Discuss in all its varied forms have become as familiar to her as to the regular practitioner. Her occupation is one that taxes the strongest condition, but the fatigme of long watching and nursing at loss brought her to a bed of stekuess. Mrs. Taxlor speaks of her complaint and cure tollows: "After belag confined to my in for some time my disease assumed with a serious aspect that a doctor was used in. He pronounced my allment bright's disease of kidneys in the third degree and a very bad case. My limbs as clied up so that I could not walk across the theor, or, indeed, help myself in any way. My face bleated up and my eyes stelled so that the sight was badly impaired. This condition continued for heavily two months without any marked some as familiar to her as to the regula corly two months without any marked opprovement from the doctor's treatment, have taken quarts of buchu and juniper, aried nattery treatment, but all without a vasting benefit until I felt like finally ig up in despair. WORK OF TURKEYS' COMMISSIONS.

No Attempt to Ponish Offenders and No Suggestions for the Betterment of Conditions-The Need of Immediate Relief Becomes More Painfully Evident.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 24 .- It will be remembered that the sublime porte, soon after the massacres in this country, sent out commissioners to investigate into the recent disturbances and take measures for quieting the country. One group of com-missioners went to Ergeroum and the other entered the country at Sassoun and came to Sivas. This commission from the interior did its work very rapidly, spending only a few days in each of the principal cities on their route.

The day after their arrival they sum-moned before them a number of leading men, Moslems and Christians. These were admitted to the presence of the commis-sioners separately, first the Moslems, after wards the Christians. Report says that the commissioners said to the Moslems:

"We did not expect so much of you, but now that you have done it, never mind. Henceforth you must keep the peace."

When the Christians were admitted the commissioners received them standing, and at once began to read an address reciting the benefits the Christians had rereived during the reign of the beneficent sultan, Abdul Khan, and the perfidious conduct of the Armenians who had started newspapers and sent, men to Washington and Chicago to agitate and stir up the na-tions against their government. In conclusion the address said:

"Hereafter if either Turks or Armenians stir up trouble there will be no more imprisonments, but the death penalty will be visited upon offenders.'!

After the reading of the address Abdullah Pasha began to address the Christians in a much more violent strain. He said if the Armenians should again begin to agitate, not even the name of Armenian would be allowed to remain; they would all be blotted out. Drawing himself up to his full height and stretching out his arm like a sword, he said: "What we have gained we have gained with blood, and when we give up this morsel we will give it up with blood."

In the Harpoot vilayet the commissioners spent all their time in Mezreh, and did not even visit the city of Harpoot, which was plundered and burned, although it is only two miles from Mezreh. No questions were asked of the Christians sum-moned before them. When the commissioners had finished their speeches they dismissed them. Another fact of interest is the sending out of officials to enroll in the government lists the names of Christians who have be-come Moslems. Multitudes have been forcibly converted to Islam, having been bound or held while the rite of circum-cision was performed without their con-

The government has said that these conversions were worth nothing, and that no one would be forced to change his religion, but now government officials write these new converts, while the Turks drive them to say they are Moslems.

The carrying off of Christian girls and women, too, still continues. In the city of Palu Turks carry off girls, keep them for a few days and return them dishonored. The same is done in many other places. In one of the Arabkir villages places. In one of the Arabar villages eight girls of the place are imprisoned in Turkish harems. Their friends hear their cries, but can do nothing to help them. The destitution of the Armenians beg-gars description. Men who were wealthy in Ostober were begging for bread in No-vember. Villages were pillaged of every scrap of food and clothing. When the plunderers could find nothing more to carry off the villagers returned and sifted the dust to gather a few kernels of wheat or barley. Doors and windows were carried off. In many cases the timbers of the houses were pulled out and carried off. Everything of value which could not be carried away was broken. The utmost pains were taken to leave behind nothing of value to the owners.

And all this was done at a time when winter was so close at hand as to make it enably sure that cold and hunge would destroy those whom the sword had spared. Wherever you go you meet wan, pinched faces and people clad in scanty garments. And you know that multitudes spend the long, cold nights huddled together, with nothing to lie down upon and nothing to cover them. Of course disease sets in and carries them off.

It is estimated that there are between 80,000 and 100,000 people in extreme destitution. Europe and America are touched with compassion and funds are being gathered for the relief of the sufferers in every town and city. It is far otherwise with the Turk. He views his work with complacency and does not like to see it interfered with The government has given a little aid occasionally. In many cases the allowance is one-sixth as much as is given to a Turkish gendarme or soldier The bread given resumbles the linseed cake used in Europe and America for feeding cattle. Even this allowance is seldom continued for any length of time.

A large share of the government's appropriations for the relief of the destitute goes into the pockets of officials. More-over, the Turks are hostile to relief work and oppose it in various ways. In the city of Palu the Turks said to the Christians "If our beneficent sultan wished you to have money he is abundantly able to give it, but he has not seen fit to do so, and now you are receiving money from the English and forming an alliance with nom. We will cut you off." No Christian in Palu dares to receive or distribute relief funds. The Armenian missionaries tried to send money into Palu, and it was returned to them because no one dared to receive and distribute it.

In some of the villages tax gatherers took from the villagers the scanty pittance they had received to keep them alive. They were beaten and the money taken from thom. One poor villager said: "The rod is hard and the flesh is soft, so we gave

Miss Barton Cannot Aid Zeitounlis. CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 24.—The government objects to Miss Clara Harton, president of the American Red Cross society going to Zeitoun to distribute relief. The consuls of the powers who negotiated the peace at Zeitoun report the most terrible distress and illness there. There are 8,000 refugees in the town and an almost entire absence of beds and clothing. Many are dying of cold and starvation. There is a persistent rumor here of a fresh massacra at Urfa.

THOUSANDS OF JAIL VISITORS

Jackson and Walling Made to Pass Between Two Lines of Visitors, Most of Whom Are Women and Many of Them Bloom ing Schoolgirls.

CINCINSATI, Feb. 24.—When the head-less buly of Pearl Bryan was discovered near Fort Thomas on Feb. 1 the first feel-ing was achill of horror at the revolting devlish ingenuity of the crime. Four days later when the confessed partners in it, Scott Jackson and Alonzo Walling, not to mention the lad William Wood, were arrested, the excitement over the unspeak able atrocity became passionate, indeed at most forlows.

As one by one, day by day, the dumb witnesses of this crime, matchless for cold blooded cruelty, came to light all other passions gave way to that of venguages. Nor-did the fact of the exceptional high standing of the families of the victim and of the inventors and perpetrators of the of the inventors and perpetrators of the crime tend to relieve the tension of public indignation. They found the strong walls of the jail a welcome shelter. Now, however, the prospect of speedy punishment has allayed public impatience.

During the past week the public interest in the accused men, Jackson and Walling, has assumed a new phose. That fascination which my stery has for the masses has drawn visitors by thousands every day. drawn visitors by thousands every day. Beginning on Monday of last week the flow to the jail of currons humanity was continuous from morning till night. On last Thursday the number had grewn to 1,000; on Friday it increased to 1,500. Juiller Lew Kushman and his guards were absolutely worn out in letting the people in and out. This became so burdensome that on and after Saturday all visitors were excluded. This excitement was telling on the nerves of the two leading pris-oners. Not one visitor in a hundred cared to see the lioy, William Wood A limit was placed on the time visitors were permitted to stay. Every few min-utes the jail was cleared and a new instalment of sight-seers was admitted. Once in the corridors of the jail the visitors were arranged in two lines, forming a lane through which the two chief prisoners were led slowly, one at a time, for public inspection, like horses at an auction before a group of buyers. Both Jackson and Walling stood this ordeal while it lasted with steady nerve and firm step. Weariness and depression came to both at the close of the day, after this hurrying was over. William Wood, the boy who is charged with aiding and abetting these criminals, was an interested spectator of these exhibitions. From the balcony of his corridor which is two stories above Jackson's and Walling's floor, he could command an excellent view of the whole performance. Visitors usually simply looked at the prisoners much after the manner of viewing savage beasts at a menagerie, without speaking a word.

As to the obaracter of these visitors, the singular fact is that at least two thirds of them were women. Of these the greater were blooming young girls, with rosy cheeks and briglit eyes. Once in a while a group of matronly women call, but this is comparatively rare. Of course the most of the callers have been from Cincinnati and the neighboring towns. A highly re-spectable minority are from Indiana and more distant states. Occasionally mothers take in their little sons and daughters. Christian people who are Sunday habitues of the jail seek to talk to the prisoners on religious subjects, and meet a hearty reception.

William Wood, the mere boy entangled in the beginning of this enormous crime, has no such public distinction as that of the two chief actors in it. An Indiana visitor betrays the state from which he comes by inquiring for young Wood, and by the peculiar indignation he shows against that lad for his share in the outset of the crime. With the great mass of peo-ple Wood is not taken into consideration.

In yesterday's Enquirer Scott Jackson has a card addressed to the public in which he simply reiterates the story he has often told of his connection with this case. He exonerates himself as a principal just as he has done before, and gives the leadership in guilt to Walling. He does not throw a ray of light on the mystery. He M. M. BURKE, thinks the press has been unfair to him and makes this statement over his own signature to set the public right.
