS.

Deputy Marshals on Guard in Anticipation of a Court Decision.
 CHICAGO, June 7.—A local paper says: Every distillery in the United States controlled by the Whisky trust has been turned into an arsenal. For nearly a month past United States deputy marshals have had their quarters in the distilleries. They are all heavily armed and prepared to resist any attack that may be made, or any attempt to take possession. It is not incendiaries or dynamites that the receivers fear. A decision is daily expected from the supreme court of the state which may have the effect of precipitating hostilities. These may take a civil form and add a new phase of litigation to the legal troubles of the trust. On the other hand they may be of a more forcible character.

The anxiously expected decision is in the case of the Distilling and Cattle Feeding company versus the people, ex rel. the attorney general. This is the case where Attorney General Maloney filed a writ of quo warranto declaring the company to be an illegal corporation, in effect a trust, and existing contrary to the antitrust laws of the state. He was sustained in the circuit court. The decision was appealed to the supreme court, and a decision, it is expected, will be handed down within a few days. The effect of a decision sustaining the action of the attorney general and the decision of the lower court would, it is claimed, be much more far-reaching than to simply cause a disintegration of the trust. If the contention of some of the antitrust attorneys be correct, it will have the effect of restoring to the original owners of the distilleries all right and title to the various plants on the ground that all sales to the trust were void, and that all any and all contracts made with the trust were in violation of the antitrust statutes and therefore void.
 While so far as can be learned there has been no concerted movement on the part of the original owners to take forcible possession of the properties in case the decision is favorable to the attorney general there have been enough individual moves in this direction to alarm the receivers—and hence the heavily armed guard of United States deputy marshals in the distilleries.

Three Men Hanged.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—Three murderers were hanged at San Quentin today. Five men were to have been executed, but Governor Budd granted respite in the case of Fremont Smith and Rico Morasco. The three men who suffered the death penalty today were Patrick Collins, Amillo Garcia and Anthony Azoff.

Death of Susie Anthony Combs.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Miss Susie Anthony Combs, daughter of the late General Combs, editor of the Ohio State Journal and minister of the United States to Hawaii, died in this city of appendicitis. The interment will be at Columbus, O.

Irregularities Denied.

NEW HAVEN, June 7.—Ex-Comptroller Staub denies the charges of irregularities in his accounts as comptroller, which the lower house of the legislature voted to investigate. It is probable that the irregularities, if any, are clerical.

Incendiary Fire in Geneva, N. Y.

GENEVA, N. Y., June 7.—An extensive incendiary fire occurred today, consuming several buildings in and about the lumber yards of the Geneva Bonding works.

Suicide of a Nonagenarian.

NASHUA, N. H., June 7.—Mrs. Hannah E. Dutter, aged 92 years, hanged herself at her home in Wilton. The reason for the suicide is not known.

Ten-cent box Magic Paste Stove Polish for 5 cents. Ask your grocer. Pictures free.

The Famous
INTERNATIONAL REMEDY for RHEUMATISM,
 NEURALGIA and similar Complaints,
 manufactured under the strictest
GERMAN MEDICAL LAWS, prescribed by eminent physicians.
DR. RICHTER'S
"ANCHOR"
PAIN EXPELLER.
 Only genuine with Trade Mark "Anchor."
 Manufacturers: J. J. Richter, Richter & Co.,
 F. Ad. Richter & Co., 17 Warren St., NEW YORK.
—29 HIGHEST AWARDS—
 12 Branch Houses, Over 600,000 Sold.
 At 30c. per 1/2 oz. in Shanghai for sale by
 P. P. H. Kavin, 68, Main St., J. M.
 Hillman, 75, Main St., C. F. H.
 Henschel, N. Y. Cor. Main &
 a Star Dispensary in the U. S.

EVAN J. DAVIES,

LIVERY AND Undertaking!

13 North Jardin Street.

When it comes to GROCERIES,

Our stock speaks for itself. If you don't come to town, send your orders. They will be nicely filled.
-MUSSEY & BEDDALL-
 29 E. Centre Street, Shenandoah.

A CLEAN, QUICK SHAVE

Can always be had at
Charles Derr's Barber Shop,
 First-class hair cutting and singeing.
 Five-story House Building.

USE OF ALUMINIUM.

The Value of the Metal and the Varied Purposes to Which It is Put.

There has been so much said and written about aluminium recently that one would think the subject well nigh exhausted, yet perhaps, from a manufacturing standpoint, no metal just now deserves more notice than it, especially when we take into account the fact that it ranks first among metals in quantity and extent of distribution, one-twelfth of the earth's crust being composed thereof. It is tenacious, malleable, ductile and does not readily oxidize. It is certainly worthy of attention when we take into consideration the diverse uses to which it can be manufactured. Like iron, it can be made into many useful cooking utensils, such as coffee-pots, sauce-pans, dishes and a number of others of a similar nature. Things of this character made from aluminium have many advantages, some of which are that the metal is entirely free from poison. The food cooks quickly without burning, and the utensils are very light, aluminium being nearly three times lighter than iron and 3 1/2 times lighter than copper. There are a few things that attack it, but which are not met with in cooking. Caustic alkalis consume aluminium rapidly, muriatic acid slowly and nitric acid only at a high temperature. The hardware merchant not only keeps the above ware, but can sell you hinges, bells, keys, locks, bolts and many things in the electrical line.

Then, again, like gold and silver, it is worked into many things that are ornamental, for at any jeweler's can be seen napkin rings, watch chains, matchboxes, stationery, hairpins, toothpicks, lockets with stones set in them and a hundred and one other trinkets too numerous to mention. The optician uses it in many ways, especially in the making of opera glasses, and even the painter has a powder which, when mixed, gives a silvery lustre.

Owing to its lightness, the dentist uses it to take the place of gold in making the plates for artificial teeth and in the capping of teeth. One of the finest alloys is aluminium bronze, which has the color of gold and is capable of taking a high polish. It has the tenacity of steel, and from it very fine castings can be made, and it is composed of 90 per cent copper and 10 per cent aluminium. Many military accoutrements are made from it, owing to lightness and strength. So it can be readily seen that, while at the present time aluminium is used by such businesses as are not closely connected, yet as its production is gradually being diminished in the way of cost so its benefits are being just so gradually recognized by others who but a short time before could see no good in aluminium from a commercial basis.—Hardware.

New York Outfits.

The down town business men, and especially those of them whose offices are in the neighborhood of Wall street, do not consider it as a very great disaster to be caught in a shower without an umbrella, on account of their knowledge of the covered and unofficial short cuts which abound in that quarter.

"Suppose," said a broker on the Sixth avenue elevated, "that I find it raining when I get down town, and that I have not an umbrella, what do I do? I get off the train at Rector street station, go through the Arcade building to Broadway, skip across Broadway to the Union Trust building, go through that to Exchange place, pass through the Stock Exchange, run down the steps to Broad street, jump across Broad street to the Mills building, go through the Mills building to Wall street and dart across Wall street to the Manhattan Bank building, and there I am in my office with scarcely a noticeable dampness about the shoulders for my trip."

"Yes," said a Cedar street merchant who was sitting by, "and I can take a still longer trip than yours without the shelter of an umbrella and without getting wet. I go the same way that you do as far as the exchange, then I leave by the Wall street door, cross Wall street, go through the Sobermorn building to Pine street, cross Pine to the Equitable building and go through that to Cedar street right by my office. Talk about the London out-fits. Why, they are not in it with those of New York."—New York Sun.

WRECK OF THE COLIMA.

A San Francisco Newspaper Denounces the Conduct of the Captain.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—The Call, in its account of the wreck of the Colima as told by the survivors of the wrecked vessel, says:
 The ship was overloaded, badly loaded, top-heavy loaded—all agree to it. When the gale struck her, she weathered it, but badly. Then she careened. There was a lurch to starboard, and she did not right again. Men called out to the captain to cut away the deck loading of heavy spars. The captain was obstinate. He knew his business, or fancied that he did, and would brook no suggestion from what he called the terrified and panic-stricken passengers. And they probably were all that he called them, for they could see death staring them in the face, while the captain remained blind. The ship listed more and more. With apprehension everybody waited, held their breath till she should bear up and right again, but she did not right. She listed still more. Then she lost her steering powers. The captain rang for more steam—and would not cut loose the deckload that might have saved her. Steam could not save her. The engines were taxed to their utmost, still the vessel listed. The panic on board grew worse, the fear of death more intense. Then the captain gave orders for the crew to keep the passengers within bounds. Whether these orders went so far as to withhold life preservers from the passengers and permit those who sought to do so to come on deck, where they might have a chance of battling with the waves, is not known at this time. Perhaps some further investigation will shed some light on this point.
 At all events the effect of these orders was to turn the crew into subalterns, tyrants, who acted as though they sought to prevent any one from escaping the doom that remained before them. Steerage and cabin passengers as they sought to obtain life preservers and were forcibly restrained from doing so. Down in the steerage a guard was posted at the companionway door, and those who escaped to the deck in time to cast themselves into the sea before the vessel went down did so only by main force by kicking and fighting the guard.
 Those who were saved are of those who were wiser than the captain, who could see their peril more clearly and had wit enough to throw themselves into the foaming sea before the Colima gave her last list to the starboard. As she did this the captain's whistle sounded to cut loose the deck load of spars.

May Import Prison Made Dolls.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Consul Stephan at Annaberg, Germany, writes that it is reported that the manufacture of dolls has been introduced in the prison at Untermausfeld and is being worked by J. G. Reichsbach of Grimmenthal. The consul says a great many are sent to this country. The prison made dolls, the consul thinks, could be imported so cheaply that an attempt will be made to send them here. Mr. Stephan suggests that methods be taken to prevent such importations.

Revising the Manual of Arms.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—General Ruger since his arrival in Washington has been devoting his entire time to work on the regulations and the manual of arms, making the movements suitable for the new gun which has been adopted for the use of the army. It has been found that the important changes made in the regulations necessitate generally a revision of the phraseology of the entire tactics.

The Situation at Jiddah.

JIDDAH, June 7.—The situation here is considered a very grave one for the Europeans who have not been able to take refuge on board the foreign vessels in the harbor. There are very few Turkish troops in garrison here, and the townspeople generally are pleased at the Bedouin attack on the foreign consuls and at their wrecking of the cholera hospital.

Big Water Company Incorporated.

ALBANY, June 7.—There was filed with the secretary of state today a notice of the incorporation of the New York Suburban Water company, with a capital of $1,000,000. The company states that it has acquired the property of the New York City Suburban Water company, together with all its privileges and franchises, and all its machinery and reservoirs.

Civil Service Commission Busy.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The examiners of the civil service commission are very busy just now. There are about 2,000 sets of examination papers of all kinds in the office to be marked, while from 3,000 to 4,000 more are expected in a few days from the examination held for clerks and carriers all over the country.

Governor Morton Pardons Innocent Men.

ALBANY, June 7.—Governor Morton today pardoned Patrick Shannon and John Henry, who were sentenced in August, 1894, to imprisonment for one year in the New York penitentiary for the crime of entering a building with intent to steal. The real culprits have since been arrested, and one has confessed.

The Black Forest Cloudburst.

STUTTGART, June 7.—It is officially announced that the fatalities which resulted from the cloudburst over the Black Forest amount to 90 lives lost at Ballingen. In that district alone 30 houses were demolished by the rise of the waters of the River Erach and many other buildings were damaged.

Alleged Forger Whittman in Jail.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—Alonzo W. Whittman, who was brought here from New York several weeks ago to answer to the charge of forgery, is at present in the county jail here awaiting trial. He will appear in court and the date for his trial will be set.

Billy Flynn Agat's Arraigned.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Billy Flynn, arrested for burglary and whom the police hoped would throw some light upon the murder of Ferdinand Harris, was arraigned again in the Yorkville police court on three complaints of burglary. He was remanded.

Spain United Against Cuba.

MADRID, June 7.—The leaders of the opposition in the senate have intimated that they will not oppose the credit asked by the government for the expedition in Cuba.

Caving In of a Mine.

BISMARCK, Mo., June 7.—The top of the Doe Run lead mine, at Flat River, has caved in, killing three men and badly injuring a fourth. The dead are Robert Penherty, Robert Labuyure, John DeCorus.

Lieutenant Galt's Wife Dead.

ANNAPOLIS, June 7.—The wife of Lieutenant Roger W. Galt, U. S. N., who was a Miss Ash of California, died today of pneumonia.

BUSINESS TIDE RISING

The Trade Outlook Continues Its Very Rapid Improvement.

GREAT DEMAND FOR MONEY.

The Ups and Downs of Wheat Prices—The Cotton Mills Are Doing Well, With Satisfactory Orders Ahead—The Failures of the Week.

New York, June 7.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: The tide of business is rising, even as it was falling just two years ago, with surprising rapidity. The gains have gone so far and so fast in some branches that the more conservative fear it may not be maintained. But the period of dullness which comes in each market after an unusual rise brings as yet nothing like a corresponding decline. Industries gain much, halt or fall back a little and then gain once more. The demand for consumption steadily increases as the employment and wages of the people increase. Demand for money expands, one bank reporting 20 per cent larger discounts for the country and another 25 per cent more commercial loans than a year ago, and all but two report some gain. One serious question remains, whether the crops will be full enough to sustain a large business. But the worst reports today are better by far than the estimates recently current.
 Wheat rose 2 cents, fell back 2 with realizing, and has again risen 3, with western estimates of a crop 80,000,000 bushels smaller than last year. It is pertinent to remember that official and most unofficial reports down to a late period last fall put the yield about 80,000,000 bushels lower than it is now known to have been. There is neither holding back by farmers nor anxious haste in purchasing by foreigners, to support belief in scarcity. Corn closes 1 cent higher, and pork has risen 25 cents per barrel, though lard has fallen 20 cents per 100 pounds.
 Cotton declined an eighth with better weather at the south, but excitement and prices rose again with the report of only 11.6 per cent decrease in acreage. Much greater decrease had been called certain condition is reported less favorable than last year. With a tenth smaller yield per acre and acreage 11.6 per cent less than last year, the yield would still exceed 7,700,000 bales, which, with heavy stocks carried over, would forbid the idea of famine. But a late crop is the more exposed to injury. June began with 9,564,393 bales already in sight, and 3,302,350 American remaining in commercial stocks, while European spinners held May 1, 1,000,000 bales, according to Ellison.

Cotton and Kait Goods.
 Cotton mills are doing well, with very satisfactory orders already for prominent lines, and the market is strong, with occasional further advances. In knit goods there is also some improvement, and higher prices for yarn, though there has been out in some kinds of hosiery. The effort to end the Oliveville strike was not wholly successful, and in a few other woolen mills strikes have occurred, but the demand for goods looks better, and a fair start has been made in reorders for fall goods.
 Lard pushes upward like the great buildings into which so much of it goes, and the advance in finished products has become general. Of structural steel 12,000 tons were turned out