

A RARE OPPORTUNITY.

I am about to make a bona fide reduction in my stock in order to make room for another remodeling of my store and will sell at greatly reduced prices what is left of my excellent assortment of overcoats and heavy suits for men, boys and children. This is no shop-worn, old style or misfit stock, but just what I have been selling for at least double the money. To make room for necessary alterations in my store I must sacrifice the goods. Call and inspect them.

LINEWEAVER ELECTED.

Selected County Chairman by the Democratic Committee.

POTTSDALE, Jan. 18.—The meeting of the Democratic County Committee here this morning was an interesting one, and the result was a complete victory for the administration forces led by ex-Congressman James R. Kelly. Much interest has been shown by the party workers in the meeting, as the lines were closely drawn. The ex-Congressman is said to be anxious to return to Washington, and as the first step by that direction laid his plans to secure control of the county organization, which he has succeeded in doing with little opposition.

The candidates for the county chairmanship were J. A. Lineaweaver, Esq., and Dr. James W. Sallada. For the secretaryship the fight was between P. W. Doyle, of Cambria, John F. Cooney, and J. J. O'Connor, of Pottsville; F. J. Martin, of Palo Alto. The Kelly faction supported Lineaweaver for chairman, and he was elected by a majority of seventy-one votes, as follows: Lineaweaver, 100 votes; Sallada, 29.

For the secretaryship P. J. Martin was selected with 81 votes, against 21 for P. W. Doyle and 9 for John F. Cooney. Mr. Martin is at present one of the reporters on the Evening Chronicle.

After the election of chairman and secretary, the committeemen from the different representative districts organized separately and elected delegates to the state convention.

In the First district M. J. Scanlan, of Shenandoah; P. J. Ferguson, Lost Creek, and James J. Quirk, of Mahanoy City, were elected as delegates. M. J. Leahy, of Gilletton, and Thomas Haley, of Lanigan, were also candidates.

Second district—Hon John Dentz, of Ashland; M. J. Sweeney, of Butler township, and J. Hepler, of Elsworth, are the delegates chosen.

Third district—P. W. Doyle, of Cambria; Samuel Bader, Tanawana, and C. W. Zehner, West Penn township, as delegates.

Fourth district—Hon. James B. Kelly, Watson F. Shepherd, Pottsville; Edward Humbell, Pinegrove; William Goss, Schuylkill Haven; William Bressler, Branch township, as delegates.

There were no national delegates elected, contrary to expectations.

C.; William Crosswell, A. R. S.; Joseph H. Jones, R. S.; John Taylor, F. S.; Omer Martin, F.; George E. Williams, C.; Thomas Habel, F.; William Howells, I. S.; Harry Dress, O. S.; Noah Williams, John Lamblum and George Harris, trustees; David Griffiths, C.

Suit for Car Tax.

Attorneys Walters and Johns yesterday afternoon brought suit before Judge Amour in the name of the County, to recover the $170 car tax said to be due Mr. Carmel borough. The question has been in dispute for some time, the Shamokin Mt. Carmel railway company refusing to pay for more than the six cars claimed to be in actual service in conducting their schedule. The result of the litigation will be awaited with much interest by the authorities in other towns.

Arbitrators Appointed.

S. M. Enterline, Esq., Harry House and Charles Boyer have been appointed arbitrators in the suit of John J. Higgins against Seaman & Company to recover taxes due to this borough. There appears to be a dispute as to whether the property upon which the collection of taxes is sought is within the jurisdiction of the borough officials, or within the limits of the Gilletton borough.

Lehigh Valley Wreck.

Two local freight trains, on the Lehigh Valley road, collided between the two cuts near Elmwood colliery yesterday afternoon. Both engines were badly damaged, the pilot of one being torn off while the other was so badly damaged that it was hauled to Delano. George Heiser, a brakeman, had not had severely cut by being thrown against an embankment. The cause of the accident was a conflict of orders.

FIRE CHIEF A. H. RUNGE

His Restored Health Was Due to Paine's Celery Compound.

The position of chief of fire department in a big city like Minneapolis, with its acres of valuable building property, crossed by numerous railroad lines and dotted with factories where the fires are never "hacked," is one of the utmost responsibility, and can be entrusted only to a man of unquestioned character and ability.

Amos H. Runge, who has filled this responsible position for several years with so much credit to himself and to the city, was born in 1852, where he received a common school education.

What such a man as this has to say can scarcely fail to carry weight with it. "With the hope that what I say may in some way be brought to the attention of others who, like myself, have suffered without any apparent cause, I feel constrained to write a brief tale regarding an experience which I trust may never be repeated in my case.

"A few months ago, owing doubtless to the exacting nature of my duties as head of the fire department, I began to feel a sort of languor and listlessness, to disguise which I was compelled to bring into play all the strength of will I could command. The feeling grew upon me, however, and in a short time it took such possession of me that it affected my appetite and caused insomnia. I approached my meals with a feeling amounting almost to nausea, and my bed

A BRAVE ACT.

The Washington Post of the 14th inst., contains a lengthy article describing the brave act of Mrs. E. F. Crawshaw, daughter-in-law of Mrs. Mary Crawshaw, of North Jarrish street. The Post says:

"Two horses were rescued from a burning stable by the bravery of Mrs. E. F. Crawshaw, who ran into the flaming stable and forced the frightened animals out into the alley. Mrs. Crawshaw tugged at the fastenings of the door of the burning stable. Flames were darting from the windows of the hay loft overhead, and the alley was literally black with smoke, but the dozen or more men who had gathered did not even attempt to assist Mrs. Crawshaw. However, with the aid of her husband, she did manage to break the barriers. The stalls in which the two horses stood were located at least twenty feet from the doorway, and the intervening space was carpeted with flaming straw. The horses tugged at their halbers and were evidently cowed with fright.

"Just before Mrs. Crawshaw left her home she picked up a heavy overcoat. When she gained an entrance to the stable, she dashed through the flaming straw, and the overcoat followed her, and with his aid she got the horse into the alley. Picking up the overcoat, she made a second visit to the stable, and although the other horse was inclined to be fractious, she succeeded in getting him out. After the second horse was rescued, the crowd applauded and promptly volunteered to look after the animals."
