SIR WALTER A WINNER.

An Exciting Finish in the Great Brooklyn Handicap Race.

CLIFFORD A VERY CLOSE SECOND.

Twenty Thousand People Witness the Contest and Enthusiastically Applaud the Victor and His Jockey, Tarnal—St. Maxim Came in Third—Time, 2:08 1/4.

New York, June 5.—Three times has Sir Walter tried to win the Brooklyn handicap, and at last he has been successful. Twice before he was third, beaten out by a fraction at the end, but yesterday Tarnal was on his back, and his skill, combined with a lack of judgment on the part of Clayton, who rode Clifford, the favorite, helped to give the victory to the son of Midlothian and La Scala amid a roar of applause rarely heard nowadays upon a race track.

That it was a popular victory could not be doubted, for from the time he poked his nose into the lead to the last fraction of a second of the race there was one wild yell for Sir Walter. It was not the cry of the betting man, for the horse was by no means a favorite, but it was the cheers of encouragement from the sport loving American citizens, 20,000 being at the Gravesend track to watch the contest. The cheers that had followed the victory were redoubled when Sir Walter returned to weigh in, and as Tarnal was hoisted into the floral jockey's chair, where he has sat so many times in his career, he was a very happy person, as the yells resounded through the air and the immense body of spectators gave vent to their feelings in shouts, cat calls and whistles.

The finishes in the first, second and third races were close enough to whet the appetites of the spectators, but they did not care much for the minor contests, even though there was a stirring contest for the rich expectation stakes, which Lithos, a cast-off from the Morris string, won by a nose from the well bred George Kessler.

Delays at the start made the handicap very late, and it was 4:25 when the eight contestants went up to the post. At exactly thirty-five minutes after they went to the post, Flynn caught them in a good line, and the eight highly bred animals began the journey of a mile and a quarter, at the end of which was a purse of $8,000 for the winner.

The horses swept around the turn into the stretch with Sir Walter leading the way, followed by St. Maxim, Lake Shore, Keenan, Hornpipe, Clifford, Nanki Pooh and Counter Tenor. As they passed the quarter Lake Shore was a neck in front of Sir Walter, he half a length ahead of Hornpipe, Keenan half a length behind and a half length in front of St. Maxim, the others trailing.

As they ran up the backstretch they all began to move faster. Lake Shore was the first to feel the effect of this urging, and Sir Walter's nose began to forge in front. Sir Walter, Lake Shore, St. Maxim and Hornpipe were running so close together that a blanket would have covered them. The five furlong post was reached in 12 1/4 seconds from the half in that order, but the spurt had been too much for Lake Shore, who then dropped back to seventh place, fighting for the last position with Counter Tenor, Keenan, too, was out of it, and from that time on the three took little interest in the contest.

After leaving the five-eighths pole the race began in earnest, and with a little urging Sir Walter shot away from the others. He was a length and a half away before Simms took St. Maxim in hand and sent him after Tarnal and his mount. In five seconds both were going at about the same rate of speed, with daylight between them. Hornpipe was still in third place, but Nanki Pooh and Clifford had caught up a little. The time to the three-quarters was 1:17, the last furlong being run in 13 seconds. As they rushed around the long upper turn the pace quickened and Sir Walter took a still larger lead from St. Maxim, while he, in turn, held his half length lead on Clifford.

At the mile pole, which was reached in 1:42 1/2, the demands were still running well, and willing to stand the drive which was sure to come. Tarnal was the first to begin punishing. He saw that Sir Walter was ready to stop, and, in spite of his lead of a length and a half, drove it into two, so that there would be just so much more for Clifford and St. Maxim, the horses he feared, to gain on him in the last few seconds.

It was a good thing he did his urging then, for Clayton had at last made up his mind to see what his mount was made of, and with whip and spur drove him at the tiring leaders. Sir Walter was staggering under his utmost, pounding the earth in a listless fashion, with his eyes nearly strained out of his head in the effort to win the prize he was trying for so hard. St. Maxim was tired, too, but Simms was urging him with whip and spur as he had never been driven before. It was useless for the latter, for Clifford was coming like a whirlwind, and was in second place fifty yards from the finish. Clayton worked like a steam engine, and was soon at Sir Walter's girth. Inch by inch he pushed his nose ahead, and as they passed the judges he was only a short head behind Sir Walter. St. Maxim was third, and Hornpipe, Nanki Pooh, Keenan, Lake Shore and Counter Tenor came in in the order named. Winner's time, 2:08 1/4.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the Best and Most Popular. "We sell more of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy than of all others combined," writes Messrs. Kerr & Son's, druggists, of Mass. Pa. They also say: "The sale of it is something phenomenal. We have sold two gross this winter, selling as high as six bottles in one morning to as many different customers. This remedy has proved particularly successful in croupy affections. Our customers invariably pronounce it the best they can find, and we know of no case where it has failed to give satisfaction." TO CURE DYSPEPSIA.

A New Remedy Which Will Do It. Chronic Dyspepsia is considered by many people to be nearly if not quite incurable. No good reason can be given why they think so except that perhaps they have tried various remedies without much, if any benefit. But the progress in every branch of medicine has been such that among other things a lasting cure for indigestion in its chronic form as well as temporary has been discovered and is now placed before the public strictly on its merits as a permanent cure for all stomach troubles or difficulties with the digestive organs.

This new treatment is called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, being put up in tablet form so as to be easily taken and also to preserve its good qualities for an indefinite length of time. This remedy has produced surprising effects in the worst forms of indigestion, and in many cases where ordinary remedies failed to give even relief, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have fully cured.

The splendid results from using this preparation are intended for the fact that it is a prepared and acting on the dyspepsia and stomach troubles only.

It is not a cure-all like so many advertised remedies, claiming to cure everything under the sun, but it is claimed that it is a certain cure for Dyspepsia and anyone suffering from any form of indigestion cannot fail to get permanent relief and cure from its use.

It is so prepared and the ingredients are of such a nature that when the tablets are taken into the stomach they digest the food no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not.

You get sustenance and strength to mind and body by reason of the food being properly digested and at the same time the much abused stomach is allowed to rest and recuperate.

Notwithstanding the great benefits to be derived, this preparation is very reasonable in price, costing but 50 cents per package at druggists. Send to Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., for little book on stomach diseases or ask your druggist for it.

AUSTIN CORBIN KILLED.

The Multi-Millionaire Thrown from His Carriage.

HIS COACHMAN ALSO MEETS DEATH

The Horses, Becoming Frightened, Run Away and Overturn the Carriage at Mr. Corbin's Estate Near Newport, N. H., Throwing Him Against a Stone Wall.

Newport, N. H., June 5.—Mr. Austin Corbin, the multi-millionaire of New York, died at 9:42 o'clock last night from injuries received by the running away of the horses attached to his carriage. The accident occurred about 3 o'clock in the afternoon while Mr. Corbin was driving from his estate and game preserves, two miles from here, accompanied by his grandson, Corbin Egell, a boy of 14 years, and the latter's tutor, Dr. Kungor.

The party left the house about 3 o'clock in the afternoon for a fishing trip to Cornish mountain. The team was in charge of John Stokes, who has been Mr. Corbin's coachman, both here and in New York, for years. But the horses were hitched up yesterday for the first time, perhaps, without blinders. It is thought Mr. Corbin opened a sunshade just as they drove away from the yard.

The horses at once started to run, and became unmanageable. They ran down the descending western driveway with a terrific speed, and at the turn into the main road all were thrown violently, while the horses kept the road. Dr. Kungor was thrown completely over the wall, and landed on plowed ground. He received a severe bruise and a fracture. Young Egell suffered a fracture of the leg and wrist.

Stokes evidently hit a tree, and, as one of the first to arrive on the scene expressed it, his body was completely wound around the tree. He died about 6 o'clock.

Mr. Corbin struck the stone wall with frightful force, and was terribly cut and bruised about his head, and one of his legs was broken and crushed so that the bones protruded through the flesh. He was able to speak when Mr. Woodbury, his farmer, who was near by, reached him, but he soon lost consciousness and remained in that condition most of the time until the end.

There were present at his bedside Mrs. Corbin and his daughters, Miss Annie and Mrs. Edgell, of New York, all of whom witnessed the sad accident from the house. They came to town on Sunday last, and would doubtless have passed the greater part of the summer here. Of the other immediate members of the family, the son-in-law, George S. Edgell, though lately here, is in Arkansas, while Austin Corbin, Jr., a student at Harvard, arrived at 11:30 by special train.

Austin Corbin, who was often called the "King of Long Island," was born in Newport, N. H., July 11, 1827. He was graduated at Harvard law school in 1849. After practicing law at Newport for a while, in 1851 he removed to Danversport, Ia., where he lived for fourteen years. It was while there that he entered the banking business with a success that was followed by others of greater magnitude. He was a rich man when he came to New York in 1856 and started the banking house of Austin Corbin & Co., which continued the mortgage business which Mr. Corbin had started.

Soon after 1856 he became interested in railroads. His first trip to Long Island was made with his sick child. He saw the natural advantages and understood that the island must become an outlying place for millions in the nearby cities. At that time the Long Island roads were isolated systems, badly managed and in constant financial difficulties. After securing the control of the principal line, Mr. Corbin's one thought was to develop a great system which should bring all roads on the island under the one management. This ambition he attained in the early part of this year, when he became the owner of the majority interest in the one system, which now controls transportation on the island. Austin Corbin built the first railway from Brooklyn to Coney Island, and it was through his instrumentality that the first of the large hotels were created there.

In addition to his large railroad interests as president of the Long Island railway system, and his administration of the affairs of the Philadelphia and Reading railroad during a difficult period of its existence, Mr. Corbin found time to put in operation many financial schemes and philanthropic plans of colonization and immigration. It is difficult to estimate Mr. Corbin's wealth. At Newport there is a villa set in the center of an estate 1,400 acres in extent. Beyond this there is a game preserve which takes in many former mountain farms in Newport township, extending over 10,000 acres. About this last there is a high, strong fence, and in the center the barometer, wind gauge, and deer range at will. It was Mr. Corbin's desire to make this one of the greatest hunting preserves in the world, and this idea was being rapidly realized. For many years he has had agents in every country in the world looking for new animals.
