PROBABLE PLAN OF CAMPAIGN !

As Did His Predecessor, he Will Doubtless Eadeavor to Precipitate a "Decisive Conflict"-Calling For Reports of Subordinate Commanders

Havana, Feb. 11.—The steamer Alfonso XIII arrived hore yesterday, having on board General Valeriano Weyler, the new captain general of Cuba; Nicolau, Marquis of Toneriffe, and General's Enrique Barges, Ecrelerico Ochando, Miguel Melquiso, Marinuos Ahumada, Luia Castel-loi, Sanchez Bernal and Juan Arolas, the latter being the hero of Joio, Pallippine

eral Weyler is looked upon as likely to be the man who will restore order in Cuba, which would mean a revival of commerce and business, developments which are anxiously looked forward to by the commercial community.

General Weyler was welcomed by the city council on board the Alfonso XIII. He was presented with an address of weicome and assurance of loyalty. At 11 o'clock the captain general came ashoro and was received by General Marin and staff. The streets were pecked with people, who displayed the greatest enthusiasm. In fact, rarely has a distinguished person been received so warmly as was General

General Weyler seemed to be much pleased with his reception, and upon ar-riving at the palace formally took over the duties of the captain generalship, taking the oath of fealty over a cruciffx and upon a Bible. General Marin administered the oath of office, and soon afterwards General Weyler received the local military and civil authorities, the different corporations and the bishops and priests.

After the reception of the local military and civil authorities, corporations and Accompanying General Weyler were Captains Gelaber and Librares, who are known as "military editors." They will most likely have charge of the press cen-sorship here, and is is already rumored that there will be considerably more difficulty experienced in this connection by the correspondents in the future.

So far as the general situation is con-cerned, there is not much change. Indeed, no change of importance is expected for some days. General Weyler will first devote himself to a complete review of the devote himself to a complete review of the operations already undertaken, and he will then figure out the situation as it actually exists. For this purpose, almost immediately after taking the oath of fealty, he caused orders to be sent to all the commanders in the field to draw up promptly and forward to headquarters here complete returns of the condition of their commands, together with the state of the railroads, telegraphs and middle there. the railroads, telegraphs and public thor-oughfares and the probable location and strength of the enemy in their neighbor-

The exact plan of campaign of General Weyler is not known, but it is believed that it will be a very different one from that of Campos. He is likely to call in all the small detachments of troops which have from the first had such a weakening of the contract o effect upon the Spanish operations, and he will try to drive the insurgents into a position from which they cannot escape without a pitched battle.

The insurgents are understood to be oncentrating their forces in anticipation of having a much more difficult task be-fore them than they have had up to the present. In fact, some reports credit the insurgents with desiring the concentrate all their scattered detachments and columns into one body, and so bring the insurrection to a direct issue. If so, there ems to be no doubt that the Spanish generals will not put any obstacle in the way of the insurgent commanders. But span-lards here who are well posted on the situation say that there is no truth in the report that the insurgents will make any effort to risk a pitched battle.
