THE ELECTRICAL EXPOSITION.

The value of such a display of the enermous variety of uses to which what is generally called the electric current may be put as is made at the Grand Central Palace, in New York city, will depend, says the New York Advertiser, largely upon the interchange of Ideas that it will promote between mon who are giving their full attention to the development of the mysterious force. Of course, it is always well to interest the laity in such matters by providing romantic and sema-tional attachments, but it is easy to distract attention from the real purposes of such a demonstration. To be able to hear the roar of Niagara in New York is interesting as evidence of what human ingenuity can accomplish, but the wire that keeps a poultice warm is yastly more serviceable to the human race. The interest, in point of fact, that the vintor feels is in proportion to his knowledge of the subject. What is, perhaps, not generally known is the most important feature of the expesition. namely, that in dealing with the most subtle and most modern force in nature, the United States stands to-day where it has stood almost from its foundation-at the very head of the whence. The spirit that prompted Franklin to fly his kite has been the spirit of this nation. And not only has it developed : degree of ingennity and skill among us that leads the world, it has brought to our shores and domesticated among us some of the most brilliant intuitious that other nations have produced. CHRONOLOGICAL CHRONICAL IN WOMEN DELEGATES REMAIN

But the General Conference Does Settle the Matter Finally. CLEVELAND, May 7.—The four women telegates will retain their seats in the Methodist general conference. This was practically decided at the meeting of the committee on eligibility last night. The majority report, signed by twenty-five members of the committee, including Dr. Buckley, editor of the New York Christian Advocate, and a strong opponent of women delegates, recommends that the women delegates be permitted to occupy their seats and participate in the proceedings, and that the question of admitting women to future conferences be referred to the annual conferences for decision within the coming year. The minority report, signed by Dr. T. B. Neely, of Philadelphia, Dr. Rothweller, Dr. Graw and one other insists that the women are not eligible to seats. The majority report will doubtless be adopted with little opposition. There is much chagrin over the uninten-tional slighting of Rev. Dr. John C. Morris, of Nashville, Tenn., the representa-tive of the Methodist church south, as it is feared it may have a tendency to arouse in some quarters the old feeling of antag-onism between the two great American branches of the Methodist church. Dr. Morris arrived at noon on Monday, and was directed to the Hollenden hotel by a number of the reception committee at th depot, to whom he merely announced that he was a delegate to the conference.

None of the conference officials came to him, and he went to the armory alone in the evening. Even when he delivered his speech there no one present seemed to know that he was the official representa-tive of the Methodist church south. On Tuesday this fact became known to some of the leaders in the conference and there was a burrying and scurrying to find him. They discovered that he had quietly left the city after discharging his mission, which was to formally ask for the appointment of a commission to act with similar representatives of the Methodist church south, in consideration of the possible federation of the two branches of the denomination. An urgent invitation will be sent him to come again to the conference be fore it adjourns.
