The Battleable Texas.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Reports from the battleship Texas are that the vessel is gradually being put into shape for the official steam test. The machinery, which was damaged by the sheal water at the Norfolk yard, has received a quite general overhauling. It is believed at the department that no permanent damage was done. The experience which has been had with the ship shows that there will certainly be trouble with her ventilating apparatus, which was constructed upon the same plan as that of the Amphitrite, and has been found to be very defective.
