HILL VERSUS SHERMAN!

The New York Senator Opposes the Cuban Resolutions.

THE OHIO SENATOR DETERMINED

He Insists That he Will Press For a Vote on the Resolutions at the Earliest Possible Moment, and Reiterates His Charge of "Butchery."

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Senators Sherman and Hill were the conspicuous figures in the Cuban debate in the senate yesterday, the New York senator forcibly urging the mercenary character of the pending resolutions, while Mr. Sherman upheld them with another graphic arraignment of Spain and General Weyler. It was the fourth day of the debate on the conference report, and yet there was no evidence of a near approach to a final vote, although Mr. Sherman announced that he would press for a vote at the earliest moment. The galleries continue to be greatly crowded.

Mr. Hill's opposition to the resolutions was confined to that feature which expressed the purpose of the United States to intervene to protect the legitimate interests of the United States. This, the senator declared, was an ignoble and contemptible attitude, making our commercial and money interests the basis for intervention in a great cause for freedom and humanity. Mr. Hill contemptuously read from telegrams from New York merchants urging that business would be hurt by a Spanish boycott of American goods if congress went on. The senator declared this was placing the cause of human liberty and patriotism on a very low plane, and he urged that the resolutions be defeated in order that they might be amended and the mercenary features eliminated.

Mr. Sherman's speech was mainly a re-assertion of the views he presented when the senate resolutions were adopted. He declared that war in Cuba was flagrant, and the evidences of it abundant. He insisted on his characterization of General Weyler as the "butcher," but conceded that the Spanish minister, Senor Dupuy de Lome, had the full right and the duty of controverting and explaining the statement, either in or out of the state department. In the course of his speech Mr. Sherman paid a glowing tribute to the patriotism and fidelity of President Cleveland and his readiness to uphold the country's flag.

The latter part of the day was given to the Dupont contest, Mr. Pritchard, of North Carolina, arguing in support of the claimant.

The house, after passing some bills of minor importance, entered upon the consideration of the Aldrich-Robbins contested election case from the Fifth Alabama district, with the understanding that three and a half hours' debate should be had on each side. Considerable partisan rancor was thrown into the debate. Mr. Moody of Massachusetts and Mr. Linney of North Carolina, both Republicans, were especially bitter in their denunciation of Democratic election methods in the south.

Minister Willis Coming Home.
SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—The steamship Alameda brings advice to the effect that United States Minister Willis and family will leave in April for the United States. The minister will go first to Washington and from there to his old home at Louisville. With regard to the matter of his departure Mr. Willis said: "I have been granted a sixty days' leave of absence. This is accorded every American representative of the United States every year. Heretofore I have been kept so busy that I have been unable to avail myself of the furlough. My departure from Honolulu has no political significance whatever."

THE KENTUCKY CONTEST.

Republicans Now Claim That They Will Elect St. John Boyle.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 13.—The one thing that seemed to be settled, by yesterday's doings in the joint assembly is that Kentucky will have but one representative in the United States senate from March 1, 1897, when Senator Blackburn's term expires, until at least January, 1898, when the next legislature can meet and fill the vacancy.

There was no lack of apprehension of renewed danger of an outbreak. Mayor Julian, with a force of police, cleared the rotunda of more curiously hunters, but in the cloak rooms and elsewhere were a enough men to have done much harm if the occasion had arisen. Perhaps the apprehension of difficulty tempted to produce unusual self-restraint, and so the scene ended without other turmoil than that of debate.

The newly installed Republican in the house did not qualify before the joint assembly met, and so was not a factor. The Republicans adopted the tactics of breaking the quorum, and thus brought from Lieutenant Governor Worthington the ruling that seventy members constitute a quorum necessary to elect a senator. So long as this ruling stands no election can be had except by breaking over party lines.

In discussing this ruling a prominent Republican leader said last night: "St. John Boyle will be elected United States senator. This will certainly be done before the legislature adjourns, and it may be done tomorrow. Senators Sherman and Hear and Speaker Reed have wired Mr. Boyle that since the death of Weisinger sixty-nine members constitute a quorum. The joint assembly may pass on the right of the expelled senators, James and Walton, to have their votes recorded, yet it has no right to do so. The United States senate is the only tribunal vested with that power."

Revealed by the X Rays.

BALTIMORE, March 13.—The first surgical operation at the Johns Hopkins hospital in which the Cathode rays were utilized was performed yesterday. It was the extraction of a scissor blade from a woman's hand, where it had been imbedded for twelve years. The location and position of the substance were revealed by a photograph taken with the X rays. The negatives showed exactly the location of the blade. All that was previously known was that there was some irritating substance in the hand.

ALMOST FROZEN TO DEATH.

Timely Notice to the Police Saved a Woman's Life.

THE STRANGE STORY SHE TOLD.

Claimed to Have Been Waylaid and Assaulted by Three Men Whose Names She Gave to the Police, But Would Not Allow Prosecution.

At about 12 o'clock last night, as Policeman Foltz was patrolling his beat on West Coal street, a Pole notified the officer that a woman was lying dead on the roadway near the Schuykill Traction Company's bridge, which spans the Lehigh Valley railroad at the western outskirts of the town. Foltz summoned Lee and the two officers went to the place indicated, where they found a woman almost frozen to death. Her clothing was thrown over her head, her shoes were partly off and some of her garments were found strewn along the road for a distance of a hundred yards.

The policemen carried the woman into the engine house of the Kolduoor colliery and she revived sufficiently to give her name. She said she was Mrs. Lewis Jones, of Brownsville. It was evident that she had been drinking, and she admitted it. She also stated that three young men had assaulted her and gave their names, but subsequently refused to make any formal complaint by which the police could make arrests.

Chief of Police Tosh was summoned and he secured a sleigh and team of horses by which the woman was taken to the Council Chamber. The woman's husband was also summoned and she was taken home at about one o'clock this morning. The police say that had relief been postponed but a few minutes the woman would have undoubtedly been frozen to death. Mrs. Jones is about 35 years of age and has a family.
