The Heavy End of a Match.
"Mary," said Farmer Flint at the breakfast table as he sipped at a second cup of coffee, "I've made a discovery."

"Well, Cyrus, you're about the last one I'd expect of such a thing, but what is it?"
"I have found that the heavy end of a match is its light end," responded Cyrus with a grin that would have adorned a child.

"DANNY" COXE DEAD.
Untimely End of One of Luzerne County's Brightest Young Men.
Special to EVENING HERALD.
HAZLETON, Sept. 7.—This place was thrown into a state of excitement shortly after 8 o'clock last evening over the startling announcement that Daniel H. Coxe, of Drifton, had died a short time before. Telegram and telephone were in demand for a time, and brought back the sad message that it was only too true. The injuries that brought his death were sustained at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, while he was engaged in testing the new road with his miniature engine, No. 4, built during his boyhood days. Everything went well until he reached the public road crossing near the Drifton shops. Here the engine jumped the track, throwing Mr. Coxe into the ditch. In falling his neck struck a stone injuring the spinal cord, which later brought on paralysis, from which he died.

Deceased, although only a young man, was very popular. For the past three years he has occupied the responsible position of Superintendent of the D. S. & S., and since the death of his uncle, Hon. E. B. Coxe, has had entire charge of the D. S. & S., a position which he not only filled with credit to himself, but to the entire satisfaction of the company as well. After the death of his uncle, Hon. E. B. Coxe, he became interested in politics and during the late new county fight and the Quay-Hastings fight he became very prominent on account of the stand he took. He succeeded in carrying the district for Hastings, and was chosen a member of the State Republican Committee at the late convention. He was appointed by the Governor to fill the vacancy created by the death of his uncle, on the board of hospital trustees, Hazleton.

WOMEN MUST SLEEP.
Value of Paine's Celery Compound to the Sick and Nervous.

The burdens of life are not equally borne by men and women. Women too often suffer from some weakness that was never intended for them by nature. When trouble or hard work or excitement have rendered the nervous system so morbidly wide-awake that sleep is denied, the over-tired brain must be helped to get quickly back to its healthy normal condition or serious mischief ensues. Paine's celery compound accomplishes this as nothing else has ever done. It at once begins to regulate and equalize the over-worked nerves and to restore to them their lost tone. It brings to the disabled, debilitated nervous tissues the peculiar nerve food which they must have to build up their parts.
