To see artistic features, the ladies never fail to admire our stock of fancy goods. The latest that we have added to our stock is a lot of Satin-Face, All-Silk Ribbons, in three widths at the one price of 23 CENTS PER YARD, 3-8, 3-5-4 and 4-5 inches wide, in several shadings. No more to be had at this figure. The low prices at which we offered the past few days, CHEMISE TABLE COVERS caused our stock to be sold out. We received this morning another stock of the same goods which we will sell at a reduced price from our former.

4-4 for 36 Cents.
6-4 for 75 Cents.
8-4 for $1.73.
Call quick, as we will not have any more at these prices.

For a good photograph go to Billinger Bros., West Lloyd street.

The Village Record, published at West Chester by H. C. Boyer, formerly of the Herald, comes to our table this week enlarged in size and otherwise greatly improved.

For comfortable, perfect fitting men's, ladies' or children's footwear, you want to go to Womer's, on North Main street, the most popular priced shoe store in town.

Ashland editors are quite excusable when indulging in gushing sentiment over the late trip as the Record man does. Ashland needed it, (the rain) worse than any town in the county.

Phillip Bachman and Joseph M. Rittenhouse, of this city, are now located at Shenandoah. They have charge of Philip Stanton's new silk market at that place.—Hazelton Standard.

Col. Heath, ex-chairman of the Philadelphia Fire Underwriters, and well known in this county, was presented with a handsome mahogany engraved clock by the corporate underwriters of that city.

On the charge of having threatened to shoot E. L. Kalakoskie, editor of the Shamokin Polish paper, Rev. Samuel E. Ballas, in charge of the Shamokin Lithuanian congregation, was held in heavy bail yesterday for court. The priest claims that Kalakoskie wrote articles that reflected on his character.

Liquidated the Debt.

Some time ago a Polish resident of Brownsville bought the house at that place occupied by James Doyle, who moved to Philadelphia. About three months ago the purchaser died leaving his family indebted to one Joe Grutisla, from whom the money had been borrowed to buy the house. The widow was very much worried lest she would not be able to retain the property, but to-day put an end to her uneasiness, as she married the man who advanced the money and immediately after the ceremony the bride and groomsmen and bridal party had their photographs taken to commemorate the cancellation of the debt.

Do You Want Money?

Best Known of America's Writers

M. Quad, the Detroit Free Press Man, Made Well by Paine's Celery Compound.

Mr. Charles B. Lewis is more familiarly known to the thousands whose life he has cheered as M. Quad. It must be more than a score of years since the country was laughing over the sayings of his Honor and Bijah, chronicled by Mr. Lewis to the Detroit Free Press. From that time until now M. Quad has delighted the public with unnumbered quaint sketches of character, overflowing with a humor that appealed to readers all the more strongly because they recognized the fidelity to life under the fun. Among Mr. Lewis' recent creations the Bowers, Brother Gardner, Mrs. Gallup's Tribulations, Possum Sketches, and the Arizona Kicker are destined to long life. Mr. Lewis' admirers will be surprised to learn that, like Walter Scott, Mark Twain and other highly gifted authors, he has produced work of rare quality while tormented by pain.

Mr. Lewis suffered intensely from rheumatism. "It made my days and nights miserable," he says, "and, of course, the agony was greater in bad weather. At the same time my nerves were weak, and I was in worse shape than I hope ever to be in again. Yes, I took advice by the yard and medicine by the quart with no success. I was broken in spirit and bent almost double in the body, when somebody suggested Paine's celery compound for the nervousness. That remedy made short work of the nervousness and of the rheumatism, too. A few doses made me feel much better, and to-day I am well; a happy change that I attribute to the use of Paine's celery compound. It gives me sincere pleasure to bear witness on the merits of the compound. I know at least a dozen authors and journalists who have found it a remedy for the same complaints."

Rheumatism attacks the body when it is tired out, and when its functions begin to act sluggishly. Disordered nerves, faulty digestion, and a slow, incomplete nutrition of the body invite rheumatism. Just as they do neuralgia and nervous debility. There is no surer starting point for rheumatism than a "run-down," nerveless condition.

Paine's celery compound increases the appetite by giving a healthy tone to the stomach; it makes sure that the entire nervous system gets completely nourished. It regulates the bowels and the kidneys and encourages them to get rid of harmful and poisonous matter that the sluggish system has allowed to lodge in the blood, thus causing rheumatism and kindred disorders.

You cannot cure rheumatism by outward applications. The disease is due to internal disorder and must be constitutionally attacked and got rid of. Paine's celery compound has done for thousands of other people exactly what it did for Mr. Lewis. They were sufferers as he was, and the compound has made them well.

The warmest praises of Paine's celery compound are from men and women of high character and keen intelligence. They know they are doing a work of humanity and mercy in commending to all persons out of health this certain and speedy means of getting strong and well.
