JOHN R. McLEAN'S BOOM

Ohio Puts Forth Another Candidate For the Presidency.

SILVERITES CARRIED EVERYTHING.

In New York State, on the Other Hand, the Believers in a Gold Standard Carried the Democratic State Convention.

COLUMBUS, O., June 25.—The Democratic state convention concluded last night after being in session continuously all day. It was primarily a silver convention and secondarily the holding of a boom for John R. McLean for the presidential nomination at Chicago. Of the 673 delegates 542 voted for free silver and 618 for McLean. Three men were mentioned by the delegates as Ohio's favorite for the Chicago convention—McLean, Campbell and Bookwalter. Ex-Governor Campbell had been a favorite until the silver tidal wave struck the state, but he was considered too conservative on the silver question.

When ex-Governor Campbell and his friends arrived here and found the sentiment drifting for McLean or Bookwalter they supported the former, defeating

JOHN R. McLEAN.

Bookwalter in a hot fight for delegate, and thus ending the Bookwalter boom for president, and leaving the field, so far as Ohio is concerned, to McLean, with the unit rule annexed. There were at first two opposing movements, one to instruct for Campbell and the other to instruct for Bookwalter.

The McLean men worked hard to prevent instructions for any one, and their next movement was to keep rivals from being selected as delegates. They had their way in the preliminary work of the district and committee meetings on Tuesday and yesterday in the convention. They named all the delegates and state candidates and dictated the platform. Today the McLean boom for president is no longer under cover. It is currently headed by Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky, and others outside of the state are in the McLean movement.

The ticket selected by the convention is as follows: Delegates-at-large, John R. McLean, Allen W. Thurman, L. E. Holden and E. B. Finley; alternates-at-large, T. E. Powell and Charles S. Fletcher; secretary of state, Chilton A. White; judge of the supreme court, E. J. Blandin; dairy and food commissioner, Patrick McKeown; member of the board of public works, William Beaumont.

John R. McLean is proprietor of the Cincinnati Enquirer, and has been advocating free silver for years in his paper. L. E. Holden is proprietor of The Morning Plain Dealer and The Evening Post, at Cleveland, and has also been an earnest advocate of free silver. General E. B. Finley, while in congress, was as ardent a silver man as General A. J. Warner, who presided over the convention.

The champion of free silver in the state in recent years has been Allen W. Thurman, who kept up a silver organization in Ohio when that element was in the minority at Democratic conventions. He is a son of the late Allen G. Thurman, who ran on the ticket with President Cleveland in 1888, and was for twelve years Senator from Ohio. The fathers of Thurman and McLean were bitter political enemies during their lives, and the sons have not forgotten all the present silver material.

Chilton A. White, who heads the ticket for secretary of state, served in congress during Lincoln's administration, and was a close political friend of Clement L. Vallandigham.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS FOR GOLD.

Bimetallism, Without International Agreement, Would Bring Untold Disaster.

SARATOGA, June 25.—The Democratic state convention that convened yesterday morning and adjourned in the afternoon has put itself on record on the financial platform and has selected its delegates to the national convention, but in doing these things it has followed out the predictions of weeks and has not created any sensation or even mild surprise. It has declined to name its electors, has not put itself on record on any state issues, and has left the selection of a state committee until the next state convention.

Those things have all been done at the instance of the leaders and with the avowed purpose of placing the party in such a position that, no matter what the platform of the national party is, it can be supported by the electors and the party in this state. On the question of finance the platform declares in part:

"Free coinage of silver by the United States alone can have no other effect than to change our present standard to one of silver, now a depreciated coin. We are in favor of gold and silver as the standard money of the country. We are opposed to a permanent financial policy to gold monometallism on the one hand or to silver monometallism on the other hand. The efforts of the government should be steadily directed to the establishment of a safe system of bimetalism. Neither this country nor any other country, independent and alone, is able to maintain it, and it would be folly to attempt it. Being so convinced, we are opposed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver in the absence of the co-operation of other great nations. We declare our belief that any attempt upon the part of the United States alone to enter upon the experiment of free silver coinage would not only prove disastrous to our finances, but would retard, or entirely prevent, the establishment of international bimetalism. Until international co-operation can be secured—to which end all our efforts as a government and as a people should be in good faith directed—we favor the rigid maintenance of the present gold standard."

The delegates-at-large were David B. Hill, Roswell P. Flower, Edward Murphy, Jr., and Frederic R. Couderc. Alternates-at-large: Robert Earl, Smith M. Wood, Jacob A. Cantor, William A. Purcell.

THE INDIANA DEMOCRATS Declare for Matthews for President and a Free Silver Platform.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 25.—The Democratic state convention was the largest ever held in the state. The party primaries and the convention preliminaries had been prolific of contests and contentions. The silver sentiment had developed rapidly, and the advocates for free coinage had with comparative ease captured a controlling majority of the convention. But the gold standard Democracy, in a vigorous and caught napping, waked to a vigorous resistance.

Of the 1,747 delegates the silver men, at first in a two-thirds majority, found the minority so vigorous that they determined to use their power mercilessly, and the only advantages claimed by the gold men at the opening of the convention were due to circumstances which the silver men overlooked or could not control.

The silver men captured everything, instructing their Chicago delegates to stand through thick and thin, by the most extreme silver deliverance and the nomination of Claude Matthews to the presidency. The candidate for governor, Mr. Shively, appeared after he had been declared the nominee and made a vigorous, enthusiastic speech, giving special attention to the indorsement of the silver plank.

The ticket nominated is as follows: For governor, Benjamin F. Shively; auditor, Joseph T. Fanning; treasurer, Morgan Chandler; attorney general, John G. McNutt; supreme court reporter, Harry Marrum; superintendent public institutions, W. D. St. Clair; state statistician, O. H. Downey; contingent electors-at-large, David S. Gooding and W. C. Durbrow; delegates-at-large, Jason Brown, John B. Stoll, Daniel Voorhees, David Turpie, James B. McCabe and G. V. Menzies.

Texas Democrats Indorse Blank.

AUSTIN, Tex., June 25.—An indorsement of Blank for president, and a straight-out silver platform at 16 to 1, regardless of the action of any foreign government, was the sum and substance of the Democratic silver convention which adjourned here yesterday after two days' session. The interest of yesterday's session outside of the light over the platform, which was precipitated by some not wanting to make the silver issue independent of any other nation, was the fact that was precipitated over the effort to have delegates instructed for Blank for president. The Democratic believers in a gold standard, who held a separate convention, will also have a delegation appealing for admission at Chicago.

Georgia's Free Silver Democrats.

MARION, June 25.—The caucus of the silver men, held in advance of the state Democratic convention last night, has practically settled the proceedings of the convention, which was called to order at noon today. According to the caucus everything goes the way of the silver wing. The temporary and permanent chairmen are silver men. These places will be filled respectively by Charles Wilson, of Fort Gaines, and Steve Clay, the present chairman of the state committee.

MURDER IN FIRST DEGREE

THE JURY IN THE EISENHOWER TRIAL GIVE THAT AS THEIR VERDICT.

A MOTION FOR A NEW TRIAL MADE.

If a New Trial is Refused Mr. Brumm will Carry the Case to the Supreme Court. The Prisoner was Unmoved by the Verdict.

SPECIAL TO EVENING HERALD.

POTTSVILLE, June 25.—The jury in the Eisenhower murder trial, in which the prisoner is charged with the murder of John Schwindt, retired this morning at 11:14 o'clock, and at 1:45 sent word that they had arrived at a verdict. Promptly at 2:00 o'clock the jurors filed into the court room, handed in a sealed verdict. Judge Savidge arrived at the court house and assumed his place upon the bench at 2:07, and was handed the envelope containing the fate of Eisenhower.

Amid a breathless silence the Judge broke the seal and read the contents, and then addressed the jury as follows: "Gentlemen, you will be obliged to say whether the prisoner is guilty of murder in the first degree, or murder in the second degree, or voluntary manslaughter. You may retire and make up your verdict."

It is supposed the sealed verdict was guilty as indicted.

The jury then retired for further consultation returning again at 2:16, and their verdict was announced as "Guilty of murder in the first degree."

Mr. Brumm, counsel for the prisoner, then asked that the jury be polled, and each juror responded to the verdict.

Mr. Brumm then moved an arrest of judgment, pending a motion for a new trial.

In case the motion for a new trial is denied, the case will be carried to the Supreme Court.

Eisenhower, the prisoner, was unmoved by the verdict, and carried the same dogged expression that has characterized him during the closing days of the trial.

THE CLOSING ARGUMENT.

It would be difficult to describe the mingled disappointment and surprise of the many spectators who attended the Eisenhower trial yesterday afternoon when it was decided that the long drawn out case would be extended for one day more by an adjournment until this morning to have the Judge's charge to the jury delivered. His Honor, Judge Savidge, was not responsible for the delay, however. He was ready and willing to proceed when Mr. Whalen closed his argument at 5:30, but deemed it proper to consult the jury as to whether they desired to undertake to settle the case last night, or start in upon their work this morning. Eleven of the jury were willing to proceed, but the twelfth, Levi Kissinger, who had suffered from illness almost from the first day, said he would prefer to wait until the morning and the court acceded to his wishes. The watching public had confidently expected that the case would go to the jury, and it would have been submitted to them had the original program as to the summing up been adhered to. Public opinion leans to the conclusion that the final arguments in the case were extended more than the circumstances warranted, and it is surprising that when the last argument was concluded all the jurors did not clamor for a rest. In point of brilliancy neither counsel came up to the expected point, but that both sides fought every inch of the ground cannot be disputed. At times it became almost convincing that the battle was not so much between the Commonwealth and Theodore Eisenhower as it was between Brumm and Whalen. The former spent much time in criticizing the District Attorney and his associate counsel in the case and Mr. Whalen spent the best part of the first hour of his address in justifying himself and the District Attorney and charging Mr. Brumm with trying to befog the jury. Both sides evidently indulged in this to gain an advantage before the jury, but it is safe to say that neither succeeded, for the actions of several jurymen during these stages of the arguments indicated that they were anxious to hear something of a more substantial character.

Mr. Brumm's address occupied 84 hours, or a half hour more than he consumed in summing up the famous and successful fight he made in behalf of John Briggs a little over two years ago. Mr. Whalen announced that he would take up from 2 to 2 1/2 hours, but he consumed 3 hours and 15 minutes and brought the session to the regular closing hour of 5:30. Of the two, Mr. Brumm made the best oratorical and dramatic display, but Mr. Whalen has a peculiar conventional manner in addressing the jury that fully makes up for his deficiency in wing words and impressive strides, and the result was that when both lawyers had concluded there were few in the court room willing to venture an opinion as to the probable outcome of the case before hearing the Judge's charge.

Mr. Whalen spent considerable time in urging the jury to beware of the influence which he claimed Mr. Brumm had indulged in. He declared that the claim that the doctors had killed John Schwindt in performing the operation was a subterfuge to draw the attention of the jury from the real issue, "Just like the stool pigeons who run away from the place where the shell game is being played to attract attention from the real offender, so they are trying to induce into this case evidence from Doctor Hallstead about something that he knows nothing about to draw your minds away from the real question. Mr. Brumm may have been a good watchmaker, but makes an awful
