THE SUITS MULTIPLYING

Mrs. Yodkois Getting Into a Heap of Trouble.

UNDER BAIL IN TWO CASES

She is Charged With Selling Liquor on Sunday and Also With Renting a House for Immoral Purposes.

The recent police raid on the house of Mrs. Lizette Yodkois promises to bring about a multiplicity of suits almost equaling in number the suits that followed the Wm. Penn riot. Three women and two men arrested in the raid are now in jail awaiting trial on several charges, and another woman is out on bail. Policeman Walatis and Constable Giblin on Wednesday furnished bail for trial on two charges brought against each of them for forcible entry and house-breaking on complaint of Mrs. Yodkois.

Last night another suit was added to the list. Mrs. Yodkois was before Justice Dangler, charged by Emma Hose with selling liquor on Sunday. Mrs. Yodkois entered $500 bail. The Hose woman was the manager of that part of Mrs. Yodkois' property which the police pulled and a disagreement is said to have grown between the two women on the payment of rent. The police say the upshot of the matter will be that the house will be permanently closed until it is occupied by respectable tenants and the license of the saloon will be broken.

At the time the raid was made Mrs. Yodkois made a bitter protest, claiming that only respectable people occupied the house. At the same time she claimed to have been robbed of two thousand dollars, but has said nothing of the loss since.

This morning Mrs. Yodkois was arrested by Constable Giblin on a warrant sworn out by Chief of Police Tosh, charging her with renting a house for immoral purposes. Mrs. Yodkois appeared before Justice Dangler and entered $300 bail for her appearance at court.

Formerly of Mahanoy City. Joseph Connor, who died at a Philadelphia hospital on Wednesday from pistol shot wounds inflicted by his own hand after shooting his sweetheart, Kate Connelly, in a fit of jealousy, was formerly a resident of Mahanoy City. On the night of the tragedy Connor and the girl were together all the evening, and he induced her to go to his home. About 5 o'clock in the morning they quarreled and Connor grabbed a revolver and fired at her, the ball striking her in the left temple. He then shot himself in the head. The girl will live.

THE NEWS GLEANINGS.

What Newsmen See and Hear on Their Rounds.

TROLLEY CRAZE CONTINUES

A Large Party From Ashland Made a Trip Over the Traction Line to Town Last Night—A Drummer's Flight.

Trolley parties have become the rage in this section of the region and almost every night one or more cars pass over either the Schuylkill Traction or the Lakeside railway loaded with a merry crowd of young people. Basket picnics and similar pastimes seem to be ignored and all attention seems to be directed to the more modern source of pleasure, "doing the trolley."

Last night the deserted streets of town were suddenly enlivened by the arrival of one of the Traction Company's summer cars, which was filled with a jolly crowd of young people from Ashland and other points west and handsomely decorated with red, white and blue bunting. The motor man stood at his post with a sweep of bunting across his breast and a smile on his countenance that seemed to convey to the spectators on the sidewalks the expression, "We're right in it."

Long tin horns and cow bells were manipulated by the trollees with a vigor that made the arrival of the car distinctly heard for many squares and no room was left for doubt that the excursionists were squeezing all the fun they could out of the trip. The young ladies displayed ribbons of blue and red on their dresses and the young men carried ribbons of similar color on their golf caps and in the laps of their coats. The colors worn were those of the Henrietta Club of Ashland, an organization that is becoming quite prominent in the society circles of this county. The car stopped at the corner of Main and Cherry streets, where the trollees alighted and commenced to "do the town."

Some scattered and went visiting friends, but the most of them traveled in groups and walked up and down Main street, occasionally giving blasts from long tin horns they carried.

One tall, thin young man wearing a light colored suit, a new pair of russet shoes and with a golf hat decorated with red and blue ribbon poised on the back of his head got astray from the main body and attracted the attention of a party of small boys on a side street. The appearance of the young man was too much for the boys, who knew nothing of the excursion, and they were soon in his wake. They ran after him for quite a distance and as they passed a man asked, "What is the matter, boys?"

One of them shouted back, "Don't yer see the crazy man?" and hurried on to keep up with his companions. A report soon spread that an insane man was roaming the streets and, of course, the crowd in pursuit swelled until the young man found the main body of trollees again and sought rest and relief from "the madened crowd."

Among the ladies and gentlemen who formed the party were Misses Mame and Anna Graeber, Stief, Magdeburg, Rentz, Deuce, Engel, Wallauer, Groff, Garner, Salome and Laura Goetz, Maul and Lou Faust, Krapp, Annie and Mattie Livers, Landefeld, Samuels, Lothe and Ida Heinze, Vollmer, Bender, Constien, Miss Moyer, of Freeburg; Miss Ruth, of Reading; Mrs. Law, of Philadelphia; Gertrude and Violet May, of Shamokin; Misses Mame Lyons and Dolly Wythe, of Mahanoy City; and Messrs. Smith, Wallauer, Barron, Granzow, Hornig, Mayer, Dresler, Brucks, Reick and William and Nicholas Graeber.

OUR VIEWS ON THE TWO

POLITICAL QUESTIONS OF THE DAY.

On the Silver Question

You bring us the silver, and we will give you the best value for it in groceries than any other store in town.

On the tariff, Tariff "for revenue only." That is, we put on just enough tariff to produce sufficient revenue to pay us for fourteen hours work every day.
