VENEZUELA COMMISSION.

None of the Members Have Yet Been Selected.

DISCUSSING THE WAR RUMORS.

President Roosevelt, of the New York Police Board, Hopes There Will be No Backdown, but Others Have No Fear of Open Hostilities.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24.—Now that congress has acted upon the president's suggestions in authorizing the appointment of the Venezuelan commission to locate the boundary line between British Guiana and Venezuela, and the subject is again one for executive treatment, it is believed that Secretary Olney will formally acknowledge the receipt of Lord Salisbury's two notes and perhaps take occasion, as a matter of courtesy, formally to advise the British government of the course which this government intends to pursue, supplementing it, perhaps, by a request to be put in possession of evidence within the control of the British foreign office respecting the boundary line.

Three or four of the officers of the cabinet were engaged in conference at Inter-vais yesterday. The impression is that, in addition to talking over the financial conditions, they are interested in the personnel of the Venezuelan commission. It is believed that the president already is in communication with some of the persons whom he would be pleased to have undertake this work, but in advance of their acceptance of membership their names will not be made public, and consequently the composition of the commission is purely speculative at this time. There is no confirmation of the report that Chief Justice Fuller is to be president of the commission, while it is authoritatively announced that the name of Ex-President Harrison has not been mentioned in connection with the commission.

Representative Beach, of Ohio, today introduced a bill authorizing the president to call an international conference of American republics to meet in this city within one year from the approval of the act for formal acceptance and declaration of the Monroe doctrine as a principle of international law.

Apparently without any definite authoritative origin, the rumor has gained currency that the commission will consist of one Democrat, one Republican and a distinguished military or naval officer. Lieutenant General Schofield and Rear Admiral Walker have been mentioned in connection with this rumor, but Admiral Walker could not well serve if a salary recent law of congress which prevents officers of the government from drawing two federal salaries synchronously. This provision would not disbar General Schofield, as it expressly exempts retired officers.

DISCUSSING WAR RUMORS.

What "Prominent" Now in New York Say About It.

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—Senator Thomas H. Carter, of Montana, chairman of the Republican national committee, was at the Imperial hotel yesterday. Concerning the Venezuelan boundary dispute he said: "As I understand it, and I believe the public does, too, the commission will not be appointed to fix the boundary lines at all, but to let the American people know something about the nature of the dispute and the justice or injustice of England's claims. That commission will not settle the dispute at all, although the language of the message so indicates."

Major H. B. Gillespie, of Colorado, said he was for peace. "But if war does come," he added, "Colorado and the west will raise in a few days a million soldiers to overrun Canada. All of the young men in my state have telegraphed to the governor their desire to enlist."

General W. S. C. Wiley, who is on Governor Morton's staff, said: "I think at a moment's notice we could put 12,000 effective soldiers of the national guard in the field. That is about the fighting strength of our military force in this state. In case of war I have no doubt the retired members of the guard would join again and raise the effective fighting force to 20,000 at the least. They could be placed on a war footing at once. They are nearly all sharpshooters."

President Roosevelt, of the police board, said: "I cannot too heartily praise the admirable message of President Cleveland. He and Secretary Olney deserve the utmost credit. I am delighted that the house and senate rose to the level of the occasion and acted in a spirit of broadminded patriotism. The essence of the Monroe doctrine is that the European powers shall not be permitted to increase their territories on American soil at the expense of independent American States. I hope there will be no backdown. We should stand right up to the position we have taken."

Hon. Charles W. Foster, of Ohio, who is stopping at the Fifth Avenue hotel, said: "Mr. Cleveland's message was quite a surprise to the country. It has been pandering to British sentiment so long and his policy seemed so un-American in the dealings of the administration with other countries, that the starry way in which he takes up the Venezuelan question is as refreshing as it is pleasant to everyone. His message is patriotic through and through, and it meets with general approval. It is time that some one called John Bull to time. Things are not going to end this time as they did in 1842, when England bluffed us out of a big strip of land in the northwest."

Senator R. F. Pettigrew, of South Dakota, who is also stopping at the Fifth Avenue hotel, said: "England probably will bring the way with the Venezuelans to a settlement of the boundary dispute. And once the Venezuelans agree with the English about the line, then what we have done in the matter will seem more or less ridiculous. It will make a laughing stock of us. Why, England could invest a half million or so of dollars in Venezuela in the way of bribery or purchase money and settle the dispute in regard to the boundary line. This is more probable than a war with us."

The World publishes many cablegrams from representative men in all parts of Great Britain, in response to queries, all breathing a spirit of peace.

Why, England could invest a half million or so of dollars in Venezuela in the way of bribery or purchase money and settle the dispute in regard to the boundary line. This is more probable than a war with us."

DISCUSSING WAR RUMORS.

What "Prominent" Now in New York Say About It.

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—Senator Thomas H. Carter, of Montana, chairman of the Republican national committee, was at the Imperial hotel yesterday. Concerning the Venezuelan boundary dispute he said: "As I understand it, and I believe the public does, too, the commission will not be appointed to fix the boundary lines at all, but to let the American people know something about the nature of the dispute and the justice or injustice of England's claims. That commission will not settle the dispute at all, although the language of the message so indicates."

Major H. B. Gillespie, of Colorado, said he was for peace. "But if war does come," he added, "Colorado and the west will raise in a few days a million soldiers to overrun Canada. All of the young men in my state have telegraphed to the governor their desire to enlist."

General W. S. C. Wiley, who is on Governor Morton's staff, said: "I think at a moment's notice we could put 12,000 effective soldiers of the national guard in the field. That is about the fighting strength of our military force in this state. In case of war I have no doubt the retired members of the guard would join again and raise the effective fighting force to 20,000 at the least. They could be placed on a war footing at once. They are nearly all sharpshooters."

President Roosevelt, of the police board, said: "I cannot too heartily praise the admirable message of President Cleveland. He and Secretary Olney deserve the utmost credit. I am delighted that the house and senate rose to the level of the occasion and acted in a spirit of broadminded patriotism. The essence of the Monroe doctrine is that the European powers shall not be permitted to increase their territories on American soil at the expense of independent American States. I hope there will be no backdown. We should stand right up to the position we have taken."

Hon. Charles W. Foster, of Ohio, who is stopping at the Fifth Avenue hotel, said: "Mr. Cleveland's message was quite a surprise to the country. It has been pandering to British sentiment so long and his policy seemed so un-American in the dealings of the administration with other countries, that the starry way in which he takes up the Venezuelan question is as refreshing as it is pleasant to everyone. His message is patriotic through and through, and it meets with general approval. It is time that some one called John Bull to time. Things are not going to end this time as they did in 1842, when England bluffed us out of a big strip of land in the northwest."

Senator R. F. Pettigrew, of South Dakota, who is also stopping at the Fifth Avenue hotel, said: "England probably will bring the way with the Venezuelans to a settlement of the boundary dispute. And once the Venezuelans agree with the English about the line, then what we have done in the matter will seem more or less ridiculous. It will make a laughing stock of us. Why, England could invest a half million or so of dollars in Venezuela in the way of bribery or purchase money and settle the dispute in regard to the boundary line. This is more probable than a war with us."
