AN AUSPICIOUS DEDICATION

Splendid House Warming by the Phoenix Fire Company.

PARADE, SPEECHES AND MUSIC!

A Glorious Time in Which Several Hundred People Participated—P. M. Dunn, Esq., Eulogizes the Volunteer Firemen. Description of the New Quarters.

The Phoenix Fire Company last night spent one of the most enjoyable evenings of its ten years' existence in the dedication of its new home on North Jardin street. The building was brilliantly illuminated and the hospitalities of the company were most generously extended to several hundred people, who filled all apartments of the structure until a late hour and made the neighborhood ring with the echoes of their merriment.

The company had made elaborate arrangements for the affair and they were carried out successfully with one exception. The members of the Borough Council had been invited to participate in the parade and festivities and assembled at the regular place of meeting to await the call of the company's committee. By an oversight the Councilmen were left in the rendezvous while the band and committee walked off with members of the Columbia Hose Company, who were assembled in their apparatus room on the first floor of the borough building. Later a special committee returned and escorted the Councilmen to the scene of festivities. It was explained that the failure to call for them in time for the parade was due to a misunderstanding on the part of the committee that managed the parade, the committee being different from the one that made the arrangements with Council.

The line of parade consisted of the Lithuanian band, two carriages containing P. M. Dunn, Esq., of Minersville, who was selected to make the dedicatory address, Messrs. Knudley & Frederick, of Hazleton, who constructed the building, Frank X. Reilly, of Pottsville, the architect and members of the committee of arrangements, followed by the Columbia Hose and Rescue Hook and Ladder companies in full uniform, the Phoenix Company bringing up the rear.

Upon arrival at the new building the fire companies formed in front of it with a large gathering of people, while the speaker of the evening was escorted into the building and from the openings at the second story Mr. J. F. O'Haren delivered the introductory address to the gathering on the street. The cold weather led the speakers to brevity. Mr. O'Haren recited the events leading to the construction of the edifice and paid compliments in behalf of the Phoenix Company to the architect, contracting builders and others who engaged in the work. He also referred in complimentary terms to the thirty ladies of the corps of public school teachers and two other ladies who presented the company with a handsome silk flag. He said that had they gathered all the valuables of the world and presented them to the company they would not have been more appreciated than the flag and the company will always stand ready to defend it, if need be with their blood. Mr. O'Haren introduced P. M. Dunn, Esq., as 'a friend of the Phoenix Fire Company and friend of every fireman in Schuylkill county, an able lawyer, and an honored citizen.'

Mr. Dunn spoke for about 20 minutes and paid a glowing tribute to the volunteer firemen. He said of all men in the world they deserve monuments to commemorate the great service and heroic deeds they perform in protecting life and property against the fire fiend, but they are left to erect their own monuments. The buildings, such as the Phoenix Fire Company has erected, he said, stand as monuments to show that the volunteer firemen stand ready to protect the people, to save the mansion of the wealthy as well as the lowly cabin of the poor from the ravages of the flames.

After the cheers and applause following the address died away the building was thrown open to the public and within a few minutes all parts of it were filled. The basement had been converted into a dining room for the male visitors and the ladies were served in the upper apartments from trays passed by members of the company. Sandwiches and liquid refreshments of various kinds were served.

For about an hour the Lithuanian band entertained the assemblage in the apparatus room on the main floor, under the direction of Prof. F. Zeltz, and at about 10 o'clock dancing commenced, the music being furnished by the Riley orchestra.

While the festivities were in progress on the main floor a large assemblage on the second floor enjoyed an impromptu feast of vocal selections under the direction of Mr. P. J. Mulholland. Many choice and popular selections were rendered by the Columbia Hose Company quartette, Patrick McHale, John Cooney, T. J. Mullahy, Edward Tobin, P. J. Feeley, Thomas Flaherty.

It was a late hour when the last of the assemblage left for their homes wishing the Phoenix Fire Company a long and prosperous career in its new quarters, and "so say we all of us."

The Phoenix Fire Company may feel proud of its new structure. From an artistic point, and in matter of conveniences and adaptability to the requirements of its purposes, the building is certainly one of the finest in the interior of the state. The carved white stone frontage is exceedingly attractive and as to appearance there is no fire company house in this county that compares with it.

As it stands the property represents an investment by the company of at least $12,000. The building is two stories high, 72 feet deep and 26 feet wide. The front is built of Indiana lime stone. The side and rear walls are brick. On the first floor there is an apparatus room 16x26 feet in size and has a height of 14 feet. There is a five-foot oiled pine wainscoting, the floor is of maple, the walls are rough coated and the ceiling white coated. At the rear of the apparatus room there is a reading room 16x21 feet. This apartment contains closets for gum coats and other paraphernalia and supplies. On the south side of the building there is a hallway five feet wide leading from an entrance from the street independent of the entrance to the apparatus room. This hallway runs to the rear part of the building, where a staircase leads to the second floor. In this part of the building there is a commodious bath room. To the north of this apartment is the company's meeting room 20 feet deep and 15 feet wide. A neat brass railing in a corner of the room encircles a polished brass tube upon which the firemen may slide down to the apparatus room instead of descending the staircase when an alarm is sounded. The third apartment of the same floor is the parlor. It is 21 feet wide and 35 feet long. It is the front room of the floor and is connected with the reading room by folding doors. The parlor has not been furnished, but will be in the near future and the company promises to make it as comfortable and attractive as any in the region. The basement extends the full length and width of the building and is so arranged that it can be used as a washing and drying room for the hose.

THE PRIZE FIGHT PUZZLE!

Finally Solved by the Selection of Hot Springs, Ark.

DATE OF THE EVENTS UNCHANGED.

Martin Julian, Fitzsimmons' Manager, Gains His Point That the Name of the Referee Shall Not be Known Until the Day of the Fight.

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 10.—The Florida Athletic club yesterday moved its headquarters to Hot Springs, Ark., where it will hold its pugilistic carnival of three days, commencing Oct. 31, the date originally selected and already given out. All the parties to the contest have fully agreed, and the matter is settled.

Conditions having changed so quickly and positively, the date and place of the fight being named in less than twenty-five hours after the conference, though the club had forty-eight hours from Tuesday night to decide in, there were lots of things to be done, including the arrangements for getting to work on a building and preparing for transportation. However, a great many matters were arranged in the conference Tuesday night. The question came up at the conference whether or not Julian and Brady would agree to fight outside of Texas. There was no difficulty on this score. That being settled, the question was would they consent to moving the date to Nov. 29. Both opposed this. Their men, they said, were already on fighting edge, so to speak. Julian insisted particularly on this. It seems, therefore, that a concession was made in this regard by the club.

Brady sprung a telegram from Phil J. Dwyer, of New York, the official stakeholder, that Fitzsimmons' stake money had been attached, the amount involved being $8,100. Brady and Julian had a discussion over this, ending in Julian promising to make good the amount on Oct. 18. Julian blamed Attorney Friend, of New York, for the attachment proceedings, asserting that he forced himself on Fitzsimmons, and otherwise, as Julian charges, used Fitzsimmons as a handle to keep himself before the public in connection with the Australian affairs. A claim was put in by Julian for the forfeit of $2,900 if the mill does not take place on Oct. 31. This was allayed by the proving of the fact that the club had the right to pull the mill off any time after July 1, 1895.

"The big event of the conference was the question as to whether or not a referee should be selected at once. The club demanded it as their right, that the referee be named without delay. Brady demanded the same. Julian stood put on his old proposition that the referee should be named on the day of the fight. There was a hot discussion between Julian, Brady and Vandy, the latter declaring for the club that unless a referee was named at once they would declare the fight off. Julian said it would have to go at that. Then Julian argued that the safest way to prevent a referee from being tampered with was to keep his name secret until the day of the fight. Brady said Corbett would never again sign articles of agreement until the referee was named in the same.

Julian finally consented to consider the proposition that he and Brady should each select a name from six, the same to be kept secret until the day of the fight, and then, if the names were not the same, the decision between the two should be decided by a toss up. It is learned on good authority that all conditions as embraced in the original articles of agreement will be carried out at the new location for the triple fistie carnival.

The Corbett Party Released.

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 10.—The situation averted the presence of the Corbett training party in the city is entirely changed. Mr. Walsh, the foreman of the grand jury, when asked after adjournment what he had summoned the party from San Antonio for, replied that he knew absolutely nothing of their coming until he was informed that they were in the city. District Attorney Burleson, on his hook, caused the issuance of the writs that brought the men here. The district attorney says he desires to prosecute Corbett and Fitzsimmons if they are violating the Texas laws, and he believes they are, in conspiring to commit a felony. The Corbett party were permitted to return to San Antonio, the grand jury having no further business with them. It is intimated that the best of feeling does not exist between the district attorney and the grand jury on account of his arbitrary action in this matter, and they "called him down."

Electric Wire Causes a Big Fire.

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 10.—A fire caused by a broken electric wire broke out in warehouse D, of the Seaboard Air line, last night, which destroyed that structure, together with thousands of dollars' worth of freight stored therein, including 700 bales of cotton and nine loaded freight cars. The warehouse of Reed Brothers, adjoining, was consumed, and two men who were cut off from escape jumped overboard, one of them, W. B. Hall, white, being drowned. The Old Dominion steamer Yorktown, which was in the slip alongside the doomed property, backed out barely in time to escape the flames. The loss is $300,000.

No Prize Fights in Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 10.—Prize fighting in Louisville received a knock-out blow today in the shape of an order issued by the board of public safety to General Taylor, chief of police. The order is a sweeping one and will have the effect of stopping all glove contests in the theaters, athletic clubs or elsewhere within the city limits if enforced, which the board says it will be to the letter for all time to come. The order will effectually stop all efforts to pull off the Murphy-Griffin mill at the Auditorium here on next Monday night.
