The defeat of the Yale crew by the Leander crew in the first heat of the Henley regatta in England this morning was unexpected, as all the despatches forecasted such a result. Their trainer appeared to be trying experiments too close to the contest.

DAVID H. HILL is the New York member of the committee on resolutions at the convention which meets in Chicago to-day. The Senator will not assert so proudly and defiantly that he is a Democrat, after he is compelled to swallow the free silver dose, as he did a few years ago.

ONLY ONE ARREST by the police on July 4th. Well, well, what is the matter with Shenandoah? Some of our esteemed contemporaries will be astonished at such a report, and possibly doubt its correctness, but it is true nevertheless. For a big live town this is an unusual record, but give a dog a bad name etc., etc.

THE Girard College Cadets to the number of about 300 left for Island Heights, N. J., to go into camp. Several of the officials of the City Trusts made an effort to have these annual encampments held on the Girard Estate lands between Brandonville and Girard Manor, but the Board refused to sanction the movement, owing, we believe, to a lack of bathing facilities.

It will soon be time for our borough Council to enact legislation regulating the use of bicycles in town. While the majority of riders use good judgment, there are many who do not, and it is a question whether the borough may not, in the absence of regulations governing the use of the silent steel, become responsible for damages in some cases of accident.

A MIGHTY host enlisted in the cause of religion is gathering in Washington to attend the sessions of the Christian Endeavor convention which opens to-morrow. It is estimated that between 40,000 and 50,000 persons will be in attendance and the capacity of the hotels and boarding houses of the city will be taxed to their utmost to accommodate them. Fortunately the city is comparatively empty at this season of the year, otherwise much discomfort would fall to the lot of the Endeavorers.

THE JURY SYSTEM.

A complaint frequently made in this country is all too sadly common to many countries. This complaint goes against the methods employed in selecting jurors through political or personal favoritism, and often with a view to defeat the ends of justice. Such acts by public officers should constitute high crimes, and officers who neglect their duties should be held to a rigid responsibility. The principle of trial by jury is right; it is only needed to reform the methods and to restore its conscientious powers. It has been abused, perverted, emasculated and maltreated to such an extent that many who see it in operation to-day jump at the conclusion that the principle itself is responsible for the farce and mockery of trial by jury. The truth is, what we need is to restore the original, genuine jury trial and to get rid of those features and modifications which legislators and lawyers have devised in comparatively recent times. It is simply not true that only unrepresentative people retain faith in trial by jury. There is not a judge, jurist, historian, philosopher or political student in any civilized nation who objects to trial by jury and who would tolerate the idea of abolishing it. It is the superficial observer, rather, who does not distinguish between the principle itself and the mode of its application, between the institution and its mismanagement and perversion, who is prone to advocate abolition.

All of the present evils are the result of abuses due to judicial and legislative negligence. The methods of selecting jurors are scandalously bad, and the absurd notion that the reading of newspapers and familiarity with the facts disqualifies a man from serving has put a premium upon imbecility. Then there are too many provisions for exempting useful classes of citizens from jury duty, and the pay of jurors is ridiculously inadequate in many cases. Improper delays and unbusinesslike methods force thousands of the most qualified citizens to evade jury duty. No wonder that under such conditions trial by jury is becoming a farce and an obstruction to justice. But real trial by jury, trial by men properly chosen and fairly representing the intelligence and character of the community, is a totally different thing. It is this sort of a trial by jury which is truly a palladium of liberty and which is the most important of democratic free institutions.

IMPROVED SIGNAL LANTERN.

A Valuable Patent Secured by a Former Resident of Town.

John T. Casey, of 250 Lafayette street, Germantown, Philadelphia, has patented a signal lantern which promises to become generally used on the railroads of this country. Experts have given the lamp attention and say it is the best that has been produced. Special local interest is taken in the matter on account of the inventor being a former Shenandoah young man. Mr. Casey was formerly employed in town and about three years ago moved to Philadelphia. He is at present employed as a collector by the firm of Gately & Fitzgerald of that city.

The Scientific American of July 4th devotes considerable space to the invention and its details.

The object of the invention is to provide a lantern which shall contain both a red and a white shade, so arranged that either a white or a red light may be shown as desired, and the change made with greater speed and certainty than is possible with existing lamps.

The lamp consists essentially of a lower body portion, which contains the oil reservoir, the base of the body being flared and perforated for the supply of air. The oil cup is provided with the usual burner, and it carries a ring or casing in which is fixed the base of a white shade of the usual pattern. Around the oil cup is arranged a cylindrical red shade, which is made vertically adjustable about the same. This shade is held in a metal frame consisting of a top and bottom ring connected by vertical strips. The top ring of the frame is provided with small projecting lugs or guide strips which travel in vertical slides which run from the dome of the lantern down to the outside annular ring which embraces the top of the lower body of the lantern. The red shade frame is provided with a vertical rack for raising and lowering the same, said rack being operated by means of a pinion and wheel attached to the lower body of the lantern. The top edge of the body of the lantern is snugly embraced by a stout ring, upon which are securely fastened a set of outwardly bowed ribs which serve to protect the shades and to carry the top dome. Extending from the dome to the lower ring and vertical slides which receive the lugs on the red shade frame and serve to guide the same in its vertical movement. The lower ring with its attached ribs, slides and dome is hinged horizontally to the top edge of the lower body of the lantern and is provided with a suitable latch, so that the upper half of said lantern may be swung open for lighting, cleaning, etc. In operation, if the brakeman desires to show a white light, by means of the rack and pinion he lowers the red shade, entirely within the lower body of the lantern; if he wishes to show a red light, he raises said shade until it completely incloses the white shade, and fills the space between the body and dome of the lantern.

In constructing this lantern the inventor has sought to provide: First, a lantern to do the work of two ordinary lanterns; second, to provide a lantern exactly the same in size and shape as the present standard railway lantern; third, to provide a lantern which can be lighted in the severest storm; fourth, to provide a lantern with a burner which will allow the turning up or lowering of the light from the outside without removing the shades or any part of the lantern.

THE JEANVILLE HOPKOR RECALLED.

Big Joe's Terrible Experience and Almost Inconceivable Torture.

The disaster in the Twin Shaft at Pittston Junction calls to mind the terrible suffering of half a dozen men in a Jeanville mine five years ago, when four of them were rescued after being imprisoned for nineteen days by a mass of water. Their suffering was incomparably severe and the story was one of the most harrowing that ever came from the mines. While the men—"Big Joe" Nustulowicz and four Greeks—were working in their breast a lot of water from an adjoining mine, which none had suspected, rushed into the slope and they ran up the incline to a small chamber not reached by the water. At the lapse of ten days the Greeks were so weakened by the lack of food and by the cold that they could not move and "Big Joe" could crawl only on his hands and knees. He crawled to the timber pillars and chewed them in an effort to get a little moisture out of them, as the sulphur water below them they could not drink. Then he chewed the belt he wore about his waist and ate that ravenously and all of them chewed the dirt under their feet and sucked out the moisture.

When they had been imprisoned fifteen days one of the Greeks died from starvation and "Joe" dragged his body to an adjoining breast and covered it with coal. At the end of the nineteenth day "Joe" himself was, numbed with cold, on the verge of starvation, his vitals parched with thirst and scarcely able to breathe owing to foul air. He could no longer walk or talk and he awaited death. At the end of the nineteenth day and nine hours the rescuers appeared, but they were driven back by the foul air. When they finally came in they found "Big Joe" and three of the Greeks still breathing. "Joe" lay for a week unconscious, and it was three weeks before he was allowed to speak with his wife. He lay in bed for five weeks and then had to learn to walk as a child. For eighteen months he took lessons in walking. He and the others had been afflicted with disease ever since and "Big Joe" has frequently said that he wishes he had perished the first day with the thirteen others who were drowned. He has wasted away from a strong body of 225 pounds to a little over a hundred and makes a bare living running a saloon in Hazleton.

Wants the World to Know It.

H. P. Huff, of 818 Hepburn street, Williamsport, Pa., says: "I can say positively that Thompson's Diphtheria Cure saved my life and also that of my sister. The doctors had given up both of us. Our friends were advised to try Thompson's Diphtheria Cure on us. They did and in two days' time the dreaded disease had disappeared. I am only too glad to have the privilege of letting the world know the wonderful curative powers of this medicine, and wish I could tell every one individually. No medicine like it in the world." For sale by all leading druggists at 50 cents a bottle.

Thought to be a Wholesale Murderer.

FRANK, N. D., July 7.—A man giving his name as Frank Dalton, arrested in this city about two weeks ago, is thought to be James Durhan, the Californian accused of murdering six people. He is at present confined in the county jail serving a thirty days' sentence for stealing a bicycle. He was traveling under the name of Frank Dalton, of Boston. He will be held pending details identification.

THE SILVER FIGHT.

After the adjournment of the national committee Mr. Clayton, of Alabama, stated that immediately after Chairman Harty calls the convention to order he will present the name of David B. Hill, of New York, for temporary chairman, and will then recognize either Mr. Clayton or Mr. Thomas, the committeeman from Colorado, who will present on behalf of the minority of the national committee the name of Senator John W. Daniel, of Virginia.

The silver men were not prepared for the announcement of the selection of Senator Hill. They had counted confidently upon securing the co-operation of a sufficient number of gold members of the committee to secure the recommendation of Senator Daniel. When the silver committee held its first meeting its members were congratulating themselves upon the probability of the selection of Senator Daniel. What they most regret in the evening they showed plainly that they were disappointed, but they were not noticeably discouraged. They asserted more positively than ever their determination to secure control of the temporary organization, regardless of the action of the committee. They take the position that the result was secured by open intimidation.

Only one thing looms up like a searchlight in the fog that hangs over the situation and obscures the vision of the wisest and most far seeing of the leaders. That is that the convention will be for silver at 16 to 1. As for candidates, the convention is still groping in the dark. The din of the Bland and Boies boomers is deafening, and so inflections at times that it is almost impossible to hear the words. Bland is unquestionably in the lead so far as actual votes are concerned, his strength approximating 350, a liberal estimate, with Boies moving along at his heels with about 200, but neither is able to demonstrate as yet how he can win.

In this chaotic condition of affairs gossip and speculation casts about for dark horses. William J. Bryan, Vice President Adlai E. Stevenson, John R. McLean, Senator Joe Blackburn of Kentucky and Senator White of California all share the distinction of being canvassed. Even Senator Hill, of New York, is talked of, and his famous Elmhurst speech of 1893 is recalled as an evidence that he is a bimetallicist and would make a strong compromise candidate. The name of ex-Governor James E. Campbell, of Ohio, is also heard. The Kentucky boom from Oregon, was formally launched yesterday, and ex-Congressman Joe Sillor, of Pennsylvania, announced his candidacy.

At work in the background is the senatorial movement for Teller, with the free silver Republicans and their allies, the Populist leaders, straining every nerve to impress on the convention the advisability of nominating the Coloradoan. With all these silver forces struggling against each other, with the gold men solid and compact, ready to obey orders, it is a shrewd political prophet who can point the way out. The silver leaders now reluctantly admit on the eve of the convention that their two-thirds majority is an undisciplined mass, running hither and thither, possibly to be stampeded in the end. They are now at the door of the convention with the question of a candidate open and a deadlock inevitable.

It will require every silver vote in the convention to nominate, and the friends of any one candidate can. If the gold men do not plump their votes to a silver man who may be formidable, but not the choice of the majority, prevent an early nomination. This would, of course, play into the hands of those who are maneuvering to bring forward Teller at the opportune time; or, if the sentiment of the convention refused to yield to the leaders of the St. Louis bolters, into the hands of the managers of a dark horse.

The situation in the eastern gold standard camp has crystallized enough to enable one to get more of an idea of what plan than has hitherto prevailed. The gold men will not as a body leave the convention, and it is doubtful if any individual members take that course. The leaders are all against it, although it is believed that Mr. William C. Whitney would be pleased to see another convention, with a gold standard platform. The most radical action that a gold standard man will take has practically been settled, and that is to follow the plan adopted by the Montana delegation of the national Republican convention in St. Louis—to remain in the convention hall, with the notification that they will act in their individual states as to support of the platform and national ticket as the Democrats of their states desire.

But even this latter proposition is tempered, and the action may not take place if the silver majority does not inordinately trample upon the rights and privileges of the gold minority. In these resolves the gold men say they are backed by the unbroken Democratic principle of majority rule. Such Tammany men as Senator Cantor, Congressman Sulzer and John C. Sheehan assert that they will abide by what the majority does and will not bolt or refuse to vote on any question.

The majority of the New York delegates are apparently of the same mind, and Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, the other two leading states in the gold movement, are in sympathy.

William C. Whitney will be in a delegate's seat on the floor of the convention. He has been placed in the seat of A. F. Fitch, of the Fifteenth New York district, and will thus be able to take a part in the debate. This is an unexpected thing, he having not been elected as a delegate from New York upon his own expressed request when the state convention met there.

The West Virginia delegation has decided to bring the name of Judge James Jackson, of Parkersburg, before the convention for second place on the ticket. A telegram was sent to Judge Jackson asking his consent to use his name. He is the Keets Tires of Revolutions.

NEW YORK, July 7.—General Carlos Ezeta, ex-president of the republic of Salvador, arrived in this city on the steamship La Transatlantico, of the General Transatlantic company's service, and is a guest at the Hotel Martin. The last visit of General Ezeta to New York was in the autumn of 1893. He had just failed in a revolutionary demonstration against the government of President Rafael Antonio Gutierrez, who overthrew him in 1894. Since then he has been traveling in Europe. He declares he is done with revolutions.

Two Americans Drowned in Norway.

BESSEN, Norway, July 7.—While a big party of Americans were driving from Vossavaag to Stalheim, a horse attached to a two seated trap sled and backed into the lake. The driver sprang off, while the couple in the trap and the horse attached to it sunk. They were Mr. and Mrs. Daniel D. Youmans, of New York, who had been touring Europe. Mr. Youmans, who was a bachelor, was 55 years of age; Mrs. Youmans was 41.

Walling Sentenced to Death.

NEWPORT, Ky., July 7.—Alonso M. Walling, found guilty of the murder of Paul Bryan, on the night of Jan. 31, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Helm to be hanged in August. A stay of execution for sixty days was granted to give time for an appeal to the court of appeals from Judge Helm's decision overruling the motion of Walling's attorney for a new trial. The only friend of Walling present was his brother, Charles Walling, of Franklin county, Indiana. He showed greater depression upon hearing the sentence than did the prisoner himself. However, Alonso M. Walling's usually impetuous countenance flushed and turned ashen pale alternately, and he was a trifle unsteady in his walk. He was taken back to the Lexington jail to await the finale.

having been appointed by President Lincoln in 1862, and is now 75 years old.

A movement has also been inaugurated in the interest of Hon. Arthur Sewall, of Maine, for the vice presidential nomination. The suggestion is said to have been favorably accepted by many silver men, because of Mr. Sewall's record on the financial question, and because it is believed that his nomination would go far towards relieving the ticket of the charge of having been selected on sectional grounds.

The silver men held two conferences last night, the last adjourning at midnight. At its close Senator Jones, of Arkansas, said: "I feel very confident on the eve of the convention that the promises of the Democratic silver men to the country will be entirely verified by the proceedings."

We were not able to locate all the silver delegations tonight, but we have assurances of between 500 and 550 votes, and we are confident of securing enough to swell the vote on temporary chairman to about 600. We shall have a roll call on the election of a temporary chairman.

Delegate Harry E. Wise is authority for the statement that the California delegation is about equally divided between gold and silver, although the delegates were instructed for silver and are subject to the unit rule. Mr. Wise said last night: "The gold men will not submit to the dictation of Altgeld and his followers, and will disregard the unit rule and vote as they please if they find it necessary." The delegation is very much split up as regards presidential preference, but will support Senator White if he will allow the use of his name.

Congressman William Sulzer, of New York, has prepared a Cuban resolution, which he will present to the committee on platform. It declares that the Spanish government is no longer capable of maintaining its authority on the island of Cuba, or of fulfilling its treaty obligations, and "we therefore favor the prompt interposition of our armed force, and believe that a government satisfactory to the Cuban people should be established as a guarantee of permanent peace. The government of the United States should recognize the Cuban patriots as belligerents."

Mr. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, issues a statement denouncing as a clumsy forgery a dispatch stating that Mr. Gompers in-gored the candidacy of Mr. John R. McLean for the nomination for the presidency. He concludes: "It is not written to prejudice Mr. McLean's candidacy, or to further that of any other gentleman's, but in the interest of our cause, the members and devotees of which have a right to insist that as their executive officer I shall in no way influence the choice. The A. F. of L. stands for the free and unlimited coinage of silver. This is our declaration. We have no choice of candidates."

The labor organizations have representatives in the city, who are working with members of the committee on resolutions to secure the adoption of a plank for restriction of immigration. The declaration which they are urging is practically identical with the immigration plank of the Republican platform, demanding the exclusion of aliens who cannot read and write.

The Populist leaders have issued a manifesto in behalf of Senator Teller, in which attention is called to the fact that four years ago the People's party demanded the free and unlimited coinage of silver at 16 to 1, and thus became and has remained the logical unit party for free silver. The manifesto concludes: "Whatever may be our individual wishes in the premises, we are forced to say after an earnest endeavor to inform ourselves about the sentiment of the People's party of the country at large that this party cannot be induced to endorse a candidate for president who has not severed his affiliations with the old political parties."

A member of the editorial staff of the Daily Wheelman arrived today, and a good roads plank will be presented to the national convention on behalf of the wheelmen.

The first street parade of the convention took place last night by the Bland contingent. The Bland clubs of St. Louis and Kansas City and the Topeka Flambeau club with a few unattached enthusiasts formed the procession. With their bands and a wagon load of fireworks the thousand marchers managed to make a great display in proportion to their numbers. Portraits of "Silver Dick," mammoth silver dollars and such legends as "free silver and free men," "the producing class protest against 800 cent dollars" and "Bland will carry Missouri by 150,000" were conspicuous in the line.

The New Jersey delegation met and elected United States Senator James Smith, Jr., a member of the national committee in place of Allen McDermott, who declined re-election. Mr. McDermott was chosen chairman of the delegation.

The Maryland delegation, at their caucus yesterday, re-elected United States Senator Arthur P. Gorman member of the national committee, and chose John E. Hurst chairman of the delegation. Maryland has sixteen votes in the convention, eleven of which are for gold and five for silver.

The President Keeps Posted.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., July 7.—Private Secretary Thurber came over from his summer residence at Marion yesterday by rail, and will probably remain until after the Chicago convention, as the president will have considerable extra work while it lasts. The president will be kept informed of the progress and drift of the convention from start to finish, particularly as to the work of the eastern gold men.
