THE SCORE FORTY-SIX TO TWO.

A Game Devoid of Roughness and Replete with Brilliant Plays—Cornell Defeated Through Weak Defense and Still Weaker Interference.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—The University of Pennsylvania football eleven yesterday afternoon defeated the Cornell team by a score of 46 to 2, thus winding up the football season with a clean record of victories to her credit.

Two touchdowns and a goal from the field in the first half, and four touchdowns and a goal from the field in the second half was the record of the red and blue, while the Ithaca boys were able to make but two points during the entire game, and this was due to Brooke's inexorable fumble.

Devoid of roughness, replete with brilliancy, it was just such a game as the football enthusiast thoroughly enjoys. Strategic play, scientific punts and brilliant all round interference were the features of Pennsylvania's game. Cornell's defeat can be summed up in very few words—weak defense and still weaker interference. That the team, with the exception of Captain Weykoff, were in the pink of condition there can be no doubt, but they were lamentably weak, and an exchange of kicks between the two teams was always good for ten to twenty yards gain for the Pennsylvania team.

There was considerable fumbling, which can be partly accounted for by the slippery condition of the ball. Woodruff's fumble, when he had carried the ball over the Cornell goal line, cost Pennsylvania the loss of a touchdown, and Brooke's fumble of Williams' pass gave the Ithaca boys their only points.

At no time during the entire game was Pennsylvania's goal in danger, the play being in Cornell's territory nearly all the time.

Cornell's eleven was weak, but there were individual players on the team who covered themselves with glory. Beacham at left halfback, Fitch at left tackle and Sweetland at right tackle played brilliantly, as did also Captain Weykoff, considering his condition.

During the first half Beacham was used at every opportunity, and he generally managed to gain from two to five yards before being thrown. But the strain was too much for him, and he was entrusted with the ball but comparatively little in the second half.

Cornell's gains were made through left tackle, and an occasional advance through the center, while Pennsylvania made her gains at almost any point which the team would strike.

Every man on the red and blue eleven played as though his life depended upon the game, and all acquitted themselves nobly. Brooke made one forty-five yard run and also a seventy-five yard run, but in the latter the ball was brought back and given to Cornell for holding. Minds also made one run of forty-five yards, and Gilbert carried the ball forty yards through the entire Cornell team before being caught from behind by Tausig. Farrar, at right tackle, played his best game of the season. Time and again did he break through and throw the Cornell men, frequently for a loss. Woodruff, Minds, Gilbert, Williams and Brooke also played brilliantly.

The teams lined up as follows:

Pennsylvania Positions. Cornell, Gilbert.....Left End.....Lyle Wagonhorst.....Left Tackle.....Fitch Woodruff.....Left Guard.....Freeman Bull.....Center.....Schock Wharton.....Right Guard.....Rogers Farrar.....Right Tackle.....Sweetland Dietz.....Right End.....Tausig Williams.....Quarterback.....Weykoff Blair.....Left Halfback.....Beacham Minds.....Right Halfback.....Cool Starbuck Brooke.....Fullback.....Ritchie Young Touchdowns—Minds, 4; Dickinson, 2; Brooke, 6. Goals from field—Brooke, 2. Referee, Laurie Bliss of Yale. Umpire, Paul Dashiell of Lehigh. Linesmen—Marshall Newell of Harvard, Dr. Charles Schoof of Pennsylvania. Time, two 35-minute halves.

Boston and Chicago Tied.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Chicago, 4; Boston, 4 is the way the score stood at the end of the football game played between the athletic clubs of the two towns yesterday. And it was a great game. According to the experts it was strength against science. Boston, of course, possessed the science and Chicago the strength, and at the end of two hours' hard playing, with strength pitted against science, the result was a tie. Fully 4,000 enthusiasts, men and women, went to see the game. What the crowd lacked in numbers it made up in enthusiasm, and every brilliant play, and every score many of them, were cheered to the echo. No one was injured in the game, notwithstanding it was a hard fought one.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Mayor Strong has just returned to this city from Atlanta, where he has been attending the exposition. In an interview he said: "I think for a town of only a hundred thousand population Atlanta has made and is making a wonderful showing. So far as it goes the exposition is fully equal to the Columbian exposition. I am inclined to think that the southern public spirit, as shown by this fair, outstrips even the public spirit of the great north-west."

Remarried His Divorced Wife.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 26.—Jacob E. Benson, a farmer of Fowlesburg, this county, was remarried yesterday to Mrs. Rachel Ann Benson, his former wife, who secured a divorce from him about a year ago. The parties to the wedding are about 90 years old, and have a daughter, who has lived with her father during the separation.

Contractor Dakin of Syracuse Tells of the Final Success of a Big Undertaking.

(From the Syracuse [N. Y.] Post.)

Mr. George Dakin is a well-known contractor and resident of Syracuse, and a representative business man of that city. Our representative found him overseeing the sewer work at the Arsenal, and in the following interview he describes how he has finally completed the biggest contract he has ever undertaken.

"Mr. Dakin, doesn't your business expose you to many unhealthy conditions?"

"Yes, I am continually catching cold. Does it affect your general health?"

"It has brought on kidney disorders. Have you been troubled from that source any length of time?"

"I think it started during the war, in which I took an active part, and every cold I catch has aggravated it."

"What were the symptoms?"

"Lame back and trouble with the kidney organism. I have doctored for years and used all kinds of remedies I heard of, without relief. My case is as follows:"

"Some little time ago I was in a very bad condition, hardly able to hobble around; I had been in Madison County looking after a contract there for the State; I got very wet, and, as usual, was laid up. I was simply twisted way around and doubled up on one side; when I attempted to stand up it seemed as though I would tear out one of my kidneys; while in this condition I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised. Being almost desperate, I was willing to try anything for relief. I began using them, and the result was truly wonderful. I feel as young as a boy, and it is the first time in many years that I have been perfectly free from pain in the small of my back. All urinary troubles gone. I am perfectly well, and no traces of my former trouble remain. I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

Resume of the Work of the State Constitutional Convention.

THE NEW ARTICLE ON SUFFRAGE.

It is So Constructed That It May Not Run the Gauntlet of the Federal Courts If Brought to a Test—To Increase the School Fund.

COLUMBIA, Nov. 26.—South Carolina's constitutional convention will adjourn sine die next Tuesday. All the work of the convention has now been completed except that of final revision of the changes made in the constitution, which is in the hands of a committee. The body has been in session continuously, with the exception of a ten days' recess, since Sept. 10.

The new constitution will be different in many respects from the one it will supersede. The most important change will be in the suffrage article. In round numbers there are 140,000 adult male negroes and 100,000 adult male whites in South Carolina. The present constitution of South Carolina was adopted in 1868, and was framed by a convention composed mostly of recently liberated slaves and dominated by northerners who came into the state at the close of the war. It was patterned after those of Massachusetts and Ohio.

The greatest objection to it was against the suffrage article, which bestowed the franchise on all male citizens of the age of 21 years and upwards not laboring under certain disabilities named. Some of the most intelligent negro members of the convention of 1868 were opposed to universal suffrage, and wanted an educational qualification imposed, which would have prevented a vast majority of the members of their own race from voting.

The present constitution provides a natural negro majority of 40,000, which has been overcome by an ingenious registration law and the box ballot law, which required each voter to be voted for in a separate box, the voter being compelled to select the proper box. The leading men of the state have always recognized that there was a possibility of one or the other or both of them being overturned in the federal courts. This possibility induced them to advocate the calling of a convention for the purpose of framing a constitution permitting such qualification of the suffrage as would insure the maintenance of white supremacy.

There was great objection to the calling of the convention from the illiterate whites and their friends. There are about 15,000 illiterate white adult males in this state. The convention could never have been called had not promise been given that these men would be taken care of. How to cut down the negro majority and preserve the vote of the white man, and do it in such a way as to run the gauntlet of the federal courts was the difficult problem which engaged the attention of the convention, in which there are only six negroes.

Senator Tillman, who led the fight for the calling of the convention, was made chairman of the suffrage committee. The suffrage article of the new constitution provides for an alternative educational or property qualification for voters. Any man who can read or write, or who pays taxes on $500 worth of property, has the right to vote. Had the convention stopped there, the illiterate whites would have been disfranchised. They are provided for in a clause which says that anyone who cannot vote under either a property or educational qualification shall be given a vote for life if he can understand a section of the constitution when read to him by the registration officer. This understanding clause is only to be operative for two years. All males attaining their majority after 1868 must comply with the educational or property qualification in order to vote.

Under the old constitution there was a two mill tax on property and a $1 poll tax, for the benefit of the public schools in this state. The new constitution retains the $1 poll tax and increases the educational property tax to three mills. In addition the new constitution says the profits of the liquor dispensary and the penitentiary and the proceeds from the sales of abandoned lands and escheated estates shall be turned into the public school funds.

Throughout the history of South Carolina there has never been a law allowing divorces in this state, though its constitutions have been silent on that subject. In the first days of the convention a clause was put in the constitution forbidding granting divorces by any of the courts of this state, and a proposition that divorces granted in other states be recognized in this one was voted down. Last week, however, Senator Tillman secured the adoption of a clause requiring recognition of divorces granted in other states where the marriage ceremony was not performed in this state, and one of the parties was not at that time a citizen or resident of this state.

Two Bodies in the Ruins.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Fireman John Halpin yesterday discovered the bodies of two men in the ruins of the fire which occurred at the old Volks building, on the Bowery. They were found at the extreme back end of what was the stage of the theater. They were partly covered by charred wood and other debris. One of the bodies was in a sitting posture and the other was discovered in a reclining position. The head of the body of the individual found in a sitting posture was mainly visible from every part of the ruins, and it appeared surprising to those who saw it that it was not found before. Neither body has been identified.

Retaining the Smugglers.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 26.—The jail is now almost free of smugglers. One was released Wednesday night and nine yesterday. Two brothers named Power alone remain in custody, refusing to withdraw a suit recently entered against the keeper of the penitentiary for a breach of the habeas corpus act, and the government refusing to assent to their release until they sign a formal withdrawal. All who have been released have paid fines. Weeks, who was released Wednesday night, paid $50. He was a political opponent of the Whiteites.

The Convicts Were Armed.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 26.—Another shooting affray took place in the Buchanan county jail yesterday, in which James Anderson was shot and probably fatally wounded by Charles Harris. How the latter secured the weapon is a mystery. Harris was also beaten over the head with an iron bar and was badly cut with a knife. After the fight weapons of various kinds were found in the possession of the prisoners, but it is not known how they obtained possession of them.
