A CHARGE OF TREASON!

Presented by Congressman Barrett Against Congressman Talbert.

SENSATIONAL DAY IN THE HOUSE

Because of Utterances Regarding Secession the Massachusetts Representative Wants the South Carolina Member Censured—Resolution Committed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Interest in the debate on the free coinage substitute for the bond bill in the house was completely overshadowed yesterday by an attempt by Mr. Barrett, of Massachusetts, who created the first sensation of the house this session by offering a resolution to impeach Ambassador Bayard, to secure the passage of a resolution to censure Mr. Talbert, of South Carolina, for "treasonable and seditious utterances" in violation of his oath of allegiance as a member of congress.

The proceedings, which were highly sensational, grew out of a question of personal privilege to which Mr. Talbert arose in connection with newspaper reports of a tilt that occurred between him and Mr. Pearson, of North Carolina. Mr. Talbert said that the reports had unintentionally misrepresented what he had said, and had placed him in a position of indorsing secession.

"Impulsively," said he, "I said that South Carolina was not ashamed for the part that she took in it; that she was proud of it, and that I for one indorsed secession then. We thought we were right; I think so yet, and that under the circumstances, surrounded by the same conditions, I would do the same thing again. Now, Mr. Speaker I repeat it."

These were the words that precipitated matters. Mr. Barrett very excitedly demanded that the words be "taken down," and offered a resolution to censure the South Carolinian for treasonable and seditious utterances and for violating his oath. A scene of great confusion followed. It was evident that many Republicans were not in sympathy with Mr. Barrett's action, and even Speaker Reed, as it seemed, tried to stop his headlong course.

After much wrangling Mr. Talbert was permitted to explain, which he did with many assertions of loyalty and assertions that secession had been settled thirty years ago, and his remarks had applied to circumstances and conditions which could never occur again. The explanation was not satisfactory to Mr. Barrett, who wanted Talbert to disavow all remarks upholding secession and treason. The conservative Republicans, however, did not support him; and his resolution was sent to the committee on judiciary by a vote of 209 to 170, 137 Republicans voting with the Democrats for the motion and one Democrat, Mr. Owens, of Kentucky, against.

An arrangement was effected by which the general debate on the bond bill will close on Monday.

The appropriations committee of the senate demonstrated its ability to resist the movement which the younger and newer element of the senate has sought to inaugurate. The committee has sought to inaugurate the senate, shaping all appropriation bills save one. The proposed change, drafted by Mr. Dubois, contemplated distributing the large appropriation bills to eleven special committees. The first test came yesterday, and Mr. Allison, chairman of the committee, succeeded in having the reform resolution sent to the committee on rules until next December. The reference was without instructions, and was accepted as a victory for the appropriations committee and the conservative element of the senate. Mr. Frye, of Maine, the new president pro tempore of the senate, was sworn in and acted as presiding officer during the day, the vice president being absent.

Nearly Eight Hundred Bond Purchasers. WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Late yesterday afternoon the treasury officials completed the computation of the bids received for the new bond issue, from which it appears that the amount of the bids above that of J. P. Morgan and his associates (119,887) was $66,788,650, and that the amount which will be awarded to the syndicate, therefore, will be $33,311,350, or approximately one-third of the whole issue. The number of successful bidders is 781. The fact that two-thirds of the entire issue are found to have been at rates ranging above 110,887 is something of a surprise to all who heard the bids announced.

Anti-Prize Fighting Bill a Law. WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The Catron bill, to prevent prize fighting in the District of Columbia and territories, was signed by the president about 4:35 yesterday afternoon. The bill did not reach the White House until 4 o'clock or afterward, and in its case the usual routine was departed from and the measure taken at once to Mr. Cleveland, who, after examining its provisions, promptly attached his signature, so that from the date of signature prize fighting is a felony on all soil over which the federal government has exclusive jurisdiction. Prompt measures will be taken to see that it is not violated.

For Officers of the Senate. WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The Republican senators in caucus yesterday nominated A. J. Shaw of Spokane, Wash., for secretary of the senate; H. T. Grant of North Carolina for sergeant at arms and Alonzo Stewart of Iowa to succeed the late Captain Bassett as assistant doorkeeper. It was decided to make no change in the office of chaplain.

THE JENKINS BENEFIT.

A Large Audience in the Theatre Excellently Entertained Last Night. A full house greeted the Scanlan-Durkin Comedy Company, augmented by the Grant Band, Scheppe orchestra and Columbia Glee Club, at Ferguson's theatre last night, when a minstrel entertainment was given for the benefit of Mrs. Kate Jenkins, whose son was recently killed at the Indian Ridge colliery. It can be said without exaggeration that the entertainment was one of the best ever given by home talent and in many respects was superior to many of the regular minstrel companies that have appeared at the theatre after much bill board and other display. The first part of the bill was certainly an agreeable surprise. The stage setting was perfect and all the points that go to make up a first-class minstrel was well filled. P. Feeley and A. F. Carrell rattled the bones and Guy Keiper and George Drew tapped and twirled the tambourines, while Mr. F. Durkin took charge of the interlunary. The Scheppe orchestra occupied seats on an elevated platform to the rear of the stage, which was decorated in a very artistic manner. The vocal part of the program was excellently carried out by Messrs. P. Feeley, J. D. Jenkins, Shore and Connell, Scanlan and Gessley, Charles Gessley, E. J. Tobin, George Drew, P. J. Feeley and Master Willie Cleary. The second part embraced the nonpariel quartette, composed of Messrs. Feeley, Holvey, Hill and Stetler; Scanlan and Gessley in a silence and fun sketch, Maley and McManamin in a song and dance turn; Cadden, Carrell and Feeley in an acrobatic act, a monologue by J. D. Jenkins, statue elog dancing by Scanlan, Shore, Connell, Maley, McManamin, Cadden and Kirk, singing by the Columbia Glee Club, selections by a mandolin club composed of W. J. Scanlan, Sanford Shoemaker, J. M. Mullahy and Hypollite Lawson, and an old plantation sketch entitled, "Dancing on the Levee," as a good wind up. The audience left the theatre thoroughly pleased with the entertainment and a nice sum was made for the beneficiary. The Grant Band gave a street concert before the entertainment. It is opportune to say here that if the regular management had an orchestra like Scheppe's at the theatre the audiences would be doubled in size. Mrs. Jenkins and Messrs. P. Feeley and M. J. Dowling ask that their thanks be tendered to all who took part in and otherwise assisted the entertainment.

Obituary.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dengler, the wife of Isaac Dengler, deceased, died at the home of her son-in-law, Justice Pierce Walker, on South West street, at noon to-day. Deceased was born on September 14, 1809, in North Manheim, Schuylkill county, and was aged about 87 years. Mrs. Dengler has always been hale and hearty, but yesterday she was taken ill with a chill which suddenly turned to pneumonia, which caused her death. She was a member of the United Evangelical Association, and is survived by the following children: Justice C. W. Dengler and Mrs. Pierce Walker, of town; Mrs. Thompson, R. Sortman and George Dengler, of Cressona; and Mrs. Augusta Bracefield, of South Easton.

A FUGITIVE'S SHORT RUN!

Skipped From Scranton Yesterday and Arrested Here Last Night.

HE STOLE HIS COUSIN'S SAVINGS

An Officer Followed the Crook From the Electric City and With the Aid of Two Local Officers Made Arrest Within Two Hours.

A Scranton crook was very cleverly tracked and taken into custody in town last night through the vigilance of police authorities of the former place and the experience and tact of Constable Matt. Gibbon and Special Officer Anthony Alex, of this borough.

It appears that yesterday morning one Matt. Caminski skipped from Scranton with $80, the savings of his cousin, Charles Caminski, who at once placed the case in the hands of the police. The fugitive had made remarks a few days prior to the effect that he was desirous of securing work in the mines of this region. Officer Bryant was detailed to come to Shenandoah and make a search. He arrived here at 10 o'clock last night and sought the assistance of Gibbon and Alex. The three officers then visited many places frequented by people of Caminski's nationality and soon struck a clue that led them to the house of Anthony Kapowski, on West Coal street, where the man wanted was found treating a crowd of new acquaintances at the expense of his cousin's savings. By midnight, or within two hours after the Scranton officer's arrival in town, the fugitive was under lock and key in the lockup and at 7:30 this morning he started for Scranton in the company of Officer Bryant.

The Controller Act.

The Supreme Court yesterday heard the final argument in the Luzerne county test case brought by Controller Lloyd against the Commissioners to compel them to recognize him, having filed a bill in equity and mandamus proceeding, upon the result of which the Schuylkill Controversial case hinges. The Supreme Court has twice passed upon the Controller act, and the general impression appears to be that they will declare it unconstitutional. It is to be hoped that such will not be the case, as the people are emphatic in their desire to have such an official for their county.

Grand Ball.

The Polish and Lithuanian Club will hold a grand ball in Robbins' opera house on Wednesday evening, February 12th. Music by a first-class orchestra. 2-8-1f

Evening Pastimes.

A taffy pull was held last evening at the residence of Miss Annie Kimmel, on North Jardin street, by members of the B. F. C. Club, which is composed of a number of popular young ladies of town. There were games of various kinds and excellent music. A vote of thanks was tendered Miss Kimmel for the excellent manner in which she entertained the club.
