CREMATED ON THE IONA!

Seven Lives Lost in a Fire on a British Steamer.

PANIC AMONG THE PASSENGERS!

They Are Driven Out of Their Berths in Their Night Clothes—A Number Injured in Their Efforts to Escape From the Burning Vessel.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The London and Edinburgh Steamship company's steamer Iona, plying between Leith and London, caught fire on her trip to Gravesend yesterday. The fire started in her cabin and five women and one child, passengers, and the stewardess were burned to death, and a number of others were badly burned and otherwise injured. The fire was extinguished by the use of the ship's fire apparatus.

The steamer Iona left Leith Saturday evening at 7 o'clock with a hundred saloon passengers and fifty second class passengers. The part of the boat in which the second class passengers slept was used as a saloon during the day, and at night it was divided by a partition into sleeping compartments for women and men.

Early in the morning fire was discovered in the ladies' compartment on the port side. The flames spread so rapidly and the clouds of smoke were so stifling that the crew were prevented from rescuing all of the passengers, being several times driven away from the burning part of the ship. The fire was gotten under control about 4 o'clock, when the charred bodies of seven persons were found in their berths, so badly burned as to be unrecognizable.

During the progress of the flames the wildest excitement prevailed among the passengers. The saloon passengers—men, women and children—rushed on deck, some of them almost naked, the women screaming and the children crying, and it was not until the flames were subdued that they could be pacified.

The ladies' cabin was completely demolished. Some of the ladies appeared to have fallen from their berths in their efforts to escape, and their bodies were found lying almost in ashes on the floor. The fire originated in the lamp room, which adjoined the cabin.

THE CUBAN INSURRECTION.

General Martinez De Campos Has Arrived at Cienfuegos.

HAYAMA, Sept. 17.—General Martinez de Campos has arrived at Cienfuegos. A sharp engagement took place at Arimao, near Cienfuegos. The village was attacked by a considerable band of insurgents, but the loyalists offered so stubborn a resistance that the attacking party was obliged to retreat, leaving three men dead. Twenty-six rebels have surrendered to the authorities at Remedios. The railroad bridge at Albino, near Cienfuegos, has been burned by insurgents.

Luis Marx, a tobaccoist and a citizen of the United States, has placed in the hands of Leopoldo Canabal the sum of $1,300 to be equally divided between the five soldiers who shall be shown to have performed the greatest feats of valor in the present campaign.

According to official dispatches the fort on the Altamira plantation, near Camajuani, province of Santa Clara, was attacked by a large force of insurgents, while a company of twenty-five soldiers going to the assistance of the garrison were, it is reported, surrounded by 500 insurgents. In spite of the odds against them the soldiers made a stubborn resistance, and held the enemy at bay until assistance arrived. In this engagement fifteen soldiers were killed and three wounded. Fourteen insurgents were left dead on the scene of the battle, among them being Cantero, one of their leaders.

In a skirmish at Las Piedras, which is near Santa Cruz, government dispatches report that two insurgents were killed and three wounded. It is officially reported that the insurgent leader, Rogino Alfonso, has plundered the store of San Vincente, near Mantanzas. Besides a large amount of merchandise he took $600 in money.

The mayor of Anibal reports an engagement with rebels in Purnio Telegrafo, in which the rebel loss was five men killed and fifteen wounded. Armed bands continue to commit depredations in this section.

THE WATER FAMINE.

Shenandoah, by Long Odds, the Least Affected by It.

Complaints are coming in from all parts of the region concerning the lack of water supply and in almost every place other than this town the collieries and places of residences are suffering equally from water famine.

Shenandoah has been remarkably fortunate this year and until yesterday the new water works kept up its immense supply without cessation. Yesterday Superintendent Betteridge concluded, after consultation with the water committee, that to avoid as much as possible any danger of cutting the town supply short it would be better to cut off the supply of the collieries. This was done and now only the town is drawing upon the plant.

The public water works has been doing grand work while other towns of the region have been suffering. Few people realize the amount of water that has been consumed during the past three weeks. About nine-tenths of the properties in the town have been and are now regularly supplied, the Superintendent states, and from August 18th until yesterday the Shenandoah City, Indian Ridge and Turkey Run collieries, and the Bore Hole, consumed 2,600,000 gallons of water, or an average of over 100,000 gallons a day.

The supply was not cut off from the collieries until they had time to make connections with the supply from the Lost Creek reservoirs, but this is not sufficient, and in the absence of a good rain, or some other replenishment of the public water works, the collieries enumerated are liable to shut down at any time. It was doubtful to-day whether they would be able to work a full shift. The pumps at the collieries cannot work regularly with the supply from the Lost Creek reservoirs, it is said. In fact, they are obliged to shut down frequently until the supply pipes fill up. The reservoir at Waste House Run is completely exhausted and the collieries are cut off from any relief at Mahanoy City by the famine that exists there.

In connection with the supply of the public water works running short it must be remembered that great quantities of water have been wasted while the work of making the connections with properties has been going on during the past month.

At present there is no intention of curtailing the water supply. The authorities believe that with the collieries cut off the town will be able to pull through the drought with the regular supply until the reservoirs are replenished.

Mr. Silliman, of the Mahanoy City Water Company, has given the newspapers of that town some very peculiar figures as to the water supply of that town and Shenandoah, or else the newspapers have them mixed, and the story reads straight enough. According to Mr. Silliman his company has a flow of 800,000 gallons per day, and yet they have to restrict consumption materially after cutting off all collieries nearly two months ago. It is doubtful if the consumption of the town will aggregate 750,000 gallons per day, and it is therefore rather difficult to understand the reason for shutting off water at all if the flow is as stated. Mr. Silliman's figures as to the flow of water in Davis' Run which supplies Shenandoah are the most surprising. He states that the stream flows but 351,883 gallons in 24 hours. As the stream is daily supplying about 400,000 gallons to the people of town and also supplied the collieries up to yesterday it leaves all Mr. Silliman's measurements open to grave doubt. Our supply to the collieries has averaged over 150,000 gallons per day, and the town consumption is estimated at from 300,000 to 400,000 per day. Last year at the very driest season the measurements indicated a flow of nearly 500,000 gallons in 24 hours.

THE SHOOTING OF M'HALE.

Change in the Victim's Condition and Mellesko Re-arrested.

A COLD AGGRAVATES THE WOUND!

The Accused Lithuanian Causes the Arrest of Evans, Whom he Charges With Having Caused the Affray—Hearing in the Case Postponed.

The shooting of James, alias "Sim" McHale, has taken a more serious turn than was anticipated. Last night a message was sent to Justice Williams that the condition of the victim was precarious and Paul Mellesko, the Lithuanian charged with the shooting and who was under $500 bail, was at once re-arrested and committed to the lockup to await further developments.

An EVENING HERALD reporter called at the McHale residence, on West Lloyd street, to-day and was informed that McHale was very weak and confined to bed. He caught cold in the wound while attending the hearing on Sunday night and the slightest movement of the head causes hemorrhage. One of his eyes is badly swollen and his general condition alarmed his family. If he regains sufficient strength, it was stated, he will be sent to the Miners' hospital to-morrow.

Last evening Justice Williams had the case before him in another shape. Mellesko had sworn out a warrant for the arrest of William Evans, who is charged with having caused the fight that led to the shooting.

Mellesko stated under oath that Evans sniped him at the scene of the conflict and asked for a match and chew of tobacco, and upon failing to get them he knocked Mellesko off the pavement. The fight then started and continued in the shooting. Mellesko also claims that McHale and his friends had a hand in the fight before the shooting occurred. At the same time he swears he had no revolver and McHale must have been accidentally shot by one of his friends, or the Evans crowd.

Evans was present at the hearing, but John Curry and Joseph Gorman, who were with him during the fight, were absent. Gorman lives in Girardville and Curry was absent on account of the death of his uncle, at Centralia.

After hearing the statements of several witnesses Justice Williams concluded to postpone the hearing of the case until the attendance of Curry and Gorman can be secured on Wednesday night.

Many prominent Lithuanian people have interested themselves in the case. They claim that it has become a habit for young men to stop their countrymen on the streets late at night and ask them for matches, or under some other trifling excuse, and when the request is not complied with it is a signal for a fight, in which the intimidated party is invariably beaten unmercifully, and frequently robbed of whatever valuables they may have upon their persons. In the present case, they claim, the attacking party suffered by a mistake of one of its own members.

In a Precarious Condition.

Upon advice of District Attorney Ryan the relatives of James McHale to-day caused an examination to be made of the pistol shot wound and the victim's general condition. After making the examination this afternoon Dr. Stein went before Justice Williams and made oath that McHale was in a precarious condition. Upon this statement the Justice ordered that Mellesko, who is charged with the shooting, be taken to the Pottsville jail, which was done.

The Terrible Effect of an Exploding Piece of Dynamite.

William E. Burke, a Justice of the Peace at Park Place employed as a gangway man in driving gangway No. 3 in the third lift of Park colliery, had his left hand blown off at the wrist, his left eye blown out, his right arm broken in two places and sustained internal injuries by an explosion of a stick of dynamite yesterday afternoon. It is believed the injuries will result fatally. Burke had drilled a hole and was tamping the dynamite into it to make an opening for a leg of timber when the explosion took place.
