THE HANCOCK STATUE, Full Details Gladly Given. COUNTER TENOR

President Cleveland Presided at the Unveiling Geramony.

A MAGNIFICENT WORK OF ART.

Pronounced by Critics One of the Finest of the Sculptured Likenesses of American Generals Which Stand in the Public Grounds of Washington.

Washington, May 13.—Ellicott's bronze equestrian statue of General Winfield Scott Hancock, pronounced by critics one of the finest of the sculptured likenesses of the finest of the sculptured likenesses of American generals which stand in the public grounds of Washington, was unveiled yesterday with appropriate cormonies. President Cleveland presided over the exercises, making a brief address and announcing the program to an audience which included representatives of all the official circles, the judiciary, congress, dialomatic and army and navy.

diplomatic and army and navy.

The statue stands in a small triangular park at the junction of Pennsylvania avenue and Seventh street, midway between the Capitol and treasury, and in the heart of the city's business section. A large platform draped with flags had been built in front of the pedestal, and here the in-vited guests awaited the arrival of the procession which was to escort the presidential party. This procession formed in the grounds back of the executive mansion. Major General Miles, U. S. A., was at its head, and the veterans of Hancock's corps In line carried their old war colors.

President Cleveland was introduced by President Cleveland was introduced by Colonel J. M. Wilson, who had charge of the ceremonies. After the president's address, Rev. H. Y. Satterice, Episoopal bishop of Washington, offered a prayer, the national Marine band played "The Star Spangled Banner," and then Gwynn Hancock, grandsen of the general and his only male descendant, in the gray uniform of a West Point cadet, pulled a rope and the flags fell away from the statue, while cannon becomed a salute. Mr. De Witt C. the flags fell away from the status, while cannon boomed a salute. Mr. De Witt C. Sprague read a poem, and the oration was delivered by Senator John M. Palmer, of Illinois, a major general of United States volunteers. The Marine band then played "Bail Columbia," and the company was dismissed with a benediction by Rev. W. M. General

The statue represents General Hancock as the sculptor saw him during the battle of Gettysburg, a picture which Mr. Elliott declares was indelibly impressed on his memory, and which he has over since aspired to reproduce.

The bronze stands 14 feet 6 inches from the plinth to the crown of the hat, sur-mounting an elaborate stone base 19 feet high. The soldier's face wears an expres-sion of calm determination and dignity as his horse prances under the restraint of tightly drawn reins. The statue has the further distinction of being the first statue of an army officer in Washington to be creeted wholly at the expense of the government, the numerous others having been secured though societies of army sur-

Armour Elevators Declared Irregular. CHICAGO, May 18 .- All the elevators in the Armour system have been declared ir-regular by the directors of the board of trade. The directors acted after they had heard charges of unmercantile conduct preferred against Armour & Co.by various members of the board. This conduct consisted of the issuing of a large number of warehouse receipts dated about May 1, which were so dated as to compel the owners to handle their wheat short of the ten days usually accorded in such cases. this action, it is alleged, Armour & Co. profited, because they were enabled to buy in this wheat when it was thrown on the market, and at the same time they re-tained it in their elevators. The elevators affected are seven in number, with a com-bined capacity of 12,050,000 bushels.

Fifteen Thousand People Witness the Metropolitan Handicap.

A CLOSE AND EXCITING FINISH.

St. Maxim, a Despised Outsider, Only Hatf a Length Behind the Winner, While Sir Waiter, the Favorite in the Betting, Finlakes a Close Third.

New York, May 13.—The opening day at Morris Park was a complete success, for fully 15,000 people saw some fine con-tests and a spectacular finish in the Metropolitan handicap, which sent them away in good humor. There were a number of policemen in plain clothes scattered about the track, to the annoyance of the man-agement, but although they made many threats, they did nothing to interfere with betting men. The event of the day was fourth on the card, and it was not until a quarter to 5 o'clock when the six candi-dates for the honor of the first great race of the year made their appearance at the gates of the paddock and paraded a short distance up the stretch.

The withdrawal of Henry of Navarre had established Sir Walter at once as the favorite, chiefly on account of his jockey, Taral, and the fact that he was on his own track, while Counter Tenor and Dorown track, while Counter Tenor and Dor-lan were about equal favorites, the former having been well backed. They reached the post in good time, and after one or two slight breaks and a general break away they were sent off to a good start, with Hornpipe a head in front of Sir Walter, and he a head in front of Dorian, while a length away were Rubicon, St. Maxim and Counter Tenor, necks spart. They reached the end of the first quarter in the same order as at the start. Then

They reached the end of the first quarter in the same order as at the start. Then came the climb up the hill, which has caused many a good horse to falter, and yesterday was no exception to the rule. As they swept around the turn Taral urged his mount a little, and Sir Walter took the lead away from the Brooklyn handleap winner of last year, both taking a little longer lead on the rest of the field, which maintained about the same positions as at maintained about the same positions as at the fall of the flag. Sir Watter being a neck in front of Hornpipe, he a length be-fore Dorian, who was a head in front of Rubicon, while St. Maxim and Counter

Tenor, a neck apart, were holding the rear of the flying thoroughbrods.

Along the top of the hill the half dozen rushed with quickened strides, and as they turned to come down the hill there was a turned to come down the hill there was a rapid change in the position, and the weakest began to falter. A dozen strides down the hill and they were at the three-quarter pole, with Sir Walter a length in the lead of Hornpine, who then was only a head in front of Rubicon, both urged to their utmost to keep where they were. Dorian was a full length behind, then came Counter Tenor and St. Maxim, who had changed places and were getting ready for the final rush. They were well ready for the final rush. They were well down the hill at the mile post, and Ham-liton had taken Counter Tenor up into third place. Rubleon was, however, a length and a half in front of him, and Sir Walter a nock further away and only a furlong to go. St. Maxim was a length behind the Rupport crack, while Dorian was absolutely out of it. Taral and Clayton dug the leaders with their spurs and banged the whips against their quivering sides, but it was of no use. They were worn out and could not respond. The field rush came, and when it was all over Counter Tenor swept past the judges, winner by a half length, in one of the finest finishes seen in years. St Maxim, the despised outsider, was in second place a neck in front of Sir Walter, and the others were trailing. How the crowd cheered! From the roar that arose it seemed as though the favorite won, but he was in third piace, where he has been often in the big races. Best time, 1.53.

Cyclist Johnson's Paris Races. Pauls, May 13.—J. S. Johnson, the well known American bicycle rider, and Tom Eck, his trainer, were informed by a representative of the Associated Press of a story published in the United States to the effect that Johnson had been matched to meet Morin, the French bleyelist, last Sunday, and had flunked at the last minute. Both Johnson and Eck said it was never intended that the two men should meet last Sunday. Johnson's meeting with Jacquelin is fixed for next Sunday, and he feels confident that he will give a good account of himself then. He expresses himself as being perfectly ready to meet any one in Europe. Johnson will also race in Paris on May 24 and 25.

Foundrymen Organizing. PHILADELPHIA, May 13.—The first congress of foundrymen ever held in this country began yesterday at the Manufacturers' club in this city. Upwards of 250 delegates from all parts of the United States are in attendance. The objects of the sessions is to bring the foundrymen into closer contact, and to form associations in the various states. Francis Schu-mann, president of the Philadelphia Foundrymen's association, welcomed the visitors, as did Mayor Warwick. Last night the delegates listened to addresses on technical subjects.

Bills Signed by Governor Griggs.

THESTON, May 13. - Governor Griggs yes terday signed a number of important bills, including the appropriation bill. From the latter he struck out the item appropri-ating $500 each to four colored companies in the National Guard. These companies had never been fully qualified. Another important bill signed provides that judges of courts, in damage suits, may designate physicians to investigate the extent of the injuries of the persons bringing suit.
