A DIPLOMATIST'S PLAN Let The Whole World

to Turkey.

THE SULTAN SHOULD BE DEPOSED

And Some Man Connected with the Royal Family of Russia Placed on the Throne. Said Pasha Still Under the Protection of the British Ambassador.

ROCHESTER, Dec. 7.-In an interview Andrew D. White, ex-minister to Russia, said when asked his opinion on the Turkish-Armenian question:

"There is a widespread demand in Amer ica arising from the reports of the Armenian outrages that the sultan be summarily deposed by the powers. To do this, without taking preliminary precautions would be to invite the most terrible mas sacre of the nineteenth century.

Unless prevented the sultan would cer tainly escape into Asia Minor, raise the standard of Mohammet and call the faithful to a war of extermination. The mas-sacres reported from Armenia are slight sacres reported from Armenta are slight compared with the butchery that would follow. Scarcely a Christian in the confines of Molammedanism could escape. The slaughter would be well nigh universal. The Turks never had a genius for civilization, but they are, when inspired by the fanaticism of religion, among the bravest fighters in the world.

This is my plan for the solution of the question: Let the powers depose the sultan and place on the throne some able man connected with the royal family of Russia. Then let united Europe guaran-tee absolutely the independence of such government from outside interference. Fortunately there are two men in Europe today who would suit the emergency. Primarily my choice would be the Grand Duke Alexander, who married the sister of the present czar. Alexander visited the World's fair at Chicago, and is a man of ability and liberal ideas. The other available candidate for the Turkish throne is King George, of Greece, who is an uncle of the Russian carr.

"I believe, too," continued Mr. White,
"that the European nations should be given some share of the spolls of the east in order to maintain the stability of a Turkish government, such as suggested, to protect the boundaries of the new empire, and to preserve peace and order. Let Russia, for instance, have full swing in Armenia, give Syria to France, and let England's title to Egypt be confirmed. Austria should be allowed Salonica for a Meditorranean scaport, and Italy might in return be given Treste, on the Adriatic, by

STILL PROTECTING SAID PASHA. British Ambassador Refused to Surrender

Him at the Porte's Demand. LONDON, Dec. 7.—The Constantinople correspondent of The Times says: In declining the appointment of grand vizier Said Pasha asked the sultan's permission, on the ground of bad health, to retire and live quietly abroad. This rankled in the sultan's mind and induced a paroxysm of anger, and Sald Pasha, who is neither a novice nor a coward, is persualed that the sultan would have killed him had he en-tered the Yildiz palace. The secret of the whole business is that Said is so popular and so highly esteemed that it is feared be might join the malcontent party. He has always been regarded as the most anti-English of all the official pashas.

He had been ordered by the sultan to re-side in the Yildiz palace, but he declined to do so, believing himself to be in personal danger. Consequently he availed himself of the hospitality of the British ambas-sador, Sir Philip Currio. The porte made a demand for the surrender of Said Pasha, but the British ambassador refused it, and the Turkish statesman is still under his rotection. Said Pasha's proclivities are Russian, and surprise is expressed that he did not take refuge at the Russian embassy instead of at the British embassy. It is said that the sultan questioned him as to the origin of certain seditious placards, and on his professing ignorance the sultan re-proached him with being at the head of the revolutionary movement. He has the reputation of being a most upright and Principles of LIFE INSURANCE and BUILDsingle minded minister.

COMMERCIAL DAY.

brate in New York City.

HOW WE SHOULD OBSERVE THE DAY

Dr. Channesy M. Depaw Suggests Appropriate Exercises in the Public Schools and Public Meetings in Business Centers to Celebrate the Jay Treaty.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—The arrangements are very nearly complete for the "American commerce banquet" to be held at Delmonico's on the evening of "Commercial Day." Dec. 10. Dec. 19, to commemorate the close of the first century of commercial liberty in America, as secured by the treaty negotiated with England by John Jay, of New York.

New York,

The chairman of the committee of arrangements, Mr. S. W. Fairchild, announces the following names as the speakers at the banquet: Senator William P. Frye, on "Our Merchant Marine;" Hon. Don. M. Dickinson, "American Commerce;" General Charles H. Taylor, "The American Beauty General Horney. "The American Press;" General Horace Porter, "The American Business Man."

The aim is to have no important American industry, and no section of the country without one or more representatives at this centennial celebration, and the acceptances thus far received give every as-surance of success in this direction. The celebration will be distinctively commer cial. Probably the gathering at Delmon-ico's that evening will represent, through the 300 or 400 individual components of it, a greater variety of American industry nd manufactures and a larger measure of the nation's commercial magnitude and wealth than any similar assembly in this

The reception committee consists of some of the most prominent citizens of New York, Dr. Channeey M. Depew is chairman of this committee. Speaking of the celebration Dr. Depew said today:

"The historical facts to support this movement are prognant with interest and suggestion. The close of the first century of our American commerce should not pass unnoticed, and the business men of today should bow their acknowlegiments to the valued services rendered by the patriots of a hundred years ago. I am very much pleased at the favorable comments from the newspapers in all parts of the country on my suggestion that Doc. 19 be recognized as Commercial Day. Some of the papers seem to be laboring under the misapprehension that I have made a mistake in my date. The Jay treaty was not made in a day. From the time of Jay's appointment until the ratification of the treaty by both countries a period of three years clapsed, but it was Dec. 19, 1795, that Washington expressed to congress his approval of the treaty as a whole.

Some of my correspondents have asked. What can be done on this day by the business men in celebration of these events?'
Appropriate resolutions should be passed by organized commercial bodies. It would be most appropriate for the Jay treaty to be made a subject for special exercises in the public schools on that day. The newspapers on Dec. 19 could properly have ar-ticles on the subject, for the files of our newspapers of one hundred years ago are rich with historical facts not found in the standard histories. Public meetings should be held in business centers and orators selected to talk upon American commer cial liberty and our interests generally.

"The study of the struggles of our countrymen to establish American commerce will make us better business men and better satisfied with our present condi-tion. When one stops to reflect upon the wealth of this country as compared with what it was one hundred years ago. the figures are perfectly bewildering, and such an observance of this day throughout the United States would, in my opinach to start with fresh vigor our sluggish trade. The conditions were never more favorable for such a move-
