The Delegates From That State Instructed For the Ohio Man.

HIS NOMINATION NOW PROBABLE

At Least That is the Claim Made by His Friends, Who Give Out Figures to Back Their Assertion-The New Jersey Democratic Convention.

scarcely a show of opposition. The plat-form embodying the instructions was adopted by a viva voce vote and without division, the chairman's decision that the motion to adopt had carried being received without a challenge. General Harrison did not make his eagerly expected speech to the delegates and did not visit the convention at all. The platform declares for "sound money," favors the use of both gold and silver at a parity, urges bimetallism on an international basis and condemns the free and unlimited coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1.

The following were chosen delegates at-large: R. W. Thompson of Vigo county, C. W. Fairbanks of Marion, F. M. Millikin of Henry and General Lew Wallace of Montgomery. Alternates: R. T. McDon-aid of Allen, Hiram Brownies of Grant, E. O. Hopkins of Vanderburg and George L. Knox (colored) of Marion. Electors-at-large, H. G. Thayer of Marshall and C. F. Jones of Henry.

The state ticket nominated is as follows: The state ticket nominated is as follows:
For governor, James A. Mount; lleutenant governor, H. A. Baker; secretary of state,
W. D. Owen; auditor, A. C. Dalley; treasurer, Fred J. Scholts; attorney general,
W. A. Ketcham; supreme court reporter,
Charles F. Remer; superintendent public instruction, D. M. Gesting; state statistician, S. J. Thompson.

ley forces was a surprise alike to friends and foes of the Ohioan. There was little doubt, when the convention met, that in-structions would carry, but a warm fight was expected, and a fight, too, in which General Harrison's name would figure prominently. The half accepted invitation to the ex-president to address the convention had led to the vague hope on the part of the anti-instruction people that an eleventh hour sensation would be sprung which would save the day to them. No one believed that the general would indi-cate to the slightest extent that his name might be considered, but it was persistently rumored that he might deliver an address, which, while non-committal, would cause a stampede and defeat reso-lutions. That was the great struggle of the opposition—to permit McKinley in-dersement if necessary, but to prevent in-structions at all hazards.

But General Harrison failed to appear.
As the convention preliminaries proceeded the cries for him and cheers for him were frequent and hearty, but as permane ganization was effected and committee reports proceeded his continued absence be-gan to tell on the auti-instruction delegates. When the report of the committee on resolutions, the signal for the expected battle, was called there were frantic yells of "Harrison!" "Harrison!" but the ex-president was at home, a mile away, and the fight was plainly lost.

The various planks in the platform were bonor in advance. heartily cheered, and when the instruc-tions were reached the outburst of ap-plause was tremendous. When it had subsided the motion to adopt was made and put, and, atthough there were frantic yells of "No!" for the negative, the vote was very evidently about 3 to 1 in the Ohioan's favor. There was an interval of applause sufficient satisfy the most exacting of McKinie enthusiasts, and then the delegates abcuptly settled down to the work of making a ticket, apparently itterly forgetting the Indiana presidential situation, which has been a matter of national interest for months.

The sudden wind up of what had been The sudden wind up of what had been expected to be a sensational and bitter fight was a marked feature of the day's proceedings. What its significance and what the significance of General Harrison's failure to address the delegates may be, was a matter thoroughly discussed about politicians' headquarters last night, but opinions widely differed. Some expressed the opinion that the ex-president felt that the instructions were a discerfelt that the instructions were a direct slap at him, while others declared that he had merely emphasized his previously ex-pressed desire to be considered entirely out of the presidential situation. General Harrison refused to discuss the day's proceedings in any way.

NEW JERSEY DEMOCRATS.

Delegates Go Uninstructed-The Convention Applauds Bussell's Name.

TRENTON, May 8.—The Democratic convention met here yesterday, and after a for the several districts of the county we struggle elected the four stated candidates notice that Shemandach will receive this year struggle elected the four stated candidates for delegates at large to the national convention as Chicago, as follows: United States Senator James Smith, Jr., of Essex county, ex-United States Senator Rufus Blodgett of Monmouth, ex-State Chairs man Allen L. McDermott of Hudson and ex-Judge Albert Tallman of Gloucester.

The natishle feature of the convention was transfer for the county was transfer for the convention was transfer for the convention was The notable feature of the convention was an ineffectual effort to stampede the dele gates in favor of ex-Senator Frederick Marsh, of Union county, as one of the delegates at-large against Mr. Blodgett, who was one of the four on the slate agreed upon by the party leaders in the morning. William J. Thompson had been reduced to withdraw from the contest. induced to withdraw from the contest.

McDermott has never for-given Blodgett for having accepted an election as United States senator in 1887 at the hands of a combination of Republicans and bolting Domocrats, which defeated the late Governor Abb at, the Dom-both politically and personally. The ef-fort to break the slate only resulted in throwing the convention into the wildest confusion for about ton minutes. Mr. Marsh got 418 out of 967 votes.

Mash got 41s out of 997 votes.

Ex-Judge Carros, of Camelon, was also put forward by the slate smushers as the representative of the young Democracy, but he also fell outside the breastworks.

The platform adopted declared strongly for a gold money standard and warmly in-dersed the administration of President Cleveland. The fact that Mr. Cleveland has not expressed himself as willing to accept the nomination was the only thing that prevented an effort to instruct the delegates for his renomination. The Cleveand sentiment in the convention was trong, and the effort might have proved successful had it been made. No effort was made to instruct the delegaces, but INDIANAPOLIS, May 8.—The indiana republican convention yesterday instructed its delegates for Major McKinley with much enthusiasm was evoked by the chairman's mention in his speech of the name described a show of opposition. Aside from the fight against Biodgett there was no hitch in the program as agreed upon. Ex-Speaker James J. Bergen was temporary chairman and Hon. John W. Queen, of Hudson, was primanent chairman of the convention. Both made ringing addresses, which were loudly applauded.

It opposes any effort to alter the present just and conservative tariff, favors liberal expenditures to maintain adequate coast defenses, indorses the administration of President Cleveland, and expresses sympathy with the struggling Senator Sherman Thinks It's Settled. WASHINGTON, May 8.-The news from Indianapolis was awaited with interest at the Capitol. When Indiana's action be-came known Senator Sherman said the stion was settled, and he believed Mr. question was settled, and he central median was would be unanimously nominated. The overwhelming sentiment, both north and south, was for him to such an action of the control of the cont extent that there could be no other outcome. Friends in the senate of other candidates and candidates themselves generally received the news with a grim smile, but declined as a rule to be quoted. Senator Quay said that he did not consider the fight closed until the convention should declare itself, as much would de-pend upon the contesting delegations. Senator Lodge, referring to the length of Senator Lange, receiving to the declaration, said, jokingly, that it hardly seemed "adequate." Senator Cullom smiled when he read the dispatch, but declined to make any comment, as did Mr. Manley and Senator Allison.

Michigan Republicans for McKinley.

DETROIT, May 8.—An animated fight over the money question was the most striking feature of the Michigan Republican convention yesterday. It resulted in squelching both the gold plank offered by the majority and the silver plank sub-mitted by the minority of the resolutions committee, and the substitution therefor of the money plank of the Minneapolis platform of '92. McKinley was indorsed most unequivocally, and the delegates were strongly instructed in his favor. D. M. Ferry was chosen chairman of the state central committee, but it is not certain that he will accept the post, both himself and General Alger, whose name was also presented, having declined the

Here is about the way the dif-ferent candidates stand: McKinley, 478; Reed, 100; Morton, 62; Quay, 56; Allison, 41; Bradley, 16; Cullom, 12; doubtful, 50; to be elected, 100
