EVENING HERALD

MONDAY, MARCH 23, 1896.

Held for False Protonse. WILRESBARDE, Pa., March 23.-Consta-ble James Hill, of this city, was arrested and taken before United States Commis-sioner Gustav Hahn, of this city, on information of Thomas R. Clarke. Some time ago Clarke received a letter from Hill through the mail ordering merchandise, said letter saying that Hill & Connell was the name of a firm of produce mer-chants in this city. He later found the firm was a fictitious one, and that he could not collect his money. A number of sim-ilar cases are pending against Hill. He furnished $1,000 ball.

Mine Explosion Kills Two Men.

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 23 .- An explosion of fire damp occurred in the Ohio and Pennsylvania Coal mines at Port Royal, this county, killing Alexander McDonald, the fire boss, aged 35, and William Davis, aged 15. The mine is about 200 feet deep, and the explosion shook the earth around the mouth of the mine. It was caused by the fire boss carrying a lamp into an unused part.
