A ROMANCE IN REAL LIFE.

The Good Fortune That Befell a Poor Gardener's Daughter.

HEIRESS TO FIFTEEN MILLIONS!

The Legacy Comes From an Uncle Who Went From England to Australia and Amassed a Vast Fortune in the Gold Fields.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—A remarkable romance in real life has come to light by the sudden and unexpected inheritance of a fortune of $15,000,000 by the 23-year-old daughter of a poor gardener, William Kelly, who lives at 1838 Latona street, this city. Elizabeth Kelly, the heiress, and her father confirmed the story. The legacy comes from the estate of a long-dead uncle, Peter Kelly, who amassed a vast fortune in the Australian gold fields over thirty years ago. Peter Kelly was living with his parents in Lancashire, England, when the Australian gold craze broke out, and he went to that land to make his fortune. Nothing was heard of him for many years until one day, nearly a quarter of a century ago, his mother received word that he would soon return home a millionaire. He did not come, however, but after some months a deaf mute who had been a passenger with Peter on the vessel bound for England appeared, and told of a violent storm at sea, in which a number of passengers, including Peter Kelly, had been drowned. Inquiry was begun and the son's story of his millions was verified, part of the money being in Australian banks. He had never married, and had no relatives in Australia. The family received the interest on the fortune, which was valued at $15,000,000.

Some time after Peter's death, the story goes, his brother William, who had come to America before Peter's departure for Australia, learned of the existence of a will in which all the estate was bequeathed to his (William's) eldest child, Elizabeth. William's wages were enough for the support of his family, and it is authoritatively asserted that when he first learned of this vast estate he made no effort to secure it for his then infant daughter. Two years ago, however, he engaged an attorney, and it is declared that the enormous legacy will be placed at the disposal of the girl this week.

The heiress is reported as having told her friends that she is going to distribute her wealth as follows: "To her brother she intends to give $1,000,000; to his wife, the same amount; to their children, Willie, 6 years old; Alma, 3, and Walter, the baby, who is in his first year, she will hand over $10,000 each. The heiress' sisters, Florence, who is 8, and May, who is 11, will receive $1,000,000 to be held in trust for them. The father, it is thought, will enjoy the bulk of the wealth with his daughter.

Carelessness Led to His Arrest. SARATOGA, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Ira E. Frazer, of South River, Warren county, was brought before United States commissioner Charles M. Davidson on the charge of writing and mailing an obscene letter to his wife, Emma Frazer, who was visiting in Washington at the time. In the address the last syllable "ton," was left off the word "Washington" and the letter accordingly went to the dead letter office. It was opened and its contents constituted so gross a violation of the United States laws that detectives and inspectors were at once detailed to apprehend the writer, whom the officials believe is the husband. Frazer was released on bail.

The Carson Mint Trial Begun. CARSON, Nov. 14.—James Honey, the mint suspect, for the larceny of $23,000 from the United States mint at this point, is on trial here. General Clarke presented the case of the prosecution to the jury, outlining the workings of the mint and the manner in which Honey could have taken the billion. Several important witnesses were called, who explained the routine work of the mint. The trial of John T. Johns, another suspect, is set for Thursday, Nov. 21.

HOW PHILADELPHIA IS ROBBED.

Damaging Evidence Accumulating Against the Thieving Contractors.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—Yesterday's session of the senate investigating committee was devoted to the examination of seven witnesses, corroborating the testimony already given by General Agent Addis, of the Citizens' Municipal association, as to non-compliance with specifications of contracts relative to paving, street cleaning and garbage collection. Addison F. Bender, employed by the Citizens' association, told of investigations he had made of the number of men required to keep asphalt streets clean. He showed that only about half the required number were kept at work. As to the use of fitted Belgian blocks in paving he never saw any used, and cited several instances where incompetent gangs of Italians were employed, turning out inferior work. Bernard Bowen, representing the National Pavement and Rammers' association, corroborated Mr. Bender as to the paving, and informed the committee of the unsatisfactory manner in which complaints made by him to the authorities within the past few months have been treated.

Dennis Mahoney, at present in the stone business, said no fitted blocks were laid in the city, although the contracts called for this kind of paving. John McNeely testified to having seen garbage wagons and dumped in Delaware county and the lower part of the city. The committee then adjourned, and at the request of Lawyer Freedley will not meet again until Nov. 21.

Jacob Louch Meets Death While Going to His Work.

When the passenger train that leaves town east-bound on the Lehigh Valley railroad at 8:04 a. m. was running to Yatesville, this morning, Jacob Louch and Thomas Philippshack were walking on the railroad on their way to work at the Knickerbocker colliery. Both men stepped out of the way of the train, but as the last car passed Louch was caught in the draft occasioned by the train's rapid passage and whirled around several times, after which he fell unconscious to the track. Philippshack escaped and the particulars of the accident are given by him. The accident occurred about 30 yards west of the Yatesville depot. The train was stopped and run back to the place and both were taken to Delano, where Louch died immediately after the train arrived there. Philippshack brought the remains to town and Deputy Coroner Manley was notified.

An examination of the body failed to disclose any other marks than a few slight scratches on the fingers of the right hand. Philippshack is positive the train did not strike the deceased. It is believed that death was caused by heart failure brought on by shock.

Louch was a Hungarian about 40 years of age and left a wife and two small children. They reside at 526 West Apple alley. The deceased was employed as a slatepicker at the Knickerbocker colliery.

CLASHES OVER HEALTH LAWS

Special Meeting of the Board of Health Last Night.

AN OFFICER'S TRIBULATIONS!

People Object to the Notices of Contagious Diseases and one Refuses to Disinfect Premises.

A special meeting of the Board of Health was held last evening and was attended by Messrs. Spalding, Malone, Miles and McHale.

The president stated that the meeting was called to take action on the difficulties encountered by the Health Officer in enforcing the rules of the Board as to the disinfecting of the premises of Peter Hiley, corner of West and Oak streets, where a contagious disease existed, and to consider other matters of special importance.

Health Officer Conry stated that he received notice from the physician in attendance that the patient in Mr. Hiley's house had recovered from typhoid fever and the placard could be removed. He went to the house to make the removal, but before doing so informed Mr. Hiley of the Board's requirements as to the disinfecting of premises and of the officer's duty to see that the disinfecting was properly made. Mr. Hiley blankly refused to allow the officer to enter on the premises, consequently the officer refused to remove the placard pending instructions from the Board.

After hearing the statement the Board adopted a resolution ordering Health Officer Conry to proceed with the enforcement of the rules and take any action in the premises that may be necessary to enforce a compliance.

The Health Officer also stated that he had some difficulty with D. R. Lewis, of North Main street, about the placing of a notice of contagious disease. Mr. Lewis had a case of diphtheria in his house and objected to the notice being placed in front of his property, which was the only public place that could be selected in compliance with the rules. He wanted the notice posted inside of the building, at a doorway leading to the upper part of the dwelling. The Health Officer placed a notice at a doorway leading upstairs and on a subsequent visit found the notice was entirely disregarded. He then placed the notice in the street door entrance, as the only proper place for a notice of that character.

An exchange of views by members of the Board as to the advisability of placing notices at the public entrances of business houses brought out the opinion that, as the notices were posted solely in the interest of the public, to warn the people of the existence of dangerous diseases, and while it may work a hardship sometimes on individuals, the welfare of the many required that the notices be posted in conspicuous places. The Board was of the opinion that the placing of notices should be left to the discretion of the Health Officer and no discrimination can be made between a place of business and any other place.

Theaters Meet.

"The Fast Mail" company played here and the "Tornado" company played at Ashland last night. Both companies are under the same management and a sort of consanguinity exists between the members. For the first time in many months the companies got within ten miles of each other yesterday. Several members of the "Tornado" company made a trip over the trolley line to town in the afternoon and there was a jolly meeting at the Ferguson House. The visitors left in time for the performance at Ashland.

Sparks Cause Alarm.

The fire department was called to the north-east corner of Lloyd and Gilbert streets last night, at about eight o'clock. The alarm had been caused by dense smoke and occasional sparks being emitted from the chimney of a dwelling at the corner. The Babcocks were applied to the chimney and in a few minutes the firemen declared all danger had passed.

SOMETHING ABOUT MR. WORRELL.

An Interesting Personality.

The gentleman who lectures before housekeepers, in Ferguson's theatre, Saturday afternoon, is thirty-seven years old, is married and resides with his family in Dorchester, a delightful suburban district of Boston. On the temperance and other vital questions, he takes a strong, influential position on the right side. He is a member of the Congregational Club, Boston, one of the strongest and most conservative social-religious organizations in New England. Mr. Worrell is the only person who has made food discussion a large success. He has won an established reputation in New England, where he has lectured, each season, for the past seven years. Tickets for the lecture in this city may now be procured at Kirin's drug store, free, by housekeepers only.

Wintery Weather Reminders.

Capes and coats are fast sellers now. Our prices and assortments can't be beat. Capes of Fur, Boucle, Plush or Beaver, plain or richly trimmed; no other house shows one half the stock we carry. All styles of new coats for children and misses; ladies' jackets in immense variety—Cheviots, Boucles, Beavers, Kerseys, every style worth having at money-saving prices. L. J. WILKINSON.

Did Not Give Permission.

Concerning the cases brought against him before Justice Bierstein for false arrest and imprisonment, extortion and misdemeanor in office, Chief Burgess Burns wants it understood that he did not give the complainants permission to hold the wedding celebration, as they allege, but to the contrary warned them not to hold it, as the police would make arrests if any disturbance was created.

Do Not Fail to Try It.

"Twixt business and prosperity There is a missing link. Its name is appetizing. Its organ—Columbia drink.

To-night's Concert.

Edmond Remenyi, the noted violinist; Miss Pauline Stein, soprano soloist; Miss Louise Roman, pianist; and Mr. Eugene Davis, baritone, who will appear in Ferguson's theatre this evening, under the auspices of the P. M. church, arrived here this afternoon from Ashland, where they were greeted by a large audience and the concert was a grand success.
