WILLIAM E. RUSSELL DEAD!

Massachusetts "Boy Governor" a Victim of Heart Disease.

THE IDOL OF THE DEMOCRATS

Of the Old Bay State, He was Thrice Elected Governor of the Republican Stronghold, Always Leading His Ticket by Several Thousands Votes.

BOSTON, July 17.—A dispatch was received here yesterday afternoon from St. Adolphe de Pabos, Quebec, which caused the greatest excitement. It read:

"Ex-Governor William E. Russell, of Massachusetts, arrived here from Boston yesterday afternoon and pitched his tent for a few days' fishing. He was accompanied by his brother, Colonel H. E. Russell, and Francis Peabody. They all retired early last night, the governor apparently in good health and spirits. Upon his companions trying to arouse him this morning they discovered that he was dead. The position of the body and the expression on the dead man's face showed that his death was painless.

"A messenger at once hurried to the village to procure medical assistance, and the sad news was telegraphed to his friends in Boston. Medical aid was, however, of no avail. Arrangements were at once made for an inquest, as well as for the removal of the corpse to Boston. At a late hour last night the coroner's jury returned to St. Adolphe de Pabos from this camp. The doctor and coroner decided that heart disease was the cause of death. This remains were also conveyed to the village last night, and left on the steamer Admiral this morning.

"The first news of ex-Governor Russell's death was received with almost absolute incredulity on the streets of this city. Even members of the law firm with which he was associated refused to look upon the matter seriously when asked if they were able to verify the rumor of the ex-governor's death. It was not until after the press wires had been busy for some time that verification of the sad news was obtained.

"The family of ex-Governor Russell, including Mrs. Russell and three children, William Russell, Jr., Richard Manning and Margaret, who are spending the summer in a quiet cottage overlooking the bay at Manchester, were in ignorance of the cloud of sadness overshadowing them until a telegram from Colonel H. E. Russell was received, announcing the death of Mr. Russell. Apparently dazed at first, Mrs. Russell, as the significance of the sad news grew upon her, seemed to be bearing up well.

Mr. Russell left his family at Manchester on Monday for his pleasure trip to Quebec. At that time he was apparently in perfect physical condition, excepting that he was somewhat fatigued after his active and onerous work at the Chicago convention.

William Euclid Russell was born in Cambridge on Jan. 6, 1857, within the shadow of the university from which he was graduated in 1877. He received his early training in the public schools of Cambridge, in which he prepared for Harvard college, entering that institution in 1877. After his graduation he was admitted to the Suffolk bar in the April term of 1880, and immediately commenced business as a member of the law firm of C. T. & T. H. Russell, having the same association today, with offices on State street.

Mr. Russell's political affiliations have always been Democratic. In 1881 he became a candidate and was elected a member of the Cambridge common council, and two years later became a member of the upper branch of the city government. In 1886 he was elected mayor of Cambridge by a large majority. He held the reins of government in the mayor's chair for four years.

Mr. Russell was married to Miss Margaret Swan, daughter of the late Rev. Joshua Swan, formerly of Cambridge, on June 8, 1885. They had three children, two sons and one daughter.

In 1888 Mr. Russell was nominated for governor, and while he was defeated by Governor Ames, he polled nearly 1,000 votes more than were cast for Mr. Cleveland for president. He worked incessantly, making the tariff and Mr. Cleveland's record the leading topics of his speeches. He was nominated again by a plurality of 8,000. In 1891 he was successful over Charles H. Allen, of Lowell, by a plurality of 7,500. In 1892, the presidential year, he defeated William H. Hall by a plurality of 2,200 votes, while Benjamin Harrison carried the state by a plurality of 80,000. He retired from office at the end of his third term and resumed the practice of law.

Governor Russell was a great lover of athletic sports of all kinds. While at college he was bow of the "varsity crowd," a clever man with the gloves and prominent in football and other leading sports of the college men. He was frequently seen closely watching the baseball contests on the league grounds at the south end. He was always a most ardent Democrat and a ready debater on political subjects. Indeed, in his class of 77 there was only one man who could even approach him in political argument. This was Emmons Blaine, who was to the Republicans of his class what Russell was to the Democrats. Young Blaine and Russell became the best of friends.

THE PRESIDENT'S TRIBUTE

His Advocacy of Sound Principles Especially Needed at This Time.

BUZZARD'S HAY, Mass., July 17.—President Cleveland keenly feels the death of Hon. William E. Russell. He received a message announcing the sad event from a friend in Boston on his return from his fishing trip yesterday afternoon. Last night he expressed his sorrow in the following tribute:

"My personal relations were so intimate and close with ex-Governor Russell that I could not but be terribly shocked at the news of his sudden death. While this intelligence has caused me to mourn the personal loss, I cannot forget Mr. Russell's eminent public services and his attitude of bravery and patriotism which made him so valuable a citizen, and especially at this time, when courageous adherence to the right and unflinching advocacy of sound principles are so much needed.

"It may therefore well be said that the country has suffered a bereavement. The people of Massachusetts cannot fail to mourn throughout the length and breadth of the commonwealth at the untimely death of a son whose career has at all times reflected honor upon his native State."

Gise Failed to Appear.

D. W. Gise, who was brought to town from Wilkesbarre last Saturday by Detective Richard Amor on a warrant charging him with feloniously appropriating $1,500 while acting as agent of the Pease Piano Company of New York, is being eagerly sought. When brought here Gise admitted the charge and induced M. J. O'Neill to furnish $1,500 bail pending a hearing before Justice Lawlor, fixed for yesterday morning. Gise had fixed up a similar case with another company a short time before and said he would have no difficulty in adjusting this one. At the appointed hour Gise failed to appear and Mr. O'Neill and Walter E. Hall, of New York, general traveling agent for the Pease company, have since been making diligent efforts to locate him. They have telegraphed to many parts of the state without success. A telegram from Gise's wife, who is at Wilkesbarre, says she has not seen her husband since last Monday. Another from Graz, Dauphin county, where Gise's father resides, conveys the disappointing intelligence that Gise has not been seen or heard of since he left there Wednesday morning. Up to a late hour this afternoon the telegraph wires were still being worked.

Rivalry Causes Trouble.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Annunciation church of town held a picnic at Mayville park yesterday. While being conveyed in coaches from Centralia to Ashland they were met with a volley of stones at Shaury Hill, which is midway between the two towns. Three ladies were struck, but not seriously injured. A driver of one of the stages said a bitter rivalry exists between the two stage lines and he believed the attack was made by friends of one of the rivals. The crowd was dispersed by a display of revolvers by the stage men.

LENGTHY COUNCIL SESSION

A Number of Questions of Importance Under Discussions.

ACTION CONCERNING PORCH LINES

Sweeping Instructions to the Chief Burgess as to Obstructions—P. D. Holman Made a Member of the Board of Health. Surveyor Gregory Re-Elected.

A regular and very lengthy meeting of the Borough Council was held last evening, with Councilmen Boehm, Gable, Evand, D. E. James, Englert, Reese, McGuire, Lally, Conkley, Schoppe, Magargle, Kerns, Murphy and President T. J. James in attendance. Considerable routine and an equal or greater amount of special business was transacted and it was almost 11 o'clock when the borough fathers dispersed.

Mr. Boehm, for the roads and highways committee, reported that upon investigating the claim by Mrs. Mary Golden for $300 damages for injuries sustained by falling at the crossing at the corner of Lloyd and Emerick streets the committee could find nothing wrong with the crossing; that if at the time of the accident it was the same as when the committee visited it there was no cause for the fall due to the crossing. Some say, Mr. Boehm said, that in making improvements around his property Mr. Crosskovic raised the crossing. The committee had no knowledge of that. They only knew that the borough had made no changes and that the crossing is in good condition. Eight 6-inch pipes have been ordered for the crossing at the corner of Centre and Union streets. New flooring had been placed on the West Coal street bridge and the Schuykill Traction Company will be asked to pay its pro rata share.

Mr. McGuire called attention to the bad sanitary condition of Peach alley and Mr. Gable said gutting was needed on West Oak street.

President James said a pavement on the south side of Coal street, between West and Chestnut and on the north side, between Gilbert and Catherine, should be attended to. And Mr. Reese called attention to one at West and Coal streets. The attention of the Chief Burgess was directed to all these places.

Upon motion of Mr. Lally the survey committee was empowered to give a grade for Peach alley.

The question of hose wagon was then taken up and it led to a very spirited debate. Proposals from one firm to furnish a wagon for $250 and a combination wagon and chemical engine for $1,100 were read, as well as one from another company to furnish a combination wagon for $1,300.

D. E. James moved that the fire apparatus committee be instructed to get the $310 wagon on 30-day credit.

Mr. McGuire amended that the committee also purchase a combination wagon for the Phoenix Fire Company.

After having the motion instructing the committee at the last meeting read, President James ruled the amendment out of order, holding that under the motion the committee was not empowered to consider chemical engines, or combination wagons.

Mr. McGuire appealed from the decision and after the secretary put the appeal the chair was sustained.

Mr. McGuire then moved that D. E. James' motion be tabled until the next meeting. The committee to consider the advisability of purchasing a combination wagon for the Phoenix Fire Company. This motion was defeated and Mr. James' motion was carried, so the Columbia Hose Company gets a $50 hose wagon to replace the hose carriage that had been in use for 25 years.

It is understood that no amount of money can purchase the old carriage from the company and that it will be held as a memento of early Shenandoah days.

Mr. McGuire was not content with the reversals he had met on the question and followed with a motion that the combination wagon the fire apparatus committee had recommended for the Columbia Hose Company be purchased for the Phoenix Fire Company, but this motion was also defeated.

D. E. James said he had visited the lock-up and found it in a filthy condition and something ought to be done to keep the place clean. There was considerable talk on the matter, which finally drifted to a question as to whether a prisoner and the conditions, but nothing definite was arrived at, the President stating, however, that the lamp and watch committee should investigate such affairs.

Mr. Gable raised a storm cloud by stating that he had been led to believe that the Chief Burgess was in the habit of giving licenses to parties wishing police protection at a fee of a few dollars. This, he considered, was encouraging a bribe. The matter led to a warm and, in some respects, humorous debate.

Mr. Gable: "There was a wedding at my home for three days."

President James: (with feigned surprise) "What! A wedding at your home?"

Mr. Gable: "I mean near my home."

Mr. James: "O, that's different. I was about to remark that you had treated us pretty shabby."

Mr. Gable finally succeeded in stating that the wedding was a nuisance to the neighborhood for three days and had been licensed by the Burgess.

The Chief Burgess denied that he licensed the entertainments, but admitted that he detailed officers to preserve the peace on such occasions, and for that purpose received the money."

Mr. Gable said there were no police at the place he mentioned and declared it was the duty of the Burgess to preserve the peace on the Sabbath at least. I believe in getting married (more laughter) but I don't believe in creating a nuisance."

Mr. Gable said he would like the marriage license enough. The second license is not necessary."

A hot exchange followed between Mr. Gable and the Burgess, the latter declaring that he had not received $5 and then failed to send police, and that he gave no receipts.
