AGAIN CORNELL WINS.

Her 'Varsity Crew the Victor in Record Breaking Time.

HARVARD FIVE LENGTHS BEHIND.

Pennsylvania Comes in Third, While Columbia Is Left Twenty Lengths Behind. A Magnificent Race Between the Two Leading Crews-Cornell's Time, 19,29.

POUGHRERPSIE, N. Y., June 27.—The four mile straightaway boat race between Harvard, Cornell, Columbia and Pennsylvania, on the Hudson last evening was won by Cornell's eight in the phenomenal won by Cornell's eight in the phenomenal time of 19 minutes and 20 seconds. Harvard was second, Pennsylvania third and Columbie fourth.

lumble fourth.

The race was a hard one for two miles, but after that Cornell had it their own way. Harvard tried their old scheme of tiring out Cornell at the start, but it falled. Cornell rowed a clean race, and without a break of any kind. Pennsylvania sphashed and rowed badly, and Co-turble for a start of the cornel of lumbia, for some unknown reason, was not in the race after the first quarter mile. not in the mee after the first quarter mile. Harvard rowed pluckly, but was out-classed. The conditions were favorable. The water was smooth, the wind undisturbing and the ebb tide in favor of very

The four crews lined up for positions about 5:80 o'clock. To be sure that there should be no error or claim of unfairness the referee asked each crew separately, "Are you ready?" and got a favorable reply. The referee took a last critical look at the crows, and then sent them off with the pistol. All struck the water together, but Columbia only got a half stroke. Cor-nell and Harvard were both fully pre-pared, and got the advantage of a long sweep. Harvard began its old tactics of a quick stroke to tire its opponents, and for a while it seemed to work well. All had started with a 40 stroke, which Harvard tempered down to 38 at the first quarter, while Cornell had some down to 88

Harvard's boat poked its nose ahead of Cornell at the half mile, and the recters yelled with approbation. Then slowly, inch by Inch, the Harvard boat cropt by the Cornell boat until her stern just lapped the latter's nose.

It was noticeable that the Cornell men never changed their stroke, but worked steadily at 38 and 87 strokes, with good steadily at 38 and 87 strokes, with good back work and beautiful clean blade ac-tion, and as they neared the two mile mark this work was noticeable in its ef-fect. Harvard's men had put all their hard work in their arms and legs, and it was beginning to tell, for they could not get the stern of their boat away from Corhell's, and gradually Cornell, with their backs working from the sliding seat to the back of their necks, and with a ryth-mical motion that was beautiful to see, began to gain their lost ground.

Harvard tried desperately to hold the lead, but as the two boats flashed by the two mile mark Cornell had shoved herself forward on even torms, and was still go-ing. The No. 2 man in Harvard's beat was splashing and the stroke wavered a little, but with building grit they stock to their work. But that steady $\vec{8}$ stroke to the minute swing, with the stronger stroke and the next, clean blade work, was telling and inch by inch the bow of the Cornell bost went forward from the bow of the Harvard boat. Pennsylvania was spinshing on at a 37 stroke gait, three lengths behind Harvard, and Columbia was hopelessly beaten.

So they went down to the third mile,

Harvard pulling desperately and some what prettily, but Cornell putting an inch of distance at every stroke between the boats. The long stroke and the clever hack work of Cornell was counting. In was evident that Harvard was beaten, for at the third mile there was evidently plently of reserve force in the Cornell boat, while there was not a bit of it in Harvard's boat. Her men were using every hit of strength in their endeavor to make a good showing.

Getting into the last mile Cornell was still pulling a 37 stroke, without a splash or a quaver, their boat fairly shooting niong, while Harvard's men looked as if some of them would fall out of the boat Cornell at the 3% raths had increased her lead to about four boat lengths, and Pennsylvania was clearing some of the water between them and Harvard in such a clipping manner that the Crimson adher-

The last half mile was uneventful. Cor nell crossed the line at the pace she had set at the start, a winner by five lengths over Harvard, in the record breaking time of 19 minutes and 29 seconds, and not a or is minutes and as seconds, and not a man in the boat showed distress. Penn-sylvania crawled in at a good pace about four boat lengths behind Harvard, and Columbia padilled in at least twenty lengths in the rear.

Three or four men in the Horvard beat showed signs of distress, but in the other beats there was no trouble. It was con-ceded on all sides that Cornell had rewed a remarkable race and one that, from a scientific standpoint, was notable in the annals of boating.

Cornell's coach, Courney, is supremely happy. His men certed him about on top of their shoulders last right till be was compelled to any for mercy, and late to the evening a mobof "rooters," #00 strong loaded by a drum corps, marched from the Nelson House to River Villa, where the Corneli erews have been flying, and crossled him far into the night.

Upon the return of the defeated Quaker erow to their quarters Coach Ellis Ward was surrounded by neverpaper near and he then gave out the following statement, but would not affix his signature:

"I am perfectly satisfied with the work of my 'varsity crow. White they were fairly defented, yet they need not be advanted of this fast time, even in the face of defeat. I noticed especially how the crows of the Columbia and Harrard were at the relate of address at the finish. on the point of collapse at the finish, so much so that they were taken home on their faunches, while the Cornell and their latitates, while the Cornell and Pennsylvania eights rowed back to their quarters. There is one consolution in our defeat, however, and that is in the fact that my softer crew, composed of follows who have never rowed in a race in their lives, more than defeated the Columbia crew, who with one exception are the same men who put up such a good race Coach Mumford, of the Harvard crew, said: "I am very much pleased with the work of the Harvard varsity. They rewed a great mee. The contest was so close that it received itself into a question of able to see any fing at the finish, have made an error. The watches in the press car made the time of Cornell between 10.54 car made the time of Cornell between 10.54 and 20.04, and the watches on the Associ-ated Press loop at each mile, started and stopped by electrical connection, made the time similar to this. But in any event

Cornell has broken the record. The official time as given is: Cornell, 19.39; Harvard, 19.32; Ponnsylvania, 39.11; Columbia, 21.35.
Pennsylvania men say that the time of their finish is absolutely incorrect. They say that such a difference means fifteen boot lengths behind Harvard. It is estimated that 30,000 persons saw

The Cornell 'varsity' eight last night elected E. O. Spillman, who palled No. 6 yesterday, as captain of '97 'carsity. Spillman was stroke of his freshmen crew, and last year rowed at No. 2 in the Henley crew. His home is at North Tonawanda, HARRISON RELEASED.

Venezuela Promptly Orders the Britisher's Liberation.

THE VENEZUELANS WERE AT FAULT

President Crespo Evidently Acted at Once on the Advice of Secretary Olney-What British Newspapers Say Regarding the Incident.

WASHINGTON, June 27.-Minister Audrale, of Venezuela, yesterday received a telegram from his government announc-ing that the British crown surveyor, Mr. Harrison, whose arrest has oursed strained collags between the two governments, has been released by order of the Venezuelan authorities.

A dispatch to Minister Andrade says that Harrison and nineteen others crossed that Harrison and nineteen others crossed to the left bank of the Cuyumi to open a road. The sub-commissary of Acarabesi protested in writing. Harrison insisted, and the sub-commissary took him to the post of El Dorado. As soon as the gov-ernment was informed thereof it ordered the release of Harrison and asked detalls. The post El Dorado referred to in the cablearam is directly across the river frame.

cablegram is directly across the river from the British station of Urnar. The dis-patch confirms the impression that the Venezuelans were at fault, and that the statu quo observed for soveral years was broken by the Harrison surveying party. Secretary Olney notified Sir Julian Pauncefote of Harrison's prompt release and the circumstances under which he was arrested. LONDON, June 97.—The Standard (Con-servative) says of the latest phase of the Venezuelan question: "It does not seem too sanguine to expect that the settlement of the Harrison affair will lead before long to a general arrangement of the other questions between Great Britain and Veneguels that will enable us to resume cor-dial relations with a state towards which we have only continents of neighborly

The Morning Post, also Conservative, says. 'It is not a comforting reflection that the release of Mr. Harrison, the crown surveyor, is probably largely due to the influence of the United States. We are accustomed to think that Great Britain can protect her own subjects or exact the due penalty for outrace upon them. The exercise of the influence of the United States is, however, a tribute to the reality of the negotiations for arbitration between of the hersthatons for arbitration between America and ourselves."

The Gobe yesterday afternoon, before the news of Harrison's release had been received here, in an article on the Venezuelan question, expressed belief that Mr. Hichard Olney, sceretary of state of the United States, had already communicated with the increment of Communication. untied States, and already communicated with the government at Carners, arging the release of Surveyor Harrison. If Harrison is not released. The Globe added, Great Britain will be compelled to exact rodress by other methods. The paper insists that possiting a readjustment of the boundaries England is sovereign in the territory cost of the Schomburgh Hue, and declares that it would be a preferred with declares that it would be a profound mis-takeeven to seem to abandon a single inch thereof.
