A CHERRY TREE STORY.

Evening Herald But an Oil Man Blankets It at the Start With a Watch Yarn.

"You observe this plain gold ring on my little fluger," said the man from Chl-cago, turning the circlet oil as if it were a brass nut on a screw, "It has my wife's full name engraved in the inside. Well, it is our engagement and wedding ring. My wife lost it one day when we lived near San Francisco, and, though we searched high and low, we couldn't find it. One nearly two years later, a friend of Insisted on presenting me with a small cherry tree"

"I'll take a cigar this time, please," re-marked the man from Oil City.
"I said cherry tree," continued the man from Chicago, "and I'm giving y m a true from Chloogo, "and I'm giving y m a true story. Well, this offer of my frien I was de-clined at first, but my wife insisted, say-ing that we could set it out in a particular place in the lawn. She marked the spot, and I sent for the little tree. I dug down about 14 inches where she designated, and, so help me-I turned up this ring! Low it got there we never could guess."

"There's nothing improbable about that," said the Oll City man, "unless it is the cherry tree. But did I ever tell you the story of my watch? This same watch?
—pulling out a gold hunter. "Several years ago I was drilling a well up in the Bradford district and had got down about 1,200 feet, without any sign of luck. I was looking at the hole under the derrick with something like despair one day-for we had stopped work on it. Pulling out my watch, which I carried without fastening, it suddenly slipped from my flugers and down she went, chuck into that dry The idea of adding that to my loss riled me, so I got a cylindrical tube, such as we get tests of sand with, and put some putty near the open end and let it down the hole, which it fitted neatly. My watch came up with the suction, stuck fast to the putty. It hadn't stopped running.

"Yes, and do you know we renewed work on that hole the next day and got first sand in six hours!"

"I hadn't finished about my ring," put in the Chicago man, "We had moved to Iowa, and my wife lost it again. I offered $100 reward for it, but no use. We came to Chicago, and seven year after I had left the Iowa place I received the ring through the mail from the man we had sold out to. Robbing the Bank. ROME, N. Y., Feb. 5 .- The examination of the Fort Stanwix National bank shows it to be rotten to the core. It is now stated on good authority that the bank is involved to the excent of nearly, if not quite $400,000. This amount includes a $75,000 defalcation by Cashier Barnard, who recently committed suicide. This amount will swamp the bank and throw it into the hands of a receiver.

Barnaed had not taken a vacation for the past thirty years, and the reason for this is found in the belief that he did not desire any one but himself to handle his accounts. So far as the habits of the man are concerned during the many years he resided in this city it has always been thought that he indulged in no extravagances and no speculations, and it is a matter of wonder what he has done with

It is stated that the capital stock of $150, 000, the surplus of $30,000 and the undl vided profits of $140,000 will be practically wiped out before the investigation is finished, and also that an assessment will be levied to pay the depositors dollar for fully of Cuba's Cause. Washington, Feb. 5.—The Star prints a letter sent to the editor by General Autonio Macso, through its correspondent, who is with the Cuban revolutionary army in Pinar del Rio province. General Macso denies published reports that his aid, Colonel Bermudez, had been killed, and then characterizes as ridiculous the re-ports of a rupture between himself and General Gomez. He says:

"There can be no such thing as a misunderstanding between General Gomez and myself. He is the commander in-chief, and as such his orders are as laws to me. I am but lieutenant general of the army, and as all times I am subject to his

'Aside from rules of military discipline, there is not a soldler in the Cuban army who would consider for an instant the disputing of the words or commands of Maximo Gomez. The entire army confides implicitly in his patriotism and his military ability.

The Spaniards, he writes, are humbug-ging themselves with theories to account for the fact that he and Gomez have separated, and after declining to discuss reasons for the well matured moves of the Cuban army, he continues:

"What have we accomplished by our in vasion of the province? A great deal. In the first place we drew the attention of the authorities to this end of the island, and 6,000 reinforcements under Nunez. Sanchez and my brother, Jose Maceo, were enabled to march from the eastern end of the island to the province of Havana without having a serious engagement.

"Our second advantage has been the calling of the entire Spanish fleet of cruisers, gunboats and coasters to look after the north and south shores of the western end of the island to provent the landing of expeditions. While the fleet was keep-ing a good watch between Cuba, Florida and Mexico several good expeditions landed from Jamaica and Santo Domingo, and by this time the stores they brought are safety in the hands of our friends in the

Sierra Maestra mountains. General Macco says there is no use de-nying that the insurgents have not arms for all the men anxious to join the army, but adds that a great improvement has taken place in this respect during the last two months, and closes his letter as follows

I will not venture, as you ask me, to say how long the war will last. It may be a conflict of months, or even of years; there is no telling. But this much is certain, that the red and yellow flag of Spain will never wave again in triumph over an enslaved Cuba.
