AN EXCITING RUNAWAY

H. W. Titman and Robert Dengler Thrown From a Carriage
NEITHER SERIOUSLY HURT.
The Carriage Was Made a Wreck and the Horses Barely Escaped Tumbling Into a Deep Mine Breech.

A thrilling runaway took place yesterday afternoon and H. W. Titman, of the City Supply Company, and Robert Dengler, an employe of the Grand Union Tea Company, had very narrow escapes from fatal injuries. They were driving a team of frisky horses in which Mr. Titman takes great pride. When near the entrance to one of the cemeteries on Locust Mountain one of the horses got the bit between its teeth and made a dash. Messrs. Titman and Dengler were thrown from the carriage by the sudden burst of speed, but fortunately neither was seriously hurt. Mr. Titman's escape is looked upon as bordering on the miraculous, as his physical proportions are not such as to permit much agility. He seemed to have landed on the right spot, however, and was all right after he recovered from the shock.

The horses continued on a mad run down the mountain road, having a clear track. When about half way down the carriage caught in a stump at the side of the road and the speed of the team was momentarily checked. The horses plunged two or three times and broke away from the carriage, dragging only the swingletrees after them. A young man stood in the bend of the road at the foot of the mountain and when they neared him the horses turned suddenly to the green north of the Baird property and barely escaped plunging into an immense mine breach. They were stopped when but five feet from the brink. The horses lost two shoes in their flight and a hoof of one of them was badly cut. The horses were by no means jaded by their dash and it was with difficulty that they were prevented from running away a second time. They were placed in their stalls and several boys hauled the wrecked carriage down to the stable. Messrs. Titman and Dengler were able to walk to their homes.

Statement by Taggart.
ED. HERALD: In regards to the statements made by Mr. Bender in Thursday's paper, I wish to make a statement in justice to myself and others. I was on the street near Bender's place at about ten minutes before the first light and Mr. Bender came out and told me to go home, that no one was going to harm me. I then walked up towards my house. Between 12 and 1 o'clock Bender came out of his back door, followed by a gang of men, and started up the road towards William Richards' house. When opposite the house he turned to his followers and shouted, "Come on, boys, come on this way; we will sweep the d--n patch," and then he fired a shot. He walked about thirty yards and fired another shot. When he returned he fired two shots in the direction of my house before he went into his own house.

THE NEWS GLEANINGS.

Shell Game Men Fool People at Lost Creek

FOLLOWED BY A FREE FIGHT

The Gamblers Flee to This Place, But Are Caught and Put Under Bail for Their Appearance at Court.

Shell-game men caused a small sized riot at Lost Creek on Saturday. Having heard that a picnic was to be held at that place two men named Keiser and Donovan hurried to the place and pitched their shell game stands in a place calculated to catch the run of suckers on their way to the picnic grounds. The management of the picnic warned the men away and disclaimed any connection with them. The net was well spread and the victims became numerous. The Polish and Lithuanian people bit hard on the bait and their money went fast. Three Poles formed a combination to test the game, but gave up the task after dropping $25 and went away disgusted. Later on one of them returned and made a demand upon Keiser for the money he lost. The request was not complied with and a free fight ensued, in which several men, including the shell game workers, fared badly. Keiser and Donovan were subsequently arrested in "the shaft" in this town.

Shenandoah and vicinity has become a rendezvous for shell game and flim-flam men and the authorities should lose no opportunity to root them out.

Keiser and Donovan waived a hearing before Justice Toomey on charges of gambling and carrying concealed deadly weapons and were put under $600 bail for trial at court.

They Didn't Drink.
William Morrissy, of East Centre street, and a negro bootblack named George Smith, this morning went into the saloon of John Ciszek, at the corner of Main and Oak streets, and demanded a drink free of charge. They were ejected and threatened to smash the windows with stones, but were arrested and placed in the lockup before they could do any damage. Both are now serving five days. The bootblack is a recent arrival from Philadelphia.

DIED IN A PEW.

Mrs. John Becker, of Palo Alto, suddenly Expires in Church.

During the reading of Second Mass in St. John's Church at Pottsville yesterday, Mrs. John F. Becker, of Palo Alto, dropped over dead in her pew. Her husband noticed her hands working convulsively and just as he turned to see what was the matter she fell towards him. He held her in his arms a moment and then with the assistance of several men carried her to the Sunday School room. She was dead before they got there. Dr. O'Hara was sent for, but his services were not needed. Father Longinus was reading Mass and Father Myer hastened to the woman's side to give her spiritual comfort.

When Mrs. Becker fell into the arms of her husband nobody thought that she had died, and all concluded that she had fainted. There was, therefore, no excitement, and it was only after Mass was over, that the congregation learned that one of the most devout members of the church had breathed her last in the house of God.

At the inquest the husband's testimony showed that Mrs. Becker had suffered a paralytic stroke six weeks ago, and had not fully recovered, being very nervous most of the time. She visited the church last Wednesday for the first time, and although she still suffered from the stroke, she went to Sabbath services in a carriage accompanied by her husband.

Dr. O'Hara testified that death was caused by apoplexy and the jury rendered a verdict in accordance with the doctor's statement and evidence of the husband.

Sneak Thieves About.
A sneak thief entered the home of P. E. D. Kirlin, on East Oak street, Saturday and stole $2 from the servant girl's pocketbook. The girl had returned from shopping and left her pocketbook on a table while she went upstairs. She was gone but a moment when she heard the screen door down stairs open and shut. Upon returning she found her pocketbook had been rifled.
