The manufacturers, agents and dealers in bicycles prepared themselves for an enormous business in bicycles this year, and according to the number of new wheels to be seen, the increasing army of riders and even the greater frequency of accidents to wheelmen, they have made no mistake. The sale of bicycles last year was great and the riders could be estimated by the hundreds of thousands. Every indication points, however, to the fact that the present year's sales will exceed all former records.

A NEW way of raising church funds has been devised in the West which threatens to supersede even the strawberry festival. The church goes into the farming business. Some 50 acres of land are set apart, and the brethren bestow their services gratuitously in cultivating it. Whether this pays better than for each man to raise the products on his own farm, then sell them and give the money to the church, is not stated. Probably the brethren get more fun out of tilling the church farm. At Wayne, Neb., the attempt will be made to lift a church debt by growing and selling grain and garden vegetables.

The McKinley sockdollars which have just struck Field Marshals Platt, Quay, Clarkson and Manley stunned them for only a few hours. An important conference of these leaders will be held today and then, perhaps, the plans for holding the last line of fortifications against McKinley onslaught will be formulated. The field marshals claim to have several tricks up their sleeves. The inside official claim of the McKinley managers, so their opponents say, that he has 425 votes sure, or only 30 less than a majority. In this list are counted as certain from 80 to 100 of the contested seats. Suppose he gets 50 of these, he would be short of a majority about 100 votes. This special attention will be given to the Southern delegates. History has demonstrated that the last man generally captures them. Nearly all the Southern delegations are split or contested, and the anti-McKinley folks declare they will certainly hold a majority of them. This, of course, is to be verified by future events. Both the friends and opponents of McKinley appear to be confident of success.

HIS LAST GASP.

The recent action of President Cleveland in placing under the civil service rules 80,000 office-holders, is creating considerable comment. It is looked upon as the last gasp of Clevelandism; a display of selfishness that has permeated the present administration from the Executive down.

The New York Advertiser truthfully says that so long ago as 1887, carpet critics of the Administration of that date affected to find in the public protestations of Mr. Cleveland and his corresponding acts an illustration of the ex-Sheriff of Erie county as "the most selfish politician I ever met." The remark was not as generally understood or widely quoted as it is today, but it is worthy of note that the suspicion, instead of abating with years, has hardened into something like conviction.

The latest act of conservatism to which the President has pledged himself is the establishment of civil service reform. He has issued a mandate that places on the classified civil service list nearly 80,000 clerks and other employees, thus stripping his successors of almost all the patronage that had been in his disposal when he assumed office. There are now only a few hundred offices at the disposal of the Executive or his supporters; the rest are filled by appointees of the present or previous administrations, and vacancies hereafter can be filled only according to the "merit system."

It has taken Mr. Cleveland eleven years to appreciate the full value of civil service reform. So long as he had it in his power to fill the office at will, he limited the operation of the law in order to give himself full scope. It is only at the end of his second term that he resolves that no other President shall have the power over patronage that he possessed.

It is needless to say that the President, who by a stroke of the pen confirms some 80,000 office holders in their places for life, is likely to have their good will and support in the event of his seeking a fourth nomination. It is equally obvious that, unless his successor can induce Congress to amend the law, he will have no patronage to distribute; and that, if any candidate has been securing delegates by promises of office to the extent of 80,000, Mr. Cleveland's action is admirably calculated to shake the loyalty of his supporters.

The cold-blooded selfishness of this eleventh hour extension of the law to strengthen his own candidacy, perpetrate his own influence and thwart a rival's ample proof of the accuracy of Mr. Tilden's observation.

Apart from this revelation, however, it will probably occur to the intelligent reader that a law which confers on the Executive such amazing powers ought to be wiped off the statute books at as early a date as possible—or that portion of it, at least.

W. W. W. W.

Weak women wonder why they cannot be cured. Madam Jacobs, of the Tait Medicine Company, at No. 121 North Main street, will, during her office hours, explain free a simple home treatment which is a positive reliable cure for all diseases peculiar to women and is so simple that any lady can use it and cure herself in the privacy of her own home.

Why suffer with backache? Why be despondent? Why have a tired languid feeling when you get up in the morning? Head aches, J. Miller, of Shamokin, says about the cure:

"Five doctors treated me. I was getting worse right along. Three of them said I had a tumor and would have to go to a hospital and be operated on. I was advised to try Tait's Cure for diseases peculiar to women. After three weeks the tumorous enlargement is entirely reduced and I feel better than I have felt in years. I heartily recommend the cure to all suffering women. It is so simple that any woman can use it."

The Madam can be seen during her office hours from 9 to 12 a. m. and 2 to 5 p. m. at 121 North Main street.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

The Business Outlook as Reported by the Leading Commercial Agencies.

NEW YORK, May 9.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: That exports of $5,500,000 gold this week have produced no monetary disturbance is at once proof of the soundness of financial conditions and of the prevailing confidence in better things to come.

Much of the hesitation at present is due to temporarily reduced demand in some industries, and in iron and steel the power of the new combination is being generally tested by recessed orders, so that production exceeds consumption, but consumption exceeds new buying. The general irregularity of prices and slackness of demand for finished products do not prevent the marking up of prices by combinations, but are largely due to doubt whether such prices as fixed can be maintained.

Bradstreet's review says: Relatively unfavorable status of the general business situation this week include unseasonably cool weather, which at some centers has checked trade; continued surplus stocks of cottons, which depress prices; dullness and idle machinery in the woolen goods industry; a falling off in demand for lumber at St. Louis and Minneapolis, and continued dullness in iron and steel, where, although mills and furnaces are fairly active, there is a continued absence of new orders. The favorable side of the picture includes a marked increase in the total volume of bank clearings, a longer list of staples for which quotations have advanced, almost uniform and unexpectedly improved prospects for cereal and cotton crops, and a reflection of the more confident feeling as to the autumn's business in an improved demand throughout the territory supplied by St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Duluth and Sioux Falls.

There are 207 business failures reported throughout the United States this week, as compared with 254 last week, 224 in the week one year ago, 198 in the first week of May, 1894, and as compared with 219 in the corresponding week of 1903. There are 38 business failures reported from the Dominion of Canada this week, against 35 last week, 37 in the week one year ago and 30 two years ago.
