THEY SPLIT IN NEW YORK!

State Democracy Withdraws From the State Convention.

WILL FIGHT AGAINST TAMMANY!

The Leaders of the Anti-Tammany Organization Declare They Will Support an Independent Ticket for County Officers.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 25.—The Democratic state convention finished its work yesterday by nominating these officers: For secretary of state, Horatio C. King of Brooklyn; comptroller, John B. Judson of Grovesville; state treasurer, D. C. Dow of Cobleskill; attorney general, Norton Chase of Albany; state engineer, Russell R. Stuart of Syracuse; judge of the court of appeals, John D. Teller of Auburn.

The convention then adopted its platform of principles substantially as already published. The excise plank is as follows: "Equal and honest enforcement of all laws; a proper observance of a day of rest; and an orderly Sunday; modifications or repeal of laws unsupported by public opinion; no unjust sumptuary laws; recognition of the fundamental American principle of freedom of conscience; home rule in excise, as well as in other matters, within reasonable limitations established to protect the interests of temperance and morality, and an amendment of the excise and other laws by the legislature of the state which shall permit each municipality expressing its sentiments by a popular vote of a majority of its citizens to determine within such proper legislative restrictions as shall be required by the interests of the entire state what may best suit its special necessities and conditions." Within two hours after the close of the convention the delegations had taken regular and special trains for home. There has been an absolute lack of enthusiasm, for up country delegates are angry that an understanding was not arrived at with the State Democracy people, and Tammany, while exultant at the State Democracy's defeat, is still quite disgruntled at the platform declaration on excise.

Never at any political gathering did so much depend upon the admission of contesting delegations, and never were plans so rudely broken as when the State Democracy refused to enter the convention. In the morning Norton Chase, of Albany, was running for comptroller and John B. Judson, of Fulton, was looking for state treasurer, while Augustus Schenck, of Erie, was slated for comptroller and Daniel B. Griffin, of Watertown, was considered the choice for attorney general. An hour before the time set for the meeting of the convention the slate was unchanged, and the platform as already sent by the Associated Press, very little changed.

Half an hour later both Daniel Griffin and Augustus Schenck had declined to allow their names to be used. Judson was transferred to the comptrollership, Dow of Schoharie refused to nominate him, and Mr. Schenck would not run unless the nomination was made by a Cleveland adherent. Daniel Griffin said, when asked by the Associated Press reporter for his reason for withdrawing:

"Had my name been presented to the convention I would have been nominated unanimously. But after the report of the majority of the committee on credentials had been adopted by the committee I labored so far as I could to procure the adoption of the minority report by the convention, believing that the situation in New York county logically required the same treatment as had already been made in the case of Kings county. Before the report had been adopted I saw my friends and said to them that if the report of the majority of the committee in the New York city contest should be endorsed I would not become a candidate, and I adhered to that position."

When the State Democracy people left the rink after being denied more representation, they were in a fighting frame and continued so until their train left. The leaders were very free in their expressions of disapproval, and here are some of their remarks:

Corporation Counsel Frank M. Scott: "The action of the convention ratifying the report of the committee on contested seats made it impossible for the State Democracy to retain the seats allotted them in the convention, because the report takes the ground that the Tammany alone is the regular organization of the city of New York, and that the members of the State Democracy had no right to participate in the organization of the next convention."

John Jeroloman, president of the board of aldermen of New York: "We are going back to pulverize Tammany Hall. It is not the giving to us of one-fifth of the delegation that we object to, but the action of the convention in humiliating us; that we have no state committee or representatives in the party organization. We will fight them on county and legislative tickets, and beat them."

Theodore Sutra: "The effect will be to draw many of the German-American votes away from the nominees of the convention and Tammany Hall."

John J. Quinlan: "We are going back to fight them to the hilt. While we will not endorse the local Republican nominees we may support a consolidated ticket, the same as we did last year."

The Johnson Funeral.

The funeral of the late Edward Johnson, Sr., took place this morning from the residence of his daughter, Mrs. William Jefferson, on East Line street. Rev. John Bath, pastor of the Primitive Methodist church, conducted the ceremonies at the residence. The remains were taken to Hazleton for interment and were accompanied by a large number of relatives and friends to that place. The pall bearers were Charles Haskins, Isaac James, Winfield Major, Lincoln Moore, Arthur Custon and William Collins.

Peddler Beaten and Robbed.

Morris Greenberg, a peddler of town, says he was brutally treated in a Polish saloon at Gilberton yesterday. He went into the place to get a drink and while he was standing at the bar three drunken Poles assaulted and robbed him. They beat and kicked him, tore patches from his long beard and took his pack from him. Greenberg returned to town and made complaint before Justice Cardin, but thus far the men who made the assault have not been found.

PREPARING FOR PRIMARIES.

The Republicans Will Have Their Battles Saturday Next.

MANY DELEGATES IN THE FIELD.

There are Three Sets Out in the Fifth Ward and all the Other Wards Have Two Each—More May Come Later on Before Saturday.

Interest in the local Republican primaries is increasing quite rapidly now, and from the present time to the close of the primaries on Saturday evening will in all probability constitute the leading topic. Although very little has been said heretofore the parties interested have by no means wasted time. The calm has been deceptive. There will be a hot contest in every ward. At least two sets of delegates will be presented at each primary and each set is evidently determined to fight up to the close of the polls.

In the First ward Colfax Brown and Edward Doherty have announced themselves as delegates and are said to be making a fight for Breckons. Charles Smith and Joseph Morris are also out for delegateships. Their friends have made no declaration of their intentions further than that they are for Severn for Controller, but it is understood that they favor Edwards for District Attorney. The fight here will be hot, and probably a very close one.

Roll Shoeler and Edward Kester are out for Edwards and Severn, it is said, in the Second ward, while Abraham Williams and William E. Davies are also in the field. This is the smallest ward in the town, but there is more mystery regarding the intentions of its candidates for the delegateships than is manifested in all the other wards combined.

The Third ward will be the scene of one of the hottest battles of the day. Two strong teams are now in the field, and it would not be surprising to hear the announcement of a third. At present the contending teams are ex-Councilman A. B. Lamhand and John Roberts, a brother of Deputy Sheriff Roberts. They are said to be declared Breckons men, and William Neiswenter is named as the peace-maker, being a candidate for Standing Committee. Marshall Hughes and William Gillilan compose the opposing team and are for Edwards, while Moses Rogers runs along with them for Standing Committee.

In the Fourth ward T. J. Davies and George Lomax are seeking the delegateships to represent Edwards at the convention. It is said Councilman A. D. Gable and George Haes will be alternates and David Morgan will run for Standing Committee. William Patterson and Samuel Stone are named as the Breckons delegates.

The Fifth ward is in the battle up to and above its ears. Three sets of delegates have already been trotted out. They are Samuel Davis and Charles Hornberger, George Flock and David Cale, Benjamin Beecher and Thomas Redcliff. The latter team is unquestionably for Breckons. It is said that Edwards will find support from any of the other four that may be elected. Flock and Cale are out as Edwards delegates, but the other two apparently have not made up their minds. It has been said that they are for Edwards.

The string is of sufficient length to satisfy any one that there is a big fight at the end of it and that the Republican primaries will not, by a long shot, be as quiet as the Democratic primaries were. Eleven sets of delegates in five wards is sufficient evidence of interest. Should any more develop by Saturday the average voter will find himself in a state of perplexity bordering on desperation. But it will all be over in about forty-eight hours.

An Excellent Show.

The sensational melodrama, "A Money Order," was presented at Ferguson's theatre last evening. The play is well constructed, and the support of Mr. Jule Walters was far above the average. A pleasant feature of the evening's entertainment was the staging of the play. The audience was liberal in its applause.

The Ladies' Medical Institute at Hotel Kaiser, North Main street, Mahanoy City, has come to stay. They are not here for a few days, then gone, no one knows where. They will give you an equivalent for your money and all and every patient under their care will receive full benefit of their skill and experience. They seek to inspire confidence and their treatment will prove their honesty and skill. Consult them.

The Water Works.

Gallagher & Lamb will finish work under their contract to make the connections this week. They are now completing the Bowers and White streets lines.

The water committee last night decided to put the regulator at the north end of Emerick street and Apple alley. It will be sheltered by a small brick structure.
