A Struggle With Prisoners.

Chief of Police Tosh and Lieutenant Lee called at a house on Poplar street late last night to arrest Mrs. Ella Schwatha for assault and battery. The woman was partly un-dressed and refused to put herself in condition to accompany the officers, ous calling, Her husband, Miloe, and one Anthony Koser interfered when the police undertook to take the woman after they had waited some time for her to get ready. The police then dropped the woman and arrested the two men for interfering with them in the discharge of their duties. While the hearag was going on before Justice Williams the fire bell rang. Policeman Lee went to the seene, while Tosh started with the two pris-oners for the lockap. At Oak street they turned upon him but he held on to them until he got to the lockup entrance, where Harry Hafner went to his insistance. Hafner shoved Schwatka into the alley leading to the lockup, while Tosh remained strug-gling on the payement outside. Tosh slipped and fell on the ice, but regained his feet and knocked Koser into the gutter. He then jumped upon and bandcaffed the man. Meanwhile Hafner was having a bout with Schwatke. The mark having a bout with Schwatks. Tosh wont to his assistance and Hafner took charge of the handenfied man.
