This lecture platform is one of the best agencies of practical education the people can find and they should never lose an opportunity to attend a lecture, especially when it is free. The people of Shenandoah have a rare privilege this week in the series of lectures afforded them by the Reform Institute.

A noise divided against itself cannot stand, and this is likely to be the case with the house of Calhoun of Texas. The Governor is devising every means he can to stop the Corbett-Fitzsimmons mill, while Mrs. C. wants it to go on, and as she seems to be a woman who 'speaks right out in meetin'' we have no doubt the Governor has a pretty warm time of it.

Every American citizen glories in the fact that this is a land of equality and freedom, a land where the humblest and the highest have each one vote. The poorest man has as much voice on election day as a millionaire. Threaten a man with loss of the right of suffrage and he becomes instantly indignant and from his language you would imagine that the right to vote was one of the most precious of his possessions. Yet that very man may in his heart value the privilege so little that he does not take the trouble on election day to go to the polls, and still worse is unwilling to pay even a poll tax to secure the privilege. It is hard to understand why American citizens should so lightly esteem a privilege which places them ahead of the citizens of any other nation in the world. Saturday, October 5th, is the last day on which to pay your taxes if you want to vote at the coming election.

SUSTAIN THE TEACHER.

There seems to be a disposition on the part of most parents to engage in a controversy with the teachers of the public schools upon the slightest pretext, and should their children be subjected to any punishment they become so sensitive that one not acquainted with the facts is impelled to believe that the teacher is little less than a blood-thirsty monster.

Many parents are grievously wrong in the course they take. It is true there are cases where some children have, perhaps, been more severely treated than occasion required, or the teacher's jurisdiction warranted, but such instances have been very rare. The wise parent will become reconciled to the fact that, with some children, kindness is mistaken as an evidence of timidity and they do not hesitate to take advantage of it, consequently it is sometimes necessary for the teacher to adopt a course of a different character and occasionally try to enforce attention and obedience in a manner that will be more effective—suspension, for instance.

Discipline is indispensable to proper education and if the parent wishes the child to become what is intended, all possible aid should be given the teacher to enforce the primary regulation, instead of blindly accepting the teacher's action as an evidence of retaliation for, or protection of some imaginary wrong in some branch of the family. It should be remembered that a suspension is not an expulsion and that by proper apology and promise to improve in conduct, which the teacher is fully justified in demanding, the child can be reinstated. A suspension is all the power the teacher has to exercise in the government of unruly pupils. Corporal punishment she dare not resort to.

One of the secrets of the trouble is that some parents are too much inclined to apply a thick layer of sympathy where a well-laid shingle would better answer the purpose. Let the teacher once become convinced that she will be sustained by the parent in any proper method she may resort to in bringing a pupil to a sense of obligation and there need be no fear as to the result, and none will appreciate it more than the pupil in after years.

MAUD STEIDEL FOUND.

She Charges Father Wagner with Responsibility for Her Disappearance.
CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Maud Steidel, supposed to have been abducted from St. Joseph Mo., by Father Dominick Wagner, of St. Mary's church, in that city, has been found in Chicago. The girl was traced by means of a shipment of furniture the priest is said to have made in this city under an assumed name.

Miss Steidel, who is a rather handsome young woman of 16, bitterly repents her actions. The girl admitted that improper relations existed between her and the priest, and that it was all arranged for her to come here and live with him in furnished rooms, which were to have been fitted up with the priest's own household effects shipped here for that purpose. Adolph Elandt, the brother-in-law of the priest, is under arrest, charged with complicity in the abduction. Miss Steidel says she came here two weeks ago in care of Elandt. The latter claims to have been a dupe of the priest, and left for St. Joseph last evening to appear against Father Wagner, who is under arrest in that city.

The Darlington, Wis., Journal says editorially of a popular patent medicine: "We know from experience that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is all that is claimed for it, as on two occasions it stopped excruciating pains and possibly saved us from an untimely grave. We would not rest easy over night without it in the house." This remedy undoubtedly saves more pain and suffering than any other medicine in the world. Every family should keep it in the house, for it is sure to be needed sooner or later. For sale by Grubler Bros., Druggists.

THE ST. PAUL'S TRIAL TRIP.

It is believed she will exceed the Time Made by the St. Louis.

GLEUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 2.—The St. Paul, the latest addition to the International Navigation company's fleet of fast steamers, started on her maiden trial trip this morning over the ocean route, off Cape Ann. As the new boat is to be an auxiliary to our warships, should it ever be necessary to press her into service, the naval officers, comprising the government trial board, are on board.

The St. Paul, which left the Delaware capes at 4:30 Monday evening, anchored off this port at 5:30 last evening. During the run up the coast the ship behaved admirably, and the working of her machinery was so satisfactory that for an hour the ship's two engines were run at an average of ninety revolutions per minute. One of them was speeded up to ninety-four on a spur, which is within one stroke of the maximum capacity, and during this period the steam pressure ran up to 157 pounds, three pounds less than the maximum. An estimated speed of 21 knots was acquired with a horse power development of about 25,000. In view of the fact that the machinery has been in use but little over two days, the results obtained are considered remarkable.

No one board the ship doubted that she will easily develop the twenty knots an hour necessary to place her in the auxiliary cruiser class, and many believe she will beat the St. Louis, which on her recent trial in the English channel averaged 22.3 knots an hour for nearly five hours. During the night the crew cleaned the lines, boiler tubes and smoke boxes, but no other special preparations were made for the trial trip.

The official trial board will consist of Commander Bradford, Lieutenant Commander Schroeder and Lieutenant Mulligan. The latter made a special inspection of the ship to ascertain her ability to carry guns in the event of war, and has found that she meets all the requirements of an auxiliary cruiser.

A Loper at Large.
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—He has looked out that James Benjamin, the most recent acquisition to the leper ward at the Municipal hospital, escaped fully a month ago, and is at large now in the precincts of this city. The fact that he escaped has been withheld, it being the desire of the hospital authorities to keep the matter a profound secret. Benjamin was the most recent acquisition and most interesting of the trio of lepers in that department of the hospital, and at the time of his arrest, six months ago, there was a great deal of notoriety given to the case. The man is about 30 years old, well built, swarthy complexion and exceedingly well educated. He claims to be a West Indian, although his features more resemble those of the negro intermixed with the Caucasian.

The Cigarette Warfare.
ROCHESTER, N.
