R. F. GILL.
Was Too Zealous.
 Chief Burgess Burns this morning revoked the appointment of Joe Anderson, a Lithuanian, as a special officer, on the ground that the officer was too zealous and exceeded his authority. The Burgess says he made the appointment upon the application of Tax Collector Scanlan, who found Anderson a valuable assistant, but as soon as he was clothed with authority Anderson commenced making numerous arrests, and frequently on the most trivial grounds. The first night of his appointment the officer put three men in the lockup and last night he had five men charged with fighting. Anderson bought his own star and put his own locks on the cells when he put in prisoners and in this way became a source of annoyance to the regular police and constables.

The School Census.
 While the Commissioners of several counties are quibbling about the payment of assessors for taking a census of school children, as provided by the Compulsory Education Act, until the liabilities for such payment has been determined by judicial opinion, the Commissioners of Schuylkill county will have the school census taken and will pay the assessors for the work. This work will be done next month, the Commissioners having provided the necessary books for the purpose. The Schuylkill county Commissioners, after learning that several counties were not making any preparations to have a census taken until the question of pay was settled, asked County Solicitor Ulrich for an opinion on the matter. He informs the Commissioners that the county is liable for the pay of assessors in making the list of school children, according to the provisions of the act of 1895.

Dr. Stafford's Lecture.
 A lecture is something out of the ordinary line of attractions at theatres in this section of the country, but Manager Ferguson will give the people of this town the best that can be had in this line, and in securing Dr. Stafford for April 14th he has secured one of the finest orators now lecturing before the American public. Those who have been reading the Washington and Baltimore papers are well acquainted with what the people of those cities think of him as at the cathedral, in Baltimore, where he has been speaking during Lent, the crowds that Baltimore has ever had for a lecturer or speaker. This in itself speaks volumes for Dr. Stafford. Prices 25, 35 and 50 cents. At Ferguson's theatre, April 14th. Reserved seats on sale now at Kirlin's drug store.

Mum's Champagne, 5 year old Hennesville Whiskey, Russian, Sheet's and Cherry Bitters, Cognac, Brandy, Cigars, etc., for sale at first cost. At Scheiffy House.

The Coal Trade.
 The general coal market is reported quiet from all parts of the country just at present and is likely to continue so for some time to come. It is yet too early to hear much of any new business going on, and the bid is so entirely one of shreds and patches, as it were, that it does not amount to much. There is somewhat of good to the coal men in the continued climatic conditions of such character as to burn up fuel, and this ought to put the market in good shape as soon as the season does open, for it means less of stock on hand. The Anthracite operators are keeping the output down sufficiently to prevent any such return to unprofitable prices such as we had a year ago, and if they will but keep to this idea they will be able to show a balance on the right side this year. As it is, there is plenty of coal to meet any and all requirements, and at prices that are low when the quality of the coal is considered.—Saward's Coal Trade Journal.

Champagnes, Charet and Blackberry, wines, whiskies, gins, brandies, bitters, etc., at wholesale prices to close out stock. At Scheiffy House.

Secured the Mansion House.
 From Mahanoy City American
 Everybody will be pleased to know that Mr. Thomas F. Gorman has secured the services of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burchill to assist him in the management of the Mansion House. Mr. and Mrs. Burchill needs no introduction to our people or the traveling public. We predict a glorious future for this favorite house under its new management.
