A GOOD POINT FOR HOLMES

Evidence Regarding Other Murders Excluded by Judge Arnold

MISS YOKE ON THE WITNESS STAND

One of the Alleged Multi-Murderer's "Wives" Gives Evidence for the Prosecution in the Great Murder Trial. Cross Examined by the Prisoner.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—The first witness in the Holmes trial yesterday was Sidney L. Samuels, a young lawyer of Fort Worth, Tex., who invariably spoke of Holmes as "the individual."

Inspector Gary, of the insurance company, testified that he had seen at the prisoner's house at Williams, Ill., a woman who represented herself to be Mrs. H. H. Holmes.

Miss Yoke, the alleged wife, was ushered in. She was at once called to the stand, and gave her testimony in a whisper, which was repeated by the crier.

Georgeanna Yoke, for so she gave her name, is a tall, slender woman, about 25 years old. She testified that she knew the prisoner in St. Louis by the names of H. H. Holmes and H. M. Howard.

The witness continued: "After we came back from Philadelphia to Indianapolis he went twice to St. Louis, and on one of those occasions he said he was going to meet a man from Fort Worth who was to buy the block in that city."

"Of the money he received for the Fort Worth property, he said he had sent $5,000 to his broker, Mr. Blackman, in Chicago. He gave me $3,000, perhaps more, perhaps less. He gave me several presents, a Bible, a pocket diamond earrings and a little heart set with pearls."

At the conclusion of the direct examination Attorney Rotan stated to Judge Arnold that, with the court's permission, the prisoner would like to conduct the cross examination of this witness himself.

There was no change in the demeanor of the witness under her "husband's" questioning. She kept her eyes cast upon the floor and the crier repeated what she had to say.

Mr. Rotan objected. He argued that it was irrelevant to produce pictures taken or letters written subsequent to Pitezel's death.

Judge Arnold reserved his decision on this point for the present. Detective Geyer testified as to the various interviews he had with Holmes, including the last one, in which the prisoner told him he had given Howard Pitezel to a man named Hatch in Indianapolis.

WHIMS OF THE TROLLEY.

A Break at Coal and Main Streets Causes Excitement.

PASSENGERS RAZZLE DAZZLED!

A Horse Shocked and Its Driver Had a Narrow Escape—Fate of a Man Who Tried to Pull a Hog From the Wire.

For over two hours a deadly trolley wire hung as a menace to the lives of people who traveled past the corner of Main and Coal streets yesterday afternoon and little short of a miracle saved the life of one man, while others escaped with very little more margin.

The occurrence should serve as a warning to all concerned in the operation of electric plants, or wires through the town, to have safeguards at hand for the earliest possible use whenever a break occurs in a line.

During the storm yesterday afternoon a dead wire of the Shenandoah Electric Illuminating Company became loosened from its fastenings and fell upon the trolley wire of the Schuykill Traction Company at the corner of Main and Coal streets.

Shortly after a car approached the place and before any warning was given the vehicle came in contact with a short return current. The conductor and motorman jumped from the car after stopping it and there was a great scramble by the passengers.

John Manley was the man who had a thrilling escape. He was driving a bakery wagon. As he approached the corner on Main street he observed people throwing their arms about in a frantic manner and heard their cries, but all was like so much Greek to him.

THE BUSY STORE

116 and 118 North Main Street. SHENANDOAH, PA., NOV., '95.

To the Readers of the HERALD:

There was a time when you would not be bothered reading "ads." But times have changed, and you have learned that many an advertisement contains a money-saving story.

Our advertising policy is simple and straight forward. We try to interest sensible people in our daily talks about Dry Goods and Notions, to tell them in a plain, quiet way in sound argument why they should trade with us, and to hold out to them strong inducements to become our patrons.

Remember we ask no patronage unless we can convince you that it is to your advantage to trade here—but we do ask you to watch our advertisements in this paper.

Yours sincerely, MAX SCHMIDT.

Had a Narrow Escape.

Rufus Lookwood, of Lost Creek, and who is employed as a ditch cleaner at Packer No. 2 colliery, had a narrow escape from a sudden and horrible death. He was pursuing his usual avocation when he was seized with a weak spell and fell head foremost across the road, and in falling his lamp was extinguished.

Arn Cat Out.

John Evermore, of West Cherry street, lost his right arm while at work at Packer No. 4 colliery yesterday. He was engaged in running cars into the mine and a car on which he was sitting was derailed by a misplaced switch.
