THE COAL INDUSTRY.

Creation of a Mining Bureau Suggested by State Officials. In his annual report submitting the state-ments of the eight anthracite and ten bi-tuminous cost inspectors for the past year, the Secretary of Internal Affairs suggests legislation clothing that official with additional powers so far as the supervision of mine inspectors is concerned, or the creation of a mining bureau in connection with the Department of Internal Affairs, at the head of which should be a chief with qualifications to exercise proper control of mine

The number of tons of authracite coal produced in the eight districts of Pennsylvania last year was 50,847,104, an increase over that of the previous year that of 5,-340,025. The number of employes in the anthracite mines was 143,605, an increase of antonactic mines was accidents decreased from 439 to 420; and the non-fatal accidents in-creased from 919 to 1,075. The Secretary of Miternal Affairs says the conditions surround-ing the mining of anthracite coal are less hazardous than formerly, on account of the improved methods introduced, and the required safety appliances and other apparatus

A Choice at Hand.

At about eight o'clock last night one in search of local scenes of a cosmopolitan character could have had his appetite appeased in the neighborhood of the corner of Main and Centre streets. A little west of the corner, on Centre street, was the Salvathe corner, on Centre street, was the Sava-tion Army corps; on Main street, just south of Centre, the American Voluntoers held forth, and at the northeast corner was a band of Italians playing upon several instru-ments. Add to this the speeding of bicycles up and down Main street, the coarse shorts of a dime museum barker and the ringing of the electric car bells, and then bunt up a nearer approach to a scene on "the Bowery.

The Horse Killing.

EDITOR EVENING HERALD:-Your state ment fin last night's issue concerning the killing of the horse belonging to the Reliable Hand Laundry was not sufficiently explicit. The undersigned was attempting to cross the street from below Justice Toomey's office to William Snyder's on. Centre street, and the car was coming so fast that the motorman ciaimed that he was unable to stop the cur. At no time did I lose control of the horse. I beckened for him to stop, but he was considered that he was unable to stop the cur. ing at such a rate of speed that he was unable to stop, and I almost lost my life, and the horse was killed and the wagen and harness wrecked.
