

WORK OF FRIENDS.

A Dark Luzerne County Mystery Probably Solved.

WILKES-BARRE, June 11.—One of the most important arrests in the history of Luzerne county was made at an early hour this morning by Detective James O'Brien, of the Lehigh Valley Railroad. The prisoners taken into custody and sent to jail are Frank Shaffer, George Jordan, James Miller, Sarah Miller, and Hester Bress, all negroes.

They are accused of one of the most fiendish crimes committed in this county, the wrecking of the Hangman's shanty on the 23rd of October, 1894, on the mountain cut-off a few miles from here. It will be remembered that sticks of dynamite were used, wires were run into the woods and attached to a battery, and when the key was touched an explosion followed, sending a boarding-house with all its inmates into the air.

Four were killed at the time and eight seriously injured. They were all Hungarians. Shaffer, one of the prisoners arrested, made a clean breast of the whole affair and implicated all the others as being accomplices. He says that the fiendish act was done for the purpose of robbery.

Our better halves say they could not keep home without Chamberlain's cough remedy. It is used by more than half the homes in Leeds, Sims Bros., Leeds, Iowa. This shows the esteem in which that remedy held where it has been sold for years and well known. Mothers have learned that there is nothing so good for colds, croup and whooping cough, that it cures the ailments quickly and permanently, and that it is pleasant and safe for children to take. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Grolier Bros., druggists.

An unknown man who was stealing a ride was killed.

Those who never read the advertisements in their newspapers miss more than they presume. Jonathan Kenison, of Bolin, Worth county, Iowa, who had been troubled with rheumatism in his back, arms and shoulders, read an item in his paper about how a prominent citizen of Ft. Madison had been cured. He procured the same medicine and to use his own words: "It cured me right up." He also says: "A neighbor and his wife were both sick in bed with rheumatism. Their boy was over to my house and said they were bad but had to do the cooking. I told them of Chamberlain's pain balm and how it had cured me. He got a bottle and it cured them up in a week. 50 cent bottles for sale by Grolier Bros., druggists.

DEBS' DISAPPEARANCE.

The A. R. U. Strike Leader Fails to Show Up

TO SERVE HIS TERM IN PRISON.

He Had Been Released on Parole, and Failed to Show Up to be Taken to Woodstock Jail at the Time Agreed Upon.

CHICAGO, June 12.—Five of the officers of the American Railway union returned to the Woodstock jail last evening. President Eugene V. Debs failed to report on time for the train. He called on the marshal at noon and was requested to report at 4 o'clock at the marshal's office, with the others, or at the Northwestern station at 5 o'clock. Messrs. Rogers, Kellher, Burns, Hogan and Goodwin saw their chief but an instant at noon, and they could not account for his failure to report. Debs told the marshal that he had business to contract, but that he would be through in time to take the train.

Deputies Logan and Curran boarded the train with the five men who had reported, and Deputy Clark returned to the marshal's office with the Debs commitment papers. The marshal was vexed at the failure of Debs to report on time, and he sent three men to look for him. "I don't think he has purposely missed his train," said the marshal, "yet his failure to report on time is annoying. It places Mr. Debs in a bad light. I paroled him until 3 o'clock, and he should have been here."

The marshal does not believe that Debs may have run away. "He has all to lose and nothing to gain by such a move," he said. "He would be a fugitive from justice and would not dare to return to the United States. He feels that in going to jail he strengthens himself among his sympathizers. His bondsmen are no longer liable for his return, as he surrendered himself to me at noon, and that act released him of his bonds."

"While the absence of Debs does not alarm me, I confess that I am considerably chagrined over it. Had he sent me word that he could not finish his business during the afternoon I would have unhesitatingly given him his freedom a day longer."

Martin J. Elliott, the seventh prisoner, wired that he was on his way to Chicago from Harrisburg, Pa., and would be in some time during the night. When the party was first sent to jail Elliott was two days behind in reaching Chicago from the east.

Owing to Debs' failure to report George W. Howard secured another day's respite. Howard, who has quarreled with his former associates and established a rival organization, desired to serve his sentence separate from the others, and the desire was mutual. Yesterday Judge Woods wired Judge Showalter to transfer Howard from the Woodstock jail to the Will county jail, at Joliet.

Marshal Arnold intended taking Howard there on the 6 o'clock train last night, but Debs' absence gave Howard another night with his family. The commitment papers were made out for six months in Debs' case and three months in each of the others, less seventeen days served, from Jan. 8 to Jan. 24, in the Woodstock jail. The commitment was made on the interstate-commerce contempt case. The men are so confident that Judge Woods will rescind the Santa Fe sentence to be concerned that they give themselves no concern on the probability of having to serve double time.

Fasted Forty-eight Days.

READING, Pa., June 12.—Mrs. Lena Bridenbaugh, who had not partaken of any food or nourishment for forty-eight days, died Monday night at the residence of her son-in-law, John Mitchell, at Gibraltar. Mrs. Bridenbaugh wasted away from a strong, healthy woman of 169 pounds to a mere skeleton of thirty-five pounds. Her case was a very puzzling one to the medical profession. It is believed that she refused when it was offered to her.

Application will be made to the chancellor next Tuesday for a writ of error to carry Lambert's case to the court of errors and appeals. Andrews' execution will probably take place tomorrow.

Cheering Crop Prospects.

ST. LOUIS, June 12.—Reports indicate that the wheat harvest has about commenced in southeast Missouri and southern Illinois, and is in full blast all over this section of the country. The rain of ten days ago seems to have been wheat's salvation, and there can be no doubt that more than an average crop will be threshed. Corn and oats are also looking fine and pasturage was never better.

An Odd Collection.

A man in Colorado has a quaint collection of bottles. It is divided into two sections. Section one is large. Section two is not. Section one contains hundreds of bottles, the contents of which his wife swallowed hoping to find relief from her physical sufferings. Section two contains a few bottles that once were filled with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It was this present remedy that gave the suffering wife to health again. It cures all irregularities, internal inflammation and ulceration displacements and kindred troubles. I have done more to relieve the sufferings of women than any other medicine known to science.

CHILDREN'S IDEAS OF DEATH.

The Ingenuity of Some of Our Youngsters to Avoid the Inevitable.

Like the beginning of life, its termination, death, is one of the recurring puzzles of childhood, writes Professor Cully in The Popular Science Monthly. This might be illustrated from almost any autobiographical reminiscences of childhood. Here indeed the mystery is made the more impressive and recurrent to consciousness by the element of dread. A little girl of 3½ years asked her mother to put a great stone on her head, because she did not want to die. She was asked how a stone would prevent it and answered, with perfect childish logic, "Because I shall not grow tall if you put a great stone on my head, and people who grow tall get old and die."

Death seems to be thought of by the unsophisticated child as the body reduced to a motionless state, devoid of breath and unable any longer to feel or think. This is the idea suggested by the sight of dead animals, which but few children, however closely shielded, can escape.

The first way of envisaging death seems to be as a temporary state like sleep, which it so closely resembles. A little boy of 2½ years, on hearing from his mother of the death of a lady friend, at once asked, "Will Mrs. P. still be dead when we go back to London?"

The knowledge of burial leads the child to think much of the grave. The instinctive tendency to carry on the idea of life and sentiment with the buried body is illustrated in C—'s fear that the earth should be put over his eyes. The following observation from the Worcester collection illustrates the same tendency: "A few days ago H—, aged 4 years and 4 months, came to me and said, 'Did you know they'd taken Deacon W— to Graton?' I 'Yes.' H—: 'Well, I s'pose it's the best thing. His folks (meaning his children) are buried there, and they would here's know he was dead if he was buried here.'"

This reversion to savage notions of the dead in speaking of a Christian deacon has its humorous aspect. It is strange to notice here the pertinacity of the natural impulse. All thoughts of heaven were forgotten in the absorbing interest in the fate of the body.

MR. OLNEY'S SUCCESSOR.

Attorney General Harmon Enters Upon the Duties of His Office.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—All the members of the cabinet, with the exception of Secretary Herbert and Postmaster General Wilson, were present at the meeting yesterday. Attorney General Harmon, accompanied by his predecessor, now Secretary of State Olney, was among the first to arrive at the White House. The two gentlemen walked over from the state department, where Mr. Harmon had been sworn in. The president presented the new attorney general to the other members of the cabinet as they entered.

Attorney General Harmon.

Mr. Olney had little business to consider from the state department, and, of course, Mr. Harmon had no business from the department of justice to bring before the cabinet.

After the adjournment of the cabinet Secretary Olney and the new attorney general lunched together, and later went to the department of justice, where the solicitor general and other prominent officials were presented to their new chief. Mr. Harmon will return to Cincinnati in a few days to close up some business matters. This will occupy him about two weeks, when he will return here to remain during the summer, with short visits to his home. His family will remain in Cincinnati for the present, and will not take up their permanent residence here until autumn.

The Marine Band in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—The fifth annual convention of the National League of Press Clubs is delegating its work largely to committees, who presented their reports at this forenoon's session. Meantime the delegates and visiting friends are being royally entertained by the Pen and Pencil club. At the Mercantile club reception yesterday afternoon and at the "Night in Bohemia" at the Pen and Pencil club house music was furnished by the famous Marine band, under the direction of Signor Fancello. The band was conveyed in a special train from Washington by special permission of President Cleveland and Secretary Herbert. This is the first affair not of a national character in which it has been permitted to participate since its organization.

After the Filibusters.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Acting Secretary McAdoo, of the navy department, said that the instructions sent to the commander of the cruiser Raleigh for his guidance when on patrol duty off the Florida coast provided for a full and strict enforcement of the neutrality laws. She will make a thorough patrol of the coast line, and to make it more difficult for a filibustering party to get away the cruiser's steam launches and small boats will be manned whenever it is necessary to look into narrow inlets and passes for light draft schooners and yachts, which are the favorite means of transportation of the filibusters.

The Interstate Bridge Approved.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Secretary LaSalle approved the general plans for a suspension bridge over the Hudson river at New York, submitted by the New York and New Jersey Bridge Company of New York and New Jersey. The plans approved call for a six track suspension bridge with span from pier head to pier head.

Kentucky Terrorists Shoot to Kill.

SEBASTIAN, Ky., June 11.—News comes here from Beaver, Floyd county, that John Amburgy and a man named Martin engaged in a battle at the home of Amburgy, near Beaver, which resulted in the death of Martin and the probable fatal wounding of Amburgy. The men had long been enemies for some time. Martin went to Amburgy's house with a revolver in his hand and ordered him out, but instead Amburgy opened fire and the duel followed.

Coney Island Club Refused a License.

BROOKLYN, June 12.—On the report of Police Captain Clayton Mayor Schieren refused a license for the Seaside Athletic club at Coney Island. Captain Clayton's report says that disreputable characters come from all parts of the country and give the most brutal exhibitions there. The same decision was rendered by the mayor last year, but a mandamus was issued by Judge Gaynor, of the supreme court, compelling him to issue it.

To Create Four New Cardinals.

ROME, June 12.—It is announced here that the papal nuncios at Paris, Lisbon, Madrid and Vienna will be created cardinals. The news arouses much interest in Vatican circles, because it will disturb the equilibrium of the preponderance of Italian cardinals in the Sacred college. More important, however, is the growing possibility of a non-Italian pope. For cogent reasons the pope could only be an American, a Swiss or a Belgian.

"Uncle George's" Long Drive.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., June 12.—Hon. George V. Lawrence, the oldest member of the legislature, drove from Carlisle to this city yesterday, over the route taken by him when he rode horseback to the legislature fifty-one years ago.
