MR. GLAISTONE is under pledge to his physicians never to make another speech. What a pity some American statesmen cannot catch his sense.

SOME one has ventured to say that people eat twenty per cent. more food in cold weather than when it is warm. This may be so for all we know, but it seems directly opposite to those who observe the big baskets of good things that are carried away during the summer season.

The anti-McKinley managers assert with positiveness that the friends of gold will control the convention by a large majority. Reed, Quay, Allison and Morton have all declared for a single standard, and their followers are making their campaign on that line. McKinley, on the other hand, has positively refused to discuss the financial question since his canvass began. His managers have announced him as a free silver advocate in free silver strongholds, and as a gold bug where none but gold delegates were to be chosen. Prominent men assert that McKinley's refusal to talk on the financial question will ultimately defeat him for the nomination. The fight for the Republican presidential nomination is not yet won.

THE 21th of May is near at hand and "God Save the Queen" will resound around the world with more than its usual significance and perhaps with a note of anxiety in it, for the good Victoria, in passing her seventy-seventh milestone, marks the completion of a long stage of a journey the period of whose completion no man can fix. But this somber reflection is persistently crowded out of the thoughts of her people, who, on this festival day, wherever they may be, give vent to their gladness that she is yet spared, to reign over them. The boom of cannon, the chime of bells, the shouts and hurrahs, the waving of flags, the parades, the reviews, the feasts and all the other joyful demonstrations that enliven this gala day wherever Great Britain's colors float are but transitory symbols of the deep reverence and love that bind to this gentle sovereign her poorest and humblest subjects. Queen Victoria is unquestionably the best known woman in the world, and her reign has been longer than that of any other living sovereign. Her career has been remarkable in many ways, although it has been the most part singularly plain.

ARMY Posts of the county, in all corners throughout the county, for Decoration Day, the day to keep fresh the memories of our heroes, to preserve in tact the things that they have done, to resolve, in the words of our honored dead we devote to that cause for which they have given the last full measure of their lives. We here fully resolve that should no hero die in vain—that nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth. Watkin Waters Post, of town, should receive every encouragement from our citizens to the end that the services attending the observance of the day this year may be joined in by all, bringing us into sympathetic harmony. Tender feelings mingling with pride and a loyal sense of gratitude inspire a lofty state of mind, and to these no man should so readily selfish should be insensible on a day set apart as a memorial of patriotic valor and devoted unselfishness, and of life surrounded by the country's weal. While the veterans live let it not be forgotten that equally with the dead they share the honor and glory of the struggle of '61 to '65. All honor to the boys who wore the blue, whether living or dead.

PURCHASERS of bicycles are beginning to find out that although the first cost of a wheel is not a killing matter, the subsequent needed repairs put up an aggregate cost that taxes the pocket very heavily, especially with such roads as we have in this vicinity. The bicycle is constantly wearing out its pneumatic tires, and is very apt to need repairs which require skilled workers to make, and which, consequently, are expensive. But all such a faultless in wheel riding that overcomes all other considerations, and keeps up at fever heat the prevalent excitement. There is not a small boy in Shenandoah whose gaze is not longingly directed either towards the handsome wheels expeditious for sale in the show windows, or at those ridden by lumpy owners. There is not a lad of 10 who would not be willing to trade his hat and coat in order to become the possessor of one of the silent carriages. But like all other luxuries, they cannot be enjoyed by all. There must always be some who are excluded from the enjoyment of them. In this case the small boy is largely the excluded party, as father and mother and big brother and sister all have the fever, and must be first accommodated. The small boy's turn will come one of these days. He will fall heir to a discarded wheel and will practice with it until better fortune comes along and he becomes the proud owner of a "Columbia," an "Apollo," or some other of the forthrightly named ones, with which the market is so abnormally filled. All things come to those who wait.

Base Ball Yesterday.

The base ball game yesterday afternoon on the Columbus grounds between the Last Creek and Humesville teams resulted in a victory for the former by a score of 18 to 6. The feature of the game was the effective battery work of Sweeney and Boyle, of the Last Creek team, and the hitting of the former, who made the longest hit of the season. The Last Creek team is largely composed of members of the Lehigh Valley engineering corps and who are very anxious to arrange a game with the corps at Ashland. They have written several communications to their manager, which has as yet not responded. Come forth, Ashland, and display your abilities as ball tossers.

The Morea base ball club crossed bats yesterday with the Quicksteps of town at the Trotting park. It was a pitcher's battle from the start and would have proved very interesting if it had been continued. In the fourth inning two men were on base and Davis sent the ball out for a three-bagger. Umpire Connors caught Davis running away from the second base and declared him out. Morea protested and refused to continue the game, whereupon the umpire awarded it to the Quicksteps. The following was the score:
