REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

FOR CONGRESSMAN-AT-LARGE, GALUSHA A. GROW, Of Susquehanna. SAMUEL A. DAVENPORT, Of Erie.

AN Iowa newspaper tells a little story about a lady who went to an adjoining town and purchased a supply of carpets and household decorations. Admiring neighbors suggested that she had best not let anybody connected with the newspaper know that she had gone out of town to purchase her carpets instead of patronizing local merchants, as she would be likely to get a newspaper scolding. She very properly replied that until the merchants of the town got around to advertise in the paper that they had things of that sort to sell, together with the quality, style and price, neither they nor the paper had any good grounds for faultfinding. All of which is strictly true. We often hear of kicks from merchants because their townspeople go out of town for goods which they could have sold them for no higher price. It's no fault of the people. Spend the necessary money with your local purveyor to inform them of the facts and you'll get their trade. Otherwise you won't get their trade, and you won't deserve it.—Brain.

THE Presbyterian clergymen are making a raid on one Cleveland's pet ministers in our foreign service. Mr. Terrill by name, and having from that section of the country made famous by the deeds in peace and war of Tom Ocilltree, Sam Houston and Texas Jack, Terrill represents us at Constantinople, and it is claimed that he was not over-zealous at the time of the Armenian massacres. The charges, as presented to Mr. Cleveland by the representative Presbyterians, are based on the alleged infidelity of Terrill to properly represent us as so important a place as the Sultanate Porte. Terrill is accused of low and gross habits, of using profane and vulgar language, and of being disembarassed and blustering in his manners. His treatment of missionaries is said to have been brutally negligent and often insulting, and while he is not accused of willful neglect, the missionaries charge that his unfortunate inactions and methods have been the cause of much irritation and difficulty with the Turkish Government. They do not say that he lacks the disposition to protect American interests, but they claim that he is incompetent to do so, and ask the appointment of someone who is more familiar with the usages of polite society, and whose Americanisms are tempered with refinement.

THE GRAND ARMY. The veterans of the late war will once more be called upon, on Saturday next, to pay a loving remembrance to their dead comrades; the living of to-day may be numbered among those who sleep beneath the sod of the mountain side before another twelve months roll by, and it is fitting that banners should wave, hymns sung and eulogiums rendered on occasions such as May 30th, for "these died for their altars and their fires."

The members of the Grand Army—the heroes of '61—deserve well of their fellow citizens. Their praises are sung by men of all nations. Vice General Koch, rector of St. Edward's church, Shamokin, who himself is an American of strong convictions, paid the Grand Army Post of that place a splendid tribute on Sunday, when he delivered a special sermon at the request of the Post. The services opened and closed with those present joining in singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee," the choir and orchestra adding to that soul inspiring national air.

In addition to being Veterans' Day, Sunday was the anniversary of the Feast of Pentecost, and from that Vice General Koch drew his theme, dwelling upon the effect of Christianity on the world and compared Christianity to Paganism. There is no such thing as charity in Paganism, no neighbor is recognized, it's doctrine is simply a survival of the fittest, the weak succumbing to the might. On the other hand Christianity is founded upon the ten commandments and the Evangelical principles. These are the foundation of the Christian nations and teach them charity, morality, sobriety and peace. The fundamental laws produce true patriotism with "God and Our Country" for a motto. Hence the true patriot respects and keeps the laws of his country, and the respect for laws makes men free, not slaves of passion. This principle has made our nation what it is, the grandest, noblest people on the face of the earth, honored and feared by all others. The United States is considered a true Christian nation and is known throughout the world, as "The Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave." It was because of this patriotism of divine origin that urged the heroes of the war to fight against secession and abolish slavery to the Grand Army of the Republic we owe what we are. For had its members not fought and conquered, the nation would not consist of the forty-five states now in the Union but would be a disjointed mass of little republics such as South America is composed of.

Vice General Koch, in the conclusion of his sermon to the veterans, said: "May God bless you and may God's spirit be with you and keep you in love the world as the grandest army of men, heroes and patriots that ever lived upon the earth, and may God award you in Heaven for your sacrifices and devotion to country to fight and justify, which are the fruit of the principles of the Christianity you profess. May God and His holy spirit give you peace, prosperity and happiness and keep us all united as the children of one God, one Christ, one Father of us all."
