Reiterates His Views on the Question of Free Silver.

FEARS SILVER MONOMETALLISM

The Democratic Party, He Thinks, Is in Danger of Disruption Through Mistaken Ideas-He Would Not Accept the Presidency Even if Elected.

New York, June 22.-William C. Whitney makes public a statement in which he defines the political situation, makes his position clear as regards his decision to remain in this country instead of going to Europe, and concludes by saying that he is not a presidential possibility; that he "would not run if nominated and would not serve if elected." The statement is in part as follows:

"I find it necessary to make a public statement embodying my views on the situation, to correct misconceptions and save time now occupied in answering ques-

'Far too much importance has been attacked to my decision to go to the Chi-cago convention. I have been practically out of polities for four years and there are now many eastern Democrats who can do much more than I can for the party shall not assume any position of leader-ship. My decision to stay was simply based on the duty of every person who be-lieves in the party for its principles, to stay by and lend his aid and take his chances what the great order is when the great crisis is upon the Democratic party. Fundamental differences of principle exist inside the party, marked almost by sectional lines.

"The great question to my mind is For the past fifteen years leaders of public opinion in the south and west have been advocating as the great remedy for existing ills the free coinage of silver at 16 to 1, with or without the co-operation of other nations. It has come to be believed in there quite generally and conscientiously A large majority of the delegates to the coming Democratic convention have been elected by the people for the purpose of incorporating that doctrine into the plat-form of the Democratic party.

"Our people, on the other hand, entirely disagree with these views and believe al-most universally that it will bring general ruin to the business and prosperity of the country. It is deemed a new doctrine when proposed to be incorporated into the platform of the national Democracy. It is true that in no previous platform of the party can it specifically be found. Consequently no party obligations heretofore assumed oblige them to subscribe to it. It is to be seriously apprehended that in the event of such a declaration a disruption of the Democratic party might occur.
"This movement for free coinage pur ports to have for its object the establishment and maintenance of gold and silver as the money of the country upon equal terms with each other, and at a parity of purchasing power. If by the proposed measure that object could be seemed there would not be substantial disagreement in silver money. It is our traditional policy. But the maintenance of the double standard at the present time is not a question of desire; it is a question of ability. "The commercial value of silver has deined greatly in the markets of the world A SHOE TALE! Whatever the causes are and whoever is to blame, the fact is that silver has declined, and free colnage now at 16 to the same as our offering for all the silver the same as our offering for all the silver in the world about twice what it is selling for in the market. International ex-changes have to be paid in gold. And it would seem plain that if we, under these conditions, open our mints to the free coinage of silver and gold at a ratio of comparative value which is largely at variance with the commercial value of the two metals, we must take the entire silver surplus ourselves, maintain its parity with gold, or else we shall go to a silver basis.

"France in 1873 closed her mints against silver and abandoned this experiment, deeming herself unequal to the task alone, and at that time it was much less difficult.

for silver was then at par with gold at the ratio in use, and even England's mints in India were open to the free coinage of silver. If the experiment of maintaining the parity of the two metals at a coinage adard was difficult then, it would seem standard was difficult then, it would seem to be positively hopeless now without in-ternational agreement. Germany, France, Belgium, Italy and Austria believe in a double standard and desire to establish it. but no one, two or three of them deen themselves able to maintain the double standard, even with the co-operation of the United States.

You cannot have such a disturbance of value as would come from the changing from a gold to a sliver basis, without such a shock to confidence, the hearding of gold and contraction of your available cir-culating medium as would bring, in the opinion of our people, the worst panie and distress we have ever seen in this country The creditor classes are prepared for it. The obligations, mortgages, railroad and otherwise, are quite generally payable in gold. Dobts would still have to be paid in gold, but wages in silver, the sufferers, as able to the joint standard were at all as promising as at the present moment. But an III advised, unsuccessful attempt here would discredit the cause the world over.

"It cannot be denied that the feeling among our people is that this free coinage by the United States alone will not give as the gold and silver money at a parity with each other (which is the assumption noon which it is taken), but will bring us to silver monometallism and a change in our standard of value, and that change, it is believed, means immediate ruin to our industries and no permanent good to any one. This feeling is general and intense, "Most any sacrifice might be asked to Democrats for the sake of the party, and they would cheerfully make it. But if the delegates from this locality should go to that convention and vote for the free coin-age of aliver by the United States alone age of silver by the United States alone they would be misropresenting the state of public opinion here.

"I find myself spoken of here and there as a possible candidate, not very seriously or prominently, but sufficiently to attract attention if I should fail to notice it. I have said that I would not be a candidate.
I will add, copying the emphatic language once used by the late General Sherman. I will not run if nominated nor serve if elected. I am not foolish enough to suppose that any eastern man could be nominated by this convention, much less nominated by this convention, much less that I could."

POTTSVILLE, June 22.—The fate of The dore Eisenhower, on trial since the 15th inst. for the murder of John Schwindt, will soon be determined. It is believed the prisoner be determined. It is believed the prisoner will hear it by Thursday morning. There is considerable speculation as to what the verdict in the case will be, but from the opinions thus far expressed by the public it seems to be considered by a majority of the people that the jury will not decide upon a verdict in the second degree. There are also a number of people who believe there will be an acquittal. In this they agree with Congressman Brumm and Captain George W. Congressman Brumm and Captain George W Dyson, counsel for the accused. Both these gentlemen say that when they first entered upon the case they realized that they had great uphill work, but they now feel confident that an acquittal can be secured. On the other hand District Attorney Bechtel and John F. Wholes P. John F. Whalen, Esq., are positive that Eisenhower will be convicted, and that upon the evidence the jury cannot get away from placing their verdiet in the highest degree.

As in all jury trials, and especially in murder cases, much will depend upon the manner in which the counsel on the respective sides will weave the threads of evidence in the final arguments and, of course, the intimated that the Judge will be obliged on Summons was issued to-day in a suit in the evidence adduced to make a charge fore shadowing conviction.
