THE COLOR LINE AT ST. LOUIS

No Accommodations For Colored Republican Delegates.

NATIONAL COMMITTEES DISMAYED

Hotels and Boarding Houses Refuse to Make Room for the Negroes, and it Will be Necessary to Rent a Hall For Their Accommodation.

St. Louis, June 9.—What shall be done with the colored delegates and alternates to the national Republican convention is a question which is puzzling the members of the national committee who have arrived here, as well as the Business Men's League, which secured the convention to St. Louis. Every hotel and boarding house came out flatfooted yesterday, and declared that it would entertain no negro as a guest or customer. Money is no object. Threats of prosecution have had no effect, and from the present outlook it would seem that unless tents are secured the colored men will have to go hungry and unsheltered.

"I am thoroughly disgusted and discouraged," said National Committeeman J. G. Long, of Florida, in speaking of the matter. "I have been looking all day long for a hotel, boarding house or cafe that would admit the negroes, but it has been a fruitless search. I even went so far as to try to charter a steamboat, but when the owners learned for what purpose it was wanted they found an excuse for refusing me the use of the vessel. It is the first time in the history of the Republican party where such an embarrassing predicament has arisen."

When asked what the national committee would do in the matter Mr. Long replied: "I have consulted with the members who are here, and we have decided to offer a resolution as soon as the committee meets condemning the hotel and boarding houses and for the setting aside of a fund for renting a hall in which cars shall be placed for the accommodation of the negroes who may come to the convention. We will also request the employment of cooks, etc., to supply them with food. This trouble has been brewing for nearly a week. A number of days ago it was learned by the Business Men's League that some of the leading hotels had been cancelling agreements with certain state delegations when the landlords learned that the negro delegates were numbered among them. It became so apparent that the negroes were being discriminated against that the league issued the following manifesto:

"The Business Men's League, when in Washington securing the national Republican convention for St. Louis, promised that colored delegates and members of the national Republican committee should receive the same recognition from the hotels that any other delegate to the convention would receive. With this it was implied that the citizens representing the city of St. Louis for securing the convention would ask and endeavor to induce public hotels, boarding houses and bath rooms, at least for convention week, to accord to the reputable and respectable colored men who will come here representing their section and their people in the Republican party such treatment as any reputable and respectable person would receive. It is not believed that a great many would want to accept the promise, but it will be very humiliating if one of them, with their colleagues and friends, or alone, should present himself in any public place and be refused admittance or service.

"It is hoped, expected and desired by the gentlemen representing the citizens who secured the convention that all will endeavor to meet the situation as justice and propriety require. Any parties failing to reserve accommodations will please report to the general hotel committee or the bureau of information."

When the hotel men read this they were wrathful. They said it was an invitation to the colored delegates to prosecute them for damages. They went to the league committee on hotel accommodations and made a vigorous protest. Concerted action, they thought, followed, with the result that the negroes cannot find lodging places or even a reputable place to eat.

In no former Republican national committee has the general committee had so heavy a duty to perform in making up the roll for the temporary organization as the present committee has before it. There are 125 contested seats from fifteen states and one territory, and of these the entire delegation is contested from five states and the Territory of Arizona. The committee will commence the hearing of the contests tomorrow forenoon, and the indications are that it will hardly be able to finish them before the end of the week. The committee's conclusions, however, are not final. They are for the purpose of making up the roll for temporary organization, and only those who, in his judgment, is primarily entitled to a seat in the convention. The whole fight by every delegation may be gone over anew before the committee on credentials, which is to be named by the chairman of the convention, and the contests do not even stop with that committee's report, as the delegates who are unsuccessful before it have the right of appeal to the convention.

It would be hard to predict who will be selected by the national committee for temporary chairman of the convention. Among the men who have been mentioned, however, are Governor Merriam of Minnesota and H. Clay Evans of Tennessee, a candidate for the vice presidency. Mr. Evans is also talked of for permanent chairman, as also are General Grosvonor of Ohio, Senator-elect George L. Wellington of Maryland, Senator Foraker and Mayor John A. Caldwell of Cincinnati.

The gavel which will be used by the permanent chairman of the convention was received at the headquarters of the local committee yesterday. It will be presented to the chairman by Senator Berry, of the Illinois delegation. The gavel is an excellent piece of wood carved from a hickory log taken from the log cabin occupied by President Lincoln in New Salem, Ills. in 1832. There are panels on either side which are filled in with suitably inscribed plates of gold and silver.

The boom for General Allison, of Iowa, was opened in force today. Hon. J. S. Clarkson has arrived, with G. B. Pray, ex-chairman of the Iowa state central committee, who will assume direct charge of the movement.

It has been decided that Jose L. Rogers, of Knoxville, the delegate from the Second congressional district of Tennessee, shall make the speech placing in nomination H. Clay Evans for the vice presidency.

VERY SLIPPERY GOLD WATCH

Justice Bailey Figures in a Case of Extraordinary Events.

DANGEROUS WOMAN IS INVOLVED

The Watch Was Stolen Several Weeks Ago and the Justice Held it as Security For Costs, But a Woman Stole It From Him.

Justice T. T. Williams was called upon last evening to give hearing to a case embodying very complicated and, in some respects, extraordinary circumstances. The case first came up some time ago by Charles Katalofski appearing before the Justice and making complaint that on the 6th of April he was robbed of a gold watch and chain, valued at $65. No further steps were taken in the case at the time, it being considered best to keep quiet and try to trace the watch to the hands of the suspected party, one William Matalawicz; but a few days ago the complainant again appeared and stated that the watch and chain were in the hands of Justice Daniel Bailey, of the Fifth ward.

Upon being called upon Justice Bailey stated that William Matalawicz was a party to a suit before him and upon a settlement Matalawicz gave him the watch as security for costs. Justice Bailey refused to give up the watch without payment of his costs, but he agreed to produce it when Matalawicz should be arrested and brought for trial and this understanding was satisfactory to the complainant. Matalawicz disappeared and the proceedings again fell into a state of quiescence until yesterday, when Justice Bailey appeared before Justice Williams and stated that the much-sought watch had been taken from him by Mrs. Mary Sinkawicz and by force.

Mrs. Sinkawicz is a resident of West Lloyd street and a character who has been before the Justices repeatedly on charges of various kinds. She and Matalawicz are chums and they were two of the parties who were arrested in the raid on West Lloyd street a few weeks ago when Policeman Leo was knocked senseless by a blow from a glass pitcher and several shots were fired.

Upon Justice Bailey's statement the woman was arrested and taken before Justice Bailey. She was bold and defiant, disclaiming all knowledge of the watch and declaring that she had only knocked Justice Bailey down after he had ordered her. She said the Justice came to her house and drank beer, and the quarrel followed.

Justice Bailey was again summoned. He swore that he called at the house to see if he could learn anything concerning Matalawicz, knowing that other parties claimed the watch. Constable Phillips had called at the house in the morning and could get no information. Justice Bailey says that he had just stepped into the house when the woman's eyes fell upon the chain. She sprang upon him and snatched the watch and chain from his vest. He tried to get it back, but as she is a powerful woman, and he is 36 years of age, he was unable to cope with her. With his left hand he clutched her throat, but she dealt him a blow in the face with her right fist that sent him to the floor. As soon as he regained his feet he left the house.

Justice Williams concluded that Mrs. Sinkawicz knew more than she would admit about the affair and committed her to the lockup in default of bail. Subsequent events proved that his conclusion was right. In less than two hours after the watch and chain were traced to the possession of one Joseph Karpovich. He was arrested and membership taken before Justice Williams, who stated that he purchased it yesterday afternoon for $10 from Mrs. Sinkawicz, thus confirming Justice Bailey's story of robbery and making the woman a qualified candidate for a good term in jail. Karpovich was committed in default of bail on a charge of receiving stolen goods. He says he came from Hazleton last Saturday and was an occupant of Mrs. Sinkawicz's house because he boarded with her some time ago. The watch, which stopped through so many hands, is now in the possession of Justice Williams and, as he is far from the mature age the Fifth ward Justice has attained, he believes he will be able to hold on to it until the trial comes up.

Crazy Death.

Yesterday afternoon a Polish woman residing near Carl's slaughter house became crazy drunk. Upon returning home from her work her husband remonstrated with her. In retaliation the woman started and threw a brick through the glass in the several windows. She fell to the ground, and was a stiffer when Mr. Carl's son, John Duff and Chief Burgess Burns put her in a wagon and conveyed her to the lockup.

The Teachers' Institute.

The regular session of the Teachers' Institute was held in the High school room last evening. Prof. J. W. Cooper, presiding. The committee on Memorial Day reported having turned over to David Morgan, chairman of the G. A. R. committee, the balance of the fund raised by the teachers to aid the G. A. R. in properly celebrating the day. Prof. Cooper, who has been appointed supervising Principal by the School Board, requested that the teachers return to him estimates of their pupils' standing, to be used as a guide in promoting them from one grade to the other. Prof. Cooper cannot hold the examinations owing to a lack of time, and advised the teachers to hold their own final examinations and send in their averages to him and the Board will then act on them.

Bunco Scheme Result.

One of the victims who was floored by the leather and dime bunco scheme, which was mentioned in the columns of the HERALD last Saturday, appeared before Justice Williams last evening and issued a warrant for the arrest of the three operators for violating the gambling laws. The three waived a hearing and entered bail for their appearance at court. Subsequently they agreed to pay the costs and settle the case which was declined to accept, unless the money lost by the victim was restored.

Slight Mishap.

While Michael Windt, the undertaker, was waiting for the remains of John Belsham, at the depot last evening, his horse slipped at the approach of the train and ran into a freight car, breaking the single tree and tearing the harness. The damage was slight.
