CORPORATE INFLUENCE.

In commenting upon our suggestion of adopting the Crawford county system of nominating candidates in Schuylkill, our esteemed contemporary, the Philadelphia Press, says it would be more of an improvement if corporation influences were -climinated.

The editor of the Press inservidently taken seriously the rantings of some of our disgruntled local newspapers and politicians, are manufactured daily. who manage to get on the wrong side of questions which agitate the party in this county accasionally. They must put the blame for their defeats on somebody or something, and as corporations are very useful in such contingencies they generally throw the responsibilities upon these soulless bodies. knowing nebody connected with them will waste time contradicting their wild statements.

Our usually authentic and reliable contemporary ought to know better than to take the mutterings of the "boodle" ergans and statements of our disgruntled politicians so seriously. The people of Schuylkill are so accustomed to them, that they pay little attention to these periodical howls. When corporate influence is not put forth as the motive power that brought about their defeat, the people are surprised and think there is something wrong. We would, therefore, advise our contemporary not to take these mutterings of "wolf" so seriously.

Were such the case-that large corporations control the politics of the laboring classes of this county-we would heartily second any effort to counteract such illegal and un-
