REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION. To the Republican electors of Pennsylvania: The Republicans of Pennsylvania, by their duly chosen representatives, will meet in State convention Thursday, April 23, 1908, at 10 o'clock a. m., in the opera house, city of Harrisburg.

The first state election of 1896 was held in Rhode Island, and the Republicans carried the vote by 11,000 plurality in a total vote of only about 30,000. This speaks well for Republican success in November next.

With the opening of the spring our streets and alleys should be given a general cleaning. During the winter much dirt and rubbish of various kinds accumulated, which being ground up to dust by the traffic on the streets will, if not removed, soon be blown into the houses, and about at will, by the winds, to the detriment of the health, as well as to the comfort of the community.

Ordinary people who don't buy bonds are talking more about the Bourgeois discovery than about anything else. It is the most genuinely astonishing thing in science since the invention of the phonograph.

Mr. McKim moved that Mr. Bettebridge be instructed to remain in charge of the plant, and in answer to Mr. Gable's question as to the period he reported, "For the year, if there is no objection," which created some laughter.

GENERAL CLEVERSON is playing a deep game. He knows as well as he knows how to pray that the first choice of the convention will never be nominated, for the reason that the nomination cannot be effected on the first ballot, and therefore, a second choice may be bound to carry off the prize.

There is a great deal of speculation as to who will be the successor of Senator Cameron when that gentleman's term expires and many prominent Republicans are mentioned for the place.

It is rather early yet to make any definite calculations of the strength of either, but we are of the opinion that when the contest is on in earnest the Hon. Boies Penrose will be found in the race, and, if we are not greatly mistaken, will be the man selected.

This trait was brought out very strongly in his advocacy of the investigation of the working of the Ballist bill in Philadelphia, occasioned by the flagrant abuse of authority by the Combine which has thriven so well in Philadelphia in the past for years as to render them arrogant and dictatorial in matters relating to the state at large.

his fellow citizens. Philadelphia, too, has not had a Senator for many years and is justly entitled to this recognition of one of her gifted sons, and we know of no one who would grace the position better than State Senator Boies Penrose.

ROCK and Dress Goods. We have opened this week a special line of silk, plain and figured, prices ranging from 25c, 30c, 35c and upward.

DEADLOCK IN COUNCIL. Failed to Elect a Water Superintendent on Sixteen Ballots.

The Borough Council is in deadlock and as a result the town is left without a water superintendent. The term of Oscar Bettebridge expired last night and in accordance with the ordinance governing the public water works, which provides that the water superintendent shall be elected annually at the first regular meeting of the Borough Council in April, an attempt was made to elect his successor last night, but failed after a battle of ballots had been waged for over two hours.

The position is this: Seven members of Council want A. B. Lamb elected as superintendent, seven want to retain Oscar Bettebridge and the fifteenth man, Councilman A. D. Gable, insists that his brother, Philip H. Gable, shall be elected to fill the office.

When President James declared the nomination in order D. H. James named A. B. Lamb, Mr. Gable presented the name of his brother, P. H. Gable and Mr. Coakley put in the name Oscar Bettebridge.

Voting was done by roll call and the result was: Lamb, 7 votes; Gable, 1; Bettebridge, 7. The President declared there was no election and ordered another ballot. Seven more were taken with the same result and the President ordered a recess to give the members a chance to confer with each other and see whether some conclusion could be reached.

Under the claim that it was mandatory for Council to elect a superintendent at the meeting and Mr. Gable said that the regular meeting should have been held on Thursday night, President James said the postponement to last night was by consent of a majority of the Councilmen.

Mr. Gable moved as an amendment that Mr. Bettebridge remain in the office until Council elect his successor.

Under the claim that it was mandatory for Council to elect at the meeting the President did not entertain the motion.

Mr. Reese took the floor and wanted to know why Mr. Gable didn't "come right out and vote for the man he wants elected."

Finally Mr. Boehm moved that Council adjourn, and it did at about the moment the alarm clocks sounded the hour of 12.

The Councilmen who voted for Mr. Lamb were Messrs. T. J. James, McElroy, Boehm, Magrath, D. H. James, Stutzman and Reese. Mr. Bettebridge was supported by Messrs. McKim, Lilly, Coakley, Engler, Kerns, Hand and Murphy.

Mr. Boehm said Council gave a grade for East Apple alley last year, but the people brought trouble on themselves by persistently throwing ashes on the alley and thus diverting the channels of waste water and dirt.

Mr. Straughn, of the Finance Committee, read the following list of appropriations for the fiscal year: Due from M. J. Scanlan, $10,119 11; County Treasurer, $5,200 20; Water rent, $14,000 00; Chief Burgess, $50 00.

Highly Recommended. WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Sept. 13, 1905. Prof. S. I. Wood is well known to me and I consider him an expert accountant, possessing exceptional ability and worthy of utmost confidence.

Patrick Canfield, of North Chestnut street, was recommended for exoneration from taxes by Mr. Hand and Mr. Kerns recommended David Mathias, of Polkie Run.

The Borough Auditors presented their printed report for the fiscal year ending February 29th, 1908. Mr. Reese, of the Fire Apparatus Committee, recommended the purchase of hose for the Columbia and Phoenix fire companies, 300 feet for each, and on motion of Mr. Coakley the committee was instructed to procure bids.

Plunged Four Stories to Death. PHILADELPHIA, April 4.—Thomas Wharton, Sunday editor of the Philadelphia Times, fell or jumped from a fourth story window of the house in which he lived early in the morning, and was instantly killed. It is generally believed that he committed suicide. He was 30 years old. He was a frequent contributor to magazines. He wrote several novels, the best known of which are "A Latter Day Saint" and "Hannibal of New York." He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, and the honorary degree of A. M. had been conferred upon him.

Through His Nervine Is a Benefactor to Thousands.

WIDELY known Wisconsin publisher who resides at Green Bay, Wis., writes March 24, 1895, as follows: "Five years ago I became so nervous that mental work was a burden. I could not get to sleep, and I was constantly nervous. Attention was called to Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, and I commenced to use it with the very best effect. Since then I have kept a bottle in my house and use it whenever my nerves become unstrung, with always the same good results. My son also takes it for nervousness with like success. I have recommended it to many and it cures them. All who suffer from nerve troubles should try it. It is free from narcotics, perfectly harmless, and yet soothing and strengthening. Dr. Miles, through his Nervine is a benefactor to thousands." A. C. LEHMAN, Editor and proprietor of DER LANDSMAN, Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold on guarantee first bottle will benefit or money refunded.
