RESUME OF A REMARKABLE CASE.

How the Killing of Miss Ging Was Traced Home to the Dashing Young Sport Through the Confession of Claus A. Blixt, the Actual Murderer.

MINNEAPOLIS, Disc. 11,-Before dawn All Skarolds, Dec. 11.—Before dawn this morning Harry Hayward was hanged at the jail in this city for the murder of Catherins Ging. Before dark last night morbid crowds had assembled in the visin-ity of the jail, and at midnight the throng produced deced backhow the date of the set numbered several hundred, though noth-ing but the gray walls of the prison were Hayward's swell dinner, the "last supper," as he profamily expressed it, was served, according to his desire, shortly after 10 o'clock last night, and he partook of it with apparent relish.

During the evening Hayward held a lengthy conversation with his attendants, and laughed and joked on the subject of and laughed and joked on the subject of his approaching execution. As Captain Saudberg was covering the windows of the jull looking into the alley Harry noticed him and shouted: "That's right. Block out the gaping crowd. There will be no visitors after 5 o'clock in the morn-ing. People wishing to see me will have to call at the morgane, as I intend to change my quarters." And he laughed as he said it. he said it.

To the newspaper men he said: would like to see the account of how this thing cause off and about my actions on the scaffold," and again he laughed as if he were going to a picule instead of to his death

Hayward spent a considerable portion of the ovening telling stories and listening to stories by others. It being his last night he was allowed quite a privilege, and was continually surrounded by friends. He was gay and jovial all the time, and gave every indication that he would go to the gallows as he would to dinner. He passed cigars around freely and talked about his great meal. The toast he proposed at his dinner was:

"Hore's to the girl who loves me and to the girls whom I love."

As a sample of his conversation the fol-lowing can be quoted: Sheriff Holmberg came into the cage and Harry sald: 'How are you, sheriff? I am as fine as silk. You and I are the chief actors to night, aren't we, sheriff?" allic:

He seemed to never think of any here-

On the evening of Dec. 3, 1894, a little W after 8 o'clock, the dead body of Miss su Catherine Ging, a well known dressmaker of this city was found lying by the side of the lonely road that skirts Lake Calhoun, one of the favored summer drives, but less used in the fall. An hour before she had taken from the Goodman stables a horse and buggy and had driven away unaccompanied. Soon after 8 o'clock her dead body was found, and at about the same time the horse came trotting into the sta-ble alone, and with no indications of having run away. At first it had been thought that there had been a fatal runnway, the battered condition of the head seeming to point that way, lait the coroner soon found a ballet wound in the back of the head, and it became a question of murder or sulchle. Harry Hayward's first appearance in the matter was at midnight on the night of the murder, when he came to police head-quarters and expressed his belief that the man had been murdered, explaining that he believed that it was the scheme of some unknown persons to "do" him out of several theusands of insurance money from policies Miss Ging had assigned to him as security for loads. VIRTUES OF ANTI-TOXINE.

Remarkably Beneficial Results in the Treatment of Diphtheria.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.-Sanitary authori-ties and bacteriologists in this city have been interested in the statements by Dr. A. R. Reynolds, formerly health commissioner of Chicago, regarding his investi-gations as to the efficacy of the anti-toxine treatment of diphtheria in Europe, and, Incidentally, Willard Parker hospital, New York.

A reporter interviewed Dr. Herman M. Biggs, director of the bacteriological laboratories, on the subject. Dr. Biggs is an enthusiast in regard to the benefits of an-ti-toxine and declares it to be a wonderful deterrent to the ravages of diphtheria. Dr. Briggs produced a lot of data and statistics which showed very clearly the mortality in the cases of diphtheria treated in the Willard Parker hospital since the introduction of the new method in November, 1894, as compared with the previous year.

The following figures speak for themselves: In 1894, treatment begun on first or second day, number of cases, 43; mor-tality 26.67. In 1805, number of cases, 108; mortality 10.69. Third day in 1894, number of cases, 120; mortality 38.61. In 1895, number of cases, 130; mortality 25-19, Fourth day and later, 1804, numer of cases, 306; mortality 35.9. In 1895, number of cases, 355; mortality 33.8.

"The use of anti-toxine was commenced in this city on Oct. 7, 1804," said Dr. Biggs. "The total number of diphtheria cases 1803-04 was 5,978, resulting in 2,073 deaths, while in 1894-05, up to Oct. 6, there were 9,879 cases, but with the use of anti-toxing the deaths registered were reduced to 2,125. The average fatality in the former year was 84.23, while during the last year, ending in October, it was only 22.66 "In our hospital, the Willard Parker, we only receive a very small per cent of diplitheria cases in this city," continued Dr. Biggs, "as you will see that out of 9,579 cases during the past year only 598 were treated at the hospital."

Miss Ging lived in the Ozark, a hand some apartment house owned by Hayward's father, and they were able to see each other. Owing to his close friendship for the woman Harry was closeted with the officers, under the direction of Mayor Eastis, for thirteen hours, and during that time was subjected to a terrible luquisition, without food or rest. His nerve was evident than then, for after twenty hours in custody he was released, the officers being unable to get anything from him that would seem to connect him in any way with the crime. The insurance money had made them suspicious. The second day after the murder came the unexpected event which led to the sointion of the mystery.

One of the best and most favorably known citizens of Minneapolis is "Elder" L. M. Stewari, a wealthy man of long resi dence in the city. He had been an attorney and was for years advisor of all members of the Hayward family. From him came a letter addressed to the county attorney, and was written only after long pondering over the relations of client and lawyer. He stated that three days before the murder he had a call from Adry A. Hayward, an older brother of Harry, who told him that Harry and Claus Blixt, engineer at the Ozark, were about to murder Miss Ging. The "cider" know that Harry often talked in ways he had no thought of act-ing, and told Adry he was being fooled, and to pay no attention to the matter. Adry had insisted that it was true, and that he fully believed the murder would occur, but he dropped the matter when told to do so, and nothing more was thought about it until the announcement afternoon Harry Ha and was arrested. Six hours later Adryt We arrested, and the next day Blixt and h fe were also ar-rested. Mrs. Blixt, JA Cer, was soon at liberty. On Sunday, L., 9, Blixt made a confession, in which he stated that the murder had been committed by Harry, and that he had simply disposed of the body for him. This was clearly false, and he finally confessed that, inspired by Harry Hayward, and for fear that Hayward would kill Mrs. Blixt (that threat being held over him) he had committed the murder. Blixt had, he said, followed Harry's in-structions in all particulars, Harry getting the girl to go with him to a point near where the murder was committed and then turning her over to Blixt, who watched his chance and shot her in the back of the head and then tumbled the body into the road where it was found. It was for this that Harry Hayward, the stalwart six footer, handsome, nervy and erratic, was convicted and sentenced to hang. Blixt was sent to the state prison for life for his share in the crime.
