GOLD MOVEMENT CRISIS!

A Heavy Withdrawal Causes a Stir in Wall Street.

SYNDICATE REPORTED DISSOLVED

The Prompt Action of the Banks Believed the Anxiety That Permeated the Exchange—The Slump in Cotton and Grain Responsible.

New York, Sept. 14.—Yesterday was an exciting one and for a time bid fair to be a critical one in the financial field, so that many feared that it might pass into history as a smaller addition of a certain Black Friday of years ago. But today the disturbing elements are better understood, and the outlook for the treasury and the maintenance of its gold reserve is comparatively clear.

Uncertainty as to the intention of the government bond syndicate to maintain the reserve at the century mark and as to their ability to do so had disturbed the moneyed interests increasingly throughout the week. A crisis was reached when the announcement was made that the firm of Lazard Freres, which is a member of the bond syndicate, had engaged $2,500,000 of gold for shipment. This announcement naturally gave rise to the impression that the syndicate had withdrawn from its controlling position behind the throne, and it sent quotations tumbling in Wall street, besides starting stories that the syndicate had dissolved, that a bond issue was imminent and that the treasury would fast drift back to its old position of the dark days of last winter.

Before the afternoon had passed several of the city banks had come to the aid of the sub-treasury with deposits of gold made in exchange for greenbacks, explanations had been made by members of the syndicate and the firm which started the panic, and quiet had been restored when the moneyed institutions closed their doors for the day.

The gold deposits made by the banks will offset the shipments of today.

The Hanover National bank set the example with a deposit of $500,000. That made $3,400,000 in gold that the Hanover bank has paid in, President Howard said, since the last loan was made. The American National bank also paid into the treasury $300,000 and the National Bank of Commerce followed suit with another $300,000. With reference to this deposit, President Sherman said that the $200,000 represented one-third of his bank's gold holdings, and that if all the banks contributed gold in the same proportion there would be no further difficulty.

The National City bank is credited with an intention to deposit a half million, or double that amount. It is expected in banking circles that the deposits of gold by the banks for greenbacks will reach $1,000,000 this week.

The known shipments to Europe today will be: $2,500,000 by Lazard Freres, $1,000,000 by William H. Crossman & Bro., $500,000 by Hoskier, Wood & Co., $300,000 by Hart & Rand, and $100,000 by Hessler & Fuller, while Handy & Harman will forward between $150,000 and $300,000. This will make a total for the week of $7,300,000, the largest weekly outflow on record, except the $7,700,000 sent abroad in one week last January, when the drain upon the reserve reached its highest tide.

Explanations of the position of the bond syndicate toward the treasury and of the reasons impelling Lazard Freres to combat the policy of his colleagues, were secured by the Associated Press. The following statement was authorized by the bond syndicate:

"The impression has become general that the members of the bond syndicate entered into an agreement with the United States treasury to maintain the $100,000,000 reserve until Oct. 1 prox., and that upon that date said obligation will cease. Such is not the case.

"The bond syndicate fulfilled all its obligations to the government in June last, and has not since been bound in any way to the treasury. It is true that it has from time to time since last June paid over various sums in gold coin to the treasury, which have sufficed to maintain the reserve, but it has done so voluntarily and will continue so to do in the same spirit and for the same motive.

"So far as Oct. 1 is concerned it has no relation to the action of the bond syndicate, and it will continue to deposit gold until Nov. 1 and Dec. 1, and Jan. 1 if necessary, and if existing conditions make it feasible to do so. But neither the bond syndicate nor any one else can control the elements. But the idea that its relations to the treasury situation will be any different on or after Oct. 1 from what they are now and have been all along, is erroneous and should be corrected."

First Whitewashed Breaker.

Capt. George W. Johnson says that the first breaker whitewashed in this county was located at St. Clair, at the Hickory colliery. It was done by Operator John Pinkerton in 1888. He caused the inside to be whitewashed as well as the outside. He caused the roof to be shingled, painted with fire proof paint and sanded, and years after when the shingles were removed they were so hard that they turned the sharp edge of a hatchet. They were as well preserved as when new. The builder of the breaker was Jacob Olweine, of Pottsville, now deceased.

CHATS IN THE COAL CIRCLES

Removing a Railroad Track to Work a Large Vein.

AN IMMENSE QUANTITY OF COAL!

The Course of the Local P. & R. R. Branch to be Changed so as to Leave the Deposit Free to Operations in the Kohinor Colliery

The coal resources of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Company are apparently almost inexhaustible in some places, and that seems to be the case with the Kohinor colliery at the western limits of the borough. This mine has been so incessantly worked for many years that immense caverns yawn where great beds of coal once rested, and are so numerous that one inspecting the workings is impelled to believe that but little coal remains in the mine, but such is by no means the case.

Recent surveys and explorations by representatives of both the P. & R. coal and railroad companies have resulted in plans that will renew the vigor of operations at this colliery for several years.

One of the results of the recent calculations is a decision to temporarily change the course of the P. & R. railroad between the turnpike leading to Wm. Penn and the crossing at the lower end of Main street. No announcement is made as to when the change will take place, but it will be made in the near future. The trains will leave the main line at a point a little east of the Wm. Penn turnpike and follow the track leading to the Turkey Run breaker, but will turn at and pass along the south side of the dirt banks. They will strike the main line again near the switch at the Centennial colliery and proceed over the regular route to the depot.

Immediately after the change of this route is accomplished the army of workmen employed in the Kohinor colliery will begin work on the bed of coal that lies under the track now used by the railroad company. The deposit of coal is said to be immense and the estimates vary from one to two million tons. This will undoubtedly revive operations considerably at Kohinor and keep up her record for big productions of the best anthracite that is placed on the market.

Lloyd Demands Recognition.

H. A. Fuller, attorney for Controller Joseph Lloyd, has filed a bill in equity to compel the Commissioners of Luzerne county to recognize the office of Controller; to restrain them from paying bills without the Controller's consent and to compel them to meet the Controller and arrange with him to open an office and regulate the salaries of his corps of assistants. The bill in equity directs to restrain the Commissioners from issuing orders, unsigned by the Controller; to compel them to meet him at some appointed time and place to jointly arrange for the opening of a Controller's office. The action of Mr. Lloyd will now bring things to a crisis and will tie up all the county business, as the treasurer cannot pay any bills or orders until after the injunction is withdrawn.
